Review of the Play

During the last war it was the custom of the armed forces to give an "E" for effort and excellence to certain manufacturers and organizations for a job well conceived and well accomplished.

With this idea in mind it might be worthwhile at this time for us to give an "E" to the production staff of the Garrett County Playhouse for their efforts in attempting to provide some variety in the types of offerings to their patrons. Unfortunately this accolade being bestowed this week must be entirely restricted to effort—surely not for accomplishment as demonstrated by excellence of production or performance.

Last week we were treated to a fine interpretation of the lusty and vital "Picnic"—that rang the bell on every count, this week we are given a bit of whimsy in "The Curious Savage" by John Patrick, another contemporary American playwright. Maybe the change is too great, but it just doesn't jell.

"The Curious Savage" is a comedy with marked overtones of fantasy. It is not a great play, however, there are some good humorous lines, but it is one that might well become an entertaining evening provided it was properly played. Unfortunately certain members of this week's cast seemed to be unable to make up their minds as to whether it should be played straight, or given the rather broad treatment usually accorded farce or burlesque.

Accordingly, "The Curious Savage" becomes curiouser and curiouser, and doesn't come off properly.

It is not possible for a stock company such as we have at The Garrett County Playhouse to give a well rounded, well polished performance each week. To expect such would be more than is humanly possible, considering facilities and the limited time available for rehearsals. However, it is felt opening nighters are entitled to something a bit smoother than that which was unfolded on Tuesday night of this week.

Briefly "The Curious Savage" deals with an eccentric elderly woman who has been committed to an asylum by her avaricious family. While there she becomes acquainted with the rather quaint inmates of The Cloister, the name given to the institution of rest. The action of the play is concerned with the activity of the Savage family in attempting to discover what their step-mother has done with a large sum of money. The ultimate outcome may best be described as cute.

But enough of this seeming petulant criticism. Three of the regular veterans of the acting company do their best to give a good performance and keep the show on the road. Whatever slightly tarnished laurels that will be passed out this week go to Helen Camp, who has her hair a fantastic shade of blue, she is the curious Savage. In secondary roles, Neil Flannigan, as a harmless pixy who fancies himself a violinist; and Bill Pappas, as the physician who operates the haven for the demented souls.

In addition to the regular group there are four local people present in this week's cast—Aza Stanton and Kenneth Johns as the pompous stepsons of the elderly woman and Indie Sue Thomasson and Louise Wertman, two residents in the never never land of The Cloister.

Perhaps by the time this reaches print, many of the rough edges of this week's show will have been smoothed out and everything will be rosy.

Get set for next week. We will see a compact, well written mystery melodrama that has proven itself in the three principal media of entertainment—stage, movies and television. This is "Dial M for Murder." We have seen it in all three and are looking forward to another peep.

Children's Bible Story

BY S. A. KAPLAN
Assisted by Mrs. Kaplan

Jacob In Excile

(This story is based on Genesis chapters 27-31).

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS! Have you ever tried to run away from your own shadow? Impossible you say? And so it is! We cannot run away from ourselves. If we say and do mean things, mean things will follow us, as we shall learn from our story today.

Jacob wanted the good things in life, but he went about the wrong way to get them. We read in the Bible that he not only took advantage of his brother Esau, and took away his birthright, but he also robbed him of his blessing by deceiving Isaac, his blind, old father. How? He put on the skins of goats on his hands and neck to make believe that he was Esau, for Esau was a "hairy man" while he was a "smooth man." Because of this sinful act, Jacob was forced to run away from home, for his brother, Esau, threatened to kill him; and he never did see his dear mother again. It pays to think twice, boys and girls, before we give in to some temptation to do wrong, for we can never know where that one wrong act may lead to.

And so, in today's story, we see Jacob, traveling alone through country inhabited by wild tribes, with his staff in his hand, and feeling utterly forsaken by God and man. Where was he going? To his mother's family far, far away. His conscience greatly troubled him, and in his helplessness and need of protection he turned to God, and the Lord encouraged him. We read that when Jacob lay down on the ground with a stone for his pillow and slept, God gave him a wonderful dream: he saw a bright shining ladder reaching from earth to heaven, and beautiful angels going up and down on it. Then he heard a glorious voice which said: "Behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whither thou goest and will bring thee again into this land; for I will not leave thee." Do you know what that ladder meant? It represented the Saviour Who connects us with heaven, and restores us to God's favor. Encouraged with this promise of God's help, Jacob continued on his way.

It is a fascinating story how Jacob met his future wife, the beautiful Rachel, whom he loved so dearly that he was willing to work for her for fourteen years. Altogether Jacob worked for Rachel's brother, Laban, for twenty years, and during that time Laban deceived him and changed his wages ten times. Just think, boys and girls, the very thing that Jacob did to his father Isaac, Laban did to him! The deceiver was himself deceived! What is the lesson? Whatsoever we sow, we shall also reap! However, because Jacob repented, God not only forgave him, but eventually worked it all out for his good.

Hatchet Man Given Term in Moundsville

An Elk Garden coal miner has been sentenced to a term of two to ten years in the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville for violation of a parole imposed in 1955 after he shot at a woman in that community.

The man, Harry Dawson, 44, was indicted during the July term of the Mineral County Circuit court for attacking the same woman, Leona Rawlings, 38, with a hatchet.

During the 1955 trial Judge Ernest A. See imposed a sentence of from one to ten years and suspended the sentence, placing Dawson on parole for four years.

Dawson was arrested June 17 at his home after assaulting the Rawlings woman with a hatchet at Elk Garden. The woman was admitted to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland with wounds on the back of her head, shoulder and back.

Mineral county authorities said Dawson also threatened the life of the Rawlings woman, mother of two children, on several occasions. At the time of the 1955 incident, the blast from the shotgun missed her with some of the charge striking a nearby person.

A sea battle between Communist Chinese and Nationalists was won by latter.

Scout Leaders Meet To Plan Activities

Twenty or more boy scout leaders of the Deep Creek district met in the social room of the Bethel Methodist church in Mt. Lake Park last Thursday evening to outline a program of activities for the coming year. George Stuck, district chairman, was in charge.

Stuck named as chairmen of his committees the following: John Forman, organization and extension; L. J. Sacher and Fred Tichnell, camping and activities; Dr. Arthur F. Jones and Corporal Sam Conrad, health and safety; Donald Browning, finance; George H. Hanst, advancement; Darrell A. Malone, leadership training.

Chairmen for the roundtable sessions during the year will be W. Kenneth Johns, with Robert B. Wooters for scouting and Robert J. Stanton for cubbing.

Each chairman present last Thursday evening talked briefly about his job. Merritt Feather spoke on the Neighborhood Commissioner's job, and Edmund S. Burke, president of Kelly Springfield Tire company in Cumberland, who is president of the Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, of which the Deep Creek district is a part, spoke about the opportunities and challenges of scouting. Willis V. Smith, scout executive, and Wilbert Sifton, field executive, also attended.

A scouters award for his work with troop 70, was presented to Harvey Riley, chairman of the troop committee. Presentation was made by Foster Riggs, scoutmaster. Pins were presented to new scouters.

Mr. Stuck said he would welcome the help of other men in the district who were interested in promoting the scout program. Refreshments were served by the Methodist men of the church.

"The Moon Is Blue" To Be Final Play

Next week's presentation at the Garrett County Playhouse will be the final one of the season. The summer theatre personnel will give "The Moon Is Blue," by F. Hugh Herbert.

This play is described as "spicy spoof on conventional attitudes." There will be only four characters in this final number.

Becky Valdez, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, is coming to Oakland to take a part as the only girl in the show. Other participants will be Neil Flanagan, Bill Lang and Bill Pappas.

Miss Valdez is a senior at the University of New Mexico, a drama major. She just recently returned from Mexico and attended a summer theatre workshop at the University of New Mexico.

Gene Yell, director, said yesterday that Jo Ellen Briscoe had left the group Sunday night to return to Missoula, Montana before reentering the school in New Mexico this fall. Jo Ann Mears and Dianne Wheeler also left Monday for New York. They played their final number last week.

"Dial 'M' for Murder" will continue to be presented the balance of this week with Neil Flanagan in the lead, assisted by Helen Page Camp, William Lang, Al Hadley and William G. Pappas.

Attendance for last week was 857 with a sellout crowd Saturday night. This was about 70 less than for the week previous, but Mr. Yell said the total attendance was well above that of last year.

F.F.A. Chapter Plans Picnic

The Oakland F. F. A. chapter will conduct its annual summer picnic and business meeting at Swallow Falls Monday evening, August 25, at 7:30 p. m. All former F. F. A. members and prospective members are also invited, according to Richard Bishoff, vocational agriculture instructor.

Rattlesnake Lore Popular Subject?

Most people would go out of their way to avoid a rattlesnake, but there are some who make a sport of pursuing the vipers.

According to many, the rattlesnake population in this section has increased in recent years—but is not large enough to cause alarm.

Of the 15 species of rattlesnakes, the most common in this vicinity is the timber rattler, or Crotalus horridus, which may be five feet in length and is yellowish or nearly black, and marked by dark, irregular bands.

However, other species have been found here and recently a dead diamondback was discovered in the Swallow Falls area. Most of the rattlers killed around here in recent weeks have been of medium size, the largest reported being about five feet long with 11 rattles.

Contrary to popular belief, the rattler is a timid thing, and will not usually attack unless cornered or provoked. Then it will strike—usually fatally. Like deer, they seldom stray far from their pit, unless it is a dry season, and also like deer they follow the same paths in their journeys.

Secluded rock piles and abandoned saw mills are recommended for those seeking to engage in rattlesnake hunts. Swallow Falls area and Backbone Mountain are two of the most popular places, although the snakes have occasionally been found almost anywhere in the county.

So if you're not easily rattled, a rattlesnake hunt is just the thing—we are told.

Southern Hi Students Earn More Credits Than Are Needed

In a report issued by Kenneth Johns, principal of Southern Garrett County Jr. Sr. High School, it was revealed that students at the local high school earn considerably more credits than are necessary for graduation.

To be eligible for graduation from high schools in Maryland, a student must have accumulated a minimum of sixteen credits while in grades nine through twelve.

Actually, only one student in last year's graduating class received the bare minimum, Mr. Johns said. Seventy seven students out of a graduating class of ninety two earned twenty or more units. Of the seventy seven students earning twenty units or more, forty three earned twenty one units, or five more than required by state regulations.

Among the subjects required of all students, regardless of the course they pursue, are four years of English, one year of American history, one year of mathematics and two years of science.

"These tabulations indicate that students are taking full advantage of the educational opportunities offered to them," the local principal stated. All students are encouraged to schedule a minimum of four solid subjects that receive one full unit. Certain classes such as physical education and typing received only one-half units.

"The fact that Southern's students are more than meeting the state requirements should be a source of pride and satisfaction for parents," Mr. Johns said.

Evening Practice For Grid Candidates Planned at Southern

Evening practices for boys who plan to play football at Southern forthe coming year was announced today by Dick Travis, athletic director and football coach at the local school.

Practice will get underway promptly at 6:45 and conclude around 9:00. Morning practice session will be continued as usual.

The afternoon session has been dropped in favor of the evening session to allow boys who work on farms and other jobs, to be present.

"The fact that this time of the year is in the midst of threshing season has prevented several boys from reporting," Mr. Travis said. "Also, a number of boys are working at other jobs hoping to earn money to take care of all their school needs for the coming year."

To date a total of twenty four boys have reported to practice. However, indications are that the list will increase to thirty five or more when school resumes Tuesday, September 2.

Fire Destroys Farm Home Early Sunday

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the two story frame dwelling of Blair Robinette in the Sand Flat area, early last Sunday morning.

Firemen answered an alarm at 3:30 a. m., but the home was completely enveloped by flames when the department arrived and the only thing left to do was prevent its spread to other areas. The farm was formerly owned by William Chisholm.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinett now reside in Baltimore and had not occupied the home for some time. The last known occupant was thought to have been Robert Dill but no one had lived there for at least the past three weeks.

Pollution Control Of Little Yough Under Discussion

Results Of Recent Meeting Tabulated By Public Health Engineer

Representatives from Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Loch Lynn Heights, and Deer Park met recently to discuss the unsanitary conditions existing in the area because of sewage entering the Little Youghiogheny river.

Results of the session were tabulated by W. McLean Bingley, public health engineer for the Maryland State Department of Health.

Most of the discussion centered around the existing conditions and the steps that should be taken to make it possible to correct the situation.

Oakland at the present time is under order of the State Board of Health to investigate the unsatisfactory sewage conditions existing, but town authorities indicated in their opinion that conditions in the entire area suggested the desirability of providing joint treatment facilities for all the communities rather than for Oakland alone.

Attending the session were Russell L. Smith, mayor and Henry W. McComas, councilman, Oakland; H. M. Weeks, mayor and Earl Sebold, councilman, Mt. Lake Park; E. C. Clatterbuck, mayor, Deer Park; Harry C. Edwards, Grantsville; and Kermit S. Glotfelty, Accident, members of the House of Delegates; Dr. Arthur F. Jones, county health officer; Charley B. Miller, sanitarian, county health department; Thomas D. McKewen and W. McLean Bingley, of the State Department of Health.

It was pointed out that Oakland, Mt. Lake Park and Loch Lynn had sewers which discharge directly to Little Youghiogheny river but that Deer Park had no sewers. The group considered possible ways in which the sewage could be conveyed to one point for treatment.

Health department officials said it was entirely feasible from an

New Students Asked To Register, Aug. 25

Students who will be attending Southern High School for the first time this coming year are asked to register Monday, August 25, Kenneth Johns, principal, said today.

While this early registration is not absolutely necessary, Mr. Johns pointed out that it would save considerable time on the opening day of school. A student who registers early will have his class schedule prepared in advance and will need to report to the office only briefly on the opening day of school.

New students were encouraged to bring their parents with them. They will be taken on a tour of the school and the facilities and educational opportunities offered will be explained.

Mr. Johns also pointed out that it would be helpful to grade placement if new students brought their last report cards with them when reporting for registration.

Steelworker To Try Lake Swim Friday

Gus Brickner, of Charleroi, Pa., steelworker and grandfather, will enter the waters of Deep Creek Lake tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock in an attempt to swim the entire distance of sixteen miles. He estimates it may take him as long as nine hours.

Brickner is spending the week at Deep Creek Lodge at McHenry and has been training every day. He swam seven miles on Sunday in view of television photographers who planned to broadcast his practice swim this evening at 11 o'clock from a Pittsburgh station.

Brickner said he would have a boat to follow him which would have two men from Maryland for witnesses, a photographer, his trainer and some radio and television men from Baltimore and Washington.

Brickner will enter the water at the Green Glade inlet and will plan to complete his swim at the breast of the dam. Brickner, a grandfather, has been frustrated in several attempts to swim the English Channel. Man Who Shot Boy, Instead of Stray Dog, Found Hanged

Ersel J. Shaffer, of near Corinth, Preston county, just across the Maryland line from Hutton, was found shortly after noon Sunday were he had apparently hanged himself in a neighbor's apple tree.

Shaffer had been charged with voluntary manslaughter and released on bond following the shooting of Donnie Eugene Bowser, 14, on Sunday, August 10, in the yard of Shaffer's farm home.

James Dailey, prosecuting attorney for Preston county, said Shaffer had been in Kingwood last Friday and had agreed to take a lie detector test to support his story that the shooting of the Bowser boy had been accidental.

The man had been quoted as saying that he believed he was shooting at a stray dog in the grass and that the second of the 22 caliber bullets had struck the boy in the head. The grass was about three feet high and Shaffer said that he was unaware the boy was in the grass.

Dailey said that Shaffer had gone to the home of William Stewart and asked permission to go up on the hill for some apples about 7 a. m. At noon, when Shaffer failed to return to his home a search was begun and Stewart and Shaffer's son, Darrell, went to the orchard. There they found Shaffer had used a binder cord to force a noose with one end tied to an apple tree limb. Shaffer apparently had stepped off the limb to his death.

Shaffer had been free on $1,000 bond and was due to appear before the October term circuit court grand jury at Kingwood.

The Bowser boy had been a frequent visitor to the Shaffer farm and was well known to all the family. He was a companion of the young Shaffer boy, Darrel.

Shaffer was the son of James and Ethel Smith Shaffer, both deceased. He is survived by his widow, Ida R. Shaffer; two children, Deloris and Darrel, both at home; two sisters, Mrs. Thelma Singleton, Clarksburg; and Mrs. Wilda Allen, of Vienna; and a brother, Willis Shaffer, of Steubenville, Ohio.

Premium Winners At Fair Listed

Prize money totaling $2,528.75 was distributed to 312 individuals who exhibited at the second annual Garrett County Fair last week.

It was a case of almost everybody winning some recognition for their exhibits. Fair officials announced that there were 346 exhibitors, as compared to 245 last year, and that these exhibitors placed 1,545 exhibits in the various classes.

Top premium winner was John Wildesen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wildesen, of Gormania, who came away from the fair with $164.00. Next highest to him was Guy Stanton with premium awards totaling $55. Gerald Glotfelty and Stuart Stanton had $50 each, with the balance of the others getting lesser amounts down to 50 cents. Prize money seemed to be more evenly distributed among more people this year. Wildesen was at the Cumbrland Fair this week adding to his prize money to the extent of $100 or more.

Various statistics were being gathered by fair officials but all of them were pointing to the fact that the fair was most successful in attracting a large number of people, and that it would also be successful financially. A new cattle barn and a new display barn were constructed this year and the electric transformers had to be replaced which ate into the anticipated profits, but it was thought the final tabulation would show the fair association in the black.

Some of the first prize winners included the following:

Mrs. S. D. Whipkey, door mat; Mrs. Paul S. Parker, plastics, tray; Howard Green, novelty, white turkeys, goose; junior heifer yearling, two-year-old heifer; Mrs. Helen Glotfelty, pullets, two classes, beets, rush bottom seat; Gerald Glotfelty, mixed grasses, colt foal, stallion Shetland pony; Mrs. Donald MacMurray, paintings, two classes; Mrs. Alvin Bowser, beans, perennial flower arrangement, stole, plain rolls, brownies, chocolate fudge, beets.

Mrs. John Menges, stencil, plastic, seafoam, bread and butter

Both are children of Mr. and Mrs. William Wildesen.

Corrects Mistaken Impressions About A Local Company

J. W. Ruby, president of the Sterling Faucet Company and Sterling Processing company, the latter of Oakland wrote a letter to Mayor Russell L. Smith last week to correct some mistaken impressions which a few people of the community had about the company.

The feeling was brought to light at the last meeting of the City Council in Oakland, when accusations were made about the company which are untrue. A. D. Summers, vice-president, and Earl Wise, plant manager, who attended that meeting, came away with the feeling that the council had been furnished incorrect information.

Mr. Ruby wrote to Mr. Smith as follows:

First, I would like to assure you, Mayor Smith, and your council, that the stockholders, officers and directors, of Sterling Processing Corporation only know how to do business one way, and that is the fair and honest way. We are not a group of fly-by-night or sharpies. We all try to work as many hours in a day as is necessary to get a job done right. I am sure you are well aware of the fact that the reason we located our Sterling Processing Plant in Oakland, Maryland was (1) that your people had guaranteed us of ample water supply for this plant and (2) that we wanted to furnish employment to people in a city where employment was needed.

Mayor Smith, honestly, I was a little concerned as to some of the accusations that Council made. No. 1—That we had sold ice to one of your hospitals in Oakland and charged them $1.00 cwt. When this was checked by our people it was found that we had never sold the hospital any ice whatsoever, and that the ice they were referring to in this instance was purchased from the Hopemont Sanitarium. No. 2—We were also accused by some of your good councilmen of selling ice and making a nice profit from the National Guard. In checking this I find that the National Guard occasionally have dances and they will bring in three or four cans to get ice for these occasions, but that we have never charged one penny for the ice. Mayor Smith, I have always operated on a basis of "live and let live" and have always been very civic minded in the community in which we operate and certainly I would not tolerate any of our people doing otherwise.

I further understand that some of your councilmen denied that we had tried to help the City of Oakland by pumping the water back into your reservoir from our own well, over week-ends and at night when our operation was down. I understand that one of your councilmen accused us of having our watchman turn on the pump when he and your water superintendent at Oakland would go to the plant to check and see if we were pumping the water and then turn it off just as soon as they left. I am sure that this is not correct and can be checked by going back and checking our electric charts for week-ends and nights that we pumped water into the city reservoir when our plant was not in operation.

Mayor Smith, it is regrettable that this incorrect information has gotten to your good councilmen, but I can assure you of one thing, that you will find we are in your locality for one reason and that is to help the community of Oakland, Maryland. Naturally, to do this we have to make a reasonable profit, to have to purchase our water at the right price (as previously agreed) and I am sure that the community of Oakland will benefit greatly from this operation as it progresses and grows and employs more people, which will mean more payroll for the community. In addition to the processing plant we are very hopeful of working with your good farm people in Garrett County in growing broilers for the processing plant to give them additional income.

As you no doubt know, we operate and have plants in several counties in West Virginia, the state of Texas, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, in our various other types of manufacturing operations and never can I recall of us having any misunderstanding with these communities and we certainly do not intend to have any further misunderstanding with your good community, as it is our desire to help the community and never do anything that will hurt it.

Kindest personal regards, I remain

Very truly yours,
Sterling Faucet Company
J. W. RUBY, President

In reply to Mr. Ruby, Mayor Smith said he had been deeply concerned about the attitude of these few local people and assured Mr. Ruby that the big majority of the people of the community appreciate the operation and the company's interest in the community.

Mersing-Naylor Nuptials Held

St. Paul's Methodist church in Oakland was the scene of the wedding last Friday afternoon, August 15, at 3 o'clock of Miss Olivia Phelps Naylor, daughter of S. Townshend Naylor and the late Mrs. Naylor, Oakland, and Jack Irvan Mersing, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mersing, Kingwood, W. Va.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles Godwin before an altar of white lilies and chrysanthemums and lighted candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a dress of white Chantilly lace, fashioned with a scalloped Sabrina bateau neck line and long sleeves. The full skirt had a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Philip O. Richardson, of Williamsburg, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her ballerina length gown was of pink lace with satin cummerbund. She wore matching shoes and hat.

Miss Sharon Graham and Miss Gail Naylor, bridesmaids, were attired in the same style dresses in pearl aqua with shoes and hats to match.

James Mersing, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Keith Mersing and Alonzo D. Naylor II, Mr. Julius Littman, organist, played traditional wedding music and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Bowie L. Grant, eldest sister of the bride, chose a navy crepe dress with copen accessories and wore a white rose corsage. The groom's mother wore a pink nylon dress with white accessories and a white rose corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Mt. Lake Park hotel at which time Mrs. Homer L. Bennett poured and Mrs. Paul B. Naylor cut the wedding cake.

The bride chose as her going away costume a copen and white dress with white accessories and a red rose corsage.

The couple will reside in Providence, Rhode Island.

engineering and economic viewpoint to construct an interceptor from Deer Park to Oakland along the Little Youghiogheny river and a sewage treatment plant discharging into the Youghiogheny river just below the confluence of the Little Yough with the Big Yough. It was pointed out that since Deer Park had no sewers it might be desirable to delay extending the interceptor any farther than Loch Lynn.

Health Department officials advised a single agency to coordinate the study and succeeding construction and operation of the project would be logical, but that legislation would be necessary making it possible to permit a Sanitary district to be created in the area. The present law exempts Garrett county.

They recommended that when proper legislation is obtained the County Commissioners would be asked to create a sanitary district for the area. The sanitary district would confer with consulting engineers and determine the approximate cost of an engineering report for sewerage. The cost could be financed by the district or a non-interest bearing loan from the Community Facilities Administration of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, the loan to be repaid when construction is undertaken.

The engineering report would contain complete information on the work needed, costs and means of financing. They reported that at present some funds were available to pay for a portion of the construction cost through grants from the federal and state governments, perhaps as much as forty percent of the costs of major portions of the facilities such as interceptor sewers, pumping stations and treatment facilities.

Those attending the session agreed that these basic steps should be given widespread consideration by residents of the county and that the officials and citizens should consider the need for legislation permitting sanitary districts to be created in the county.

Health department officials said their department was available to assist in the program.

School Board Offers Insurance Protection For All Students

Again this year the Garrett County Board of Education has approved school accident insurance from the Reliance Mutual Insurance company.

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, said this insurance may be purchased by any parent through the local school for $1.50 per child. It covers accidents to school children from the time they leave home for school until they return in the evening, in an amount not to exceed $3,000 for any one accident. Purchase of the insurance will be available only during the first few weeks of school, he said.

Mr. Hawkins urged parents to purchase the insurance wherever possible. He said the school board does not hold itself liable for accidents to school children and has no funds to care for any medical expenses to cover accidents.

The fee for regular school children and teachers is $1.50, for cafeteria workers and custodians, $3.60, and for students who are football players, $10.

Spotlight Turned On Former Local Resident

The spotlight was turned on Paul T. Calderwood in a publication of the Public Health Service and National Institutes of Health for July 28.

Calderwood was a home on the Boiling Spring road near Deer Park where he and his family spend their week-ends. He has worked with the Navy Department, Postoffice Department and N.I.H. for the past thirty-seven years, and now resides in Bethesda.

The article about Mr. Calderwood follows:

NIH mice can be grateful to Paul Calderwood if his current project is successful.

Paul is one of the skilled instrument makers in the Fabrication Unit of the Instrument Section who construct instruments for the special needs of NIH scientists. He is now building a device that will permit small animals under study to move about freely, while they receive continuous intravenous infusions.

Designed by Dr. Piero Gullino of NCI, the instrument will be a miniature fluid-sealed swivel built into a long, tiny tube.

Paul's craftsmanship has helped build many other unusual instruments. Although quiet and shy, he is obviously proud of the human stereotaxic instrument he worked on which is now being used successfully.

Designed by the Instrument Section's engineering staff, the instrument ables a surgeon to re-establish exact reference points on the skull by means of precisely calibrated moving parts mounted on a fixed base. One of the details Paul handled was the tooling of grooves around the edges of special sets of small rollers, which carry the instrument's adjustable probe with maximum accuracy and smoothness.

For such painstaking work, explained John DeBroske, chief of the Fabrications Unit, an instrument maker must be calm, creative, patient, highly skilled, and must take a strong interest in his work. Paul and his co-workers obviously have these qualities. A background for his present assignments, Paul has the additional qualification of 30 years of Government service as a machinist, tool maker and instrument maker.

Because of his intense interest in his work he has little time for outside interests, except for his childhood home in Deer Park. It was there that Paul's father settled and married after coming from Scotland in the 1890's as a shepherd for the flocks of a local gentleman farmer. Paul and his wife now visit the old homestead almost every other week-end and use it during their vacations.

When he was 19 Paul started as an apprentice machinist at the Navy Yard in Washington, D. C., and from 1940 to 1945 was with the Navy Bureau of Ordnance in Philadelphia. He then transferred to the Postoffice department in Washington, D. C., where he made special-purpose locks for the mail service. In October of 1955 Paul came to NIH, and now resides on Battery Lane in Bethesda.

Grantsville Drops To Second Place In Pen-Mar League

Grantsville Sluggers dropped back into second place in the Pen-Mar baseball league over the week-end.

Hyndman climbed back into first with a 16-2 victory over Mt. Savage while Grantsville took a 4-1 defeat at the hands of Barrelville.

Junie Perry's home run in the seventh inning prevented a shut-out. Perry leads the league in home runs with 11, nearly spearheaded a Grantsville last-ditch rally in the ninth inning. With two out and after pitcher Earl Gracite had singled Perry hit what seemed to be his second round-tripper of the day. Ronnie Cage raced back to the fence, lost sight of it ffor a while but spotted it in time to snare it barehanded for the game's fielding gem.

Grantsville's win on Sunday 7-2 against Zihlman didn't raise the percentage any since Hyndman held its lead by defeating Salisbury 8 to 3.

Robert Keister made his record 8-1 for the season in pitching a two-hitter for Grantsville against Zihlman. He fanned 10 and issued six walks.

John Keister and Tucker Cain banged a pair of doubles each and the latter batted in two runs.

Final games of the season will be played Saturday and Sunday. Grantsville will play Flintstone and Mt. Savage.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	7	1-5
Monday	Matthew	6	1-4
Tuesday	Matthew	6	5-15
Wednesday	Matthew	6	16-23
Thursday	Matthew	7	13-20
Friday	James	3	17-18
Saturday	II Peter	1	1-8

Apples are big business! About 150 million bushels are grown in the U. S. each year.

Perhaps that's why this lad wonders if he could find still another use for the apple. Or perhaps he only wonders if there's a worm in it. If there is, will he toss it away, complaining it's no good?

Some people say they don't go to Church because there are hypocrites in the Church. Then you might as well chuck out that basket of apples in the cellar. There's probably at least one worm in it. But really, does that affect the goodness and usefulness of all the rest?

The Church is big business too, guiding millions of souls each year. If you will attend regularly, earnestly worshipping and sincerely watching for a place where you can be of service, you will give and gain a life-full that's worthwhile. Then you will forget there might be a hypocrite, or a wormy apple around.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Isaiah 30:1-5, 15-18; 31: 1-3; Micah 4:1-7; Malachi 2:10; Acts 10:1-35; Ephesians 2:13—3:21.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 11:1-9.

International

Lesson for August 24, 1958

WHERE can the will of God be most fully done? Where on this earth today can we come closest to finding the kingdom of God? To put it in still another way: where in this world would you find the place most like heaven? Walter Rauschenbusch, an outstanding Christian of 50 years ago, used to give the same answer most of us would: the Christian home. Ask the opposite question: Among all the forms and institutions of human relationships, where do you get farthest away from the kingdom of heaven? Where is God's will most rarely done? Rauschenbusch said: in international relationships. In other words, if a home can sometimes remind us of heaven, international affairs sometimes remind us of hell.

Dr. Foreman

Man's Other Religion

Nevertheless, if a Christian is committed to justice, and if he believes that justice is always God's will and intention, then he will believe in justice in international affairs too—if it can be had. That's just the trouble. There are more obstacles to justice across national lines than anywhere else in the world. One of these is that nationalism is, as has been said, "man's other religion." Always and everywhere, whatever men's professed religion might be, the rival altar is always the altar of the State. The State claims absolute sovereignty, demands absolute loyalty; and that one reason is why international relationships are so hard to make just and fair. For when the interests of two "absolutely right" countries clash, how can justice be found unless they yield to some authority among themselves?

Does the Bible cast any light on this dark area of human life? It certainly gives us no blueprints; but it does give us inspired hints. One of these is the warning Isaiah gave his people, about 700 B.C., against alliances which would do more harm than good. Does this mean we should scrap the United Nations? Not at all. The United Nations is not the kind of thing against which Isaiah warned Israel. That was a tiny nation, and they were constantly tempted to seek security by military pacts with big nations like Egypt. That, said Isaiah, is just selling yourselves into slavery. Egypt never made any pacts except for Egypt's benefit; and an alliance between Egypt and Israel would be like one between a lion and a lamb; it would only serve to feed the lion and it would be the end of the lamb. The United Nations is a quite different thing. Most Americans do not realize the immense good that goes on, under its auspices, in many areas of life—child welfare, health services, education aids to business, and many other ways.

Warless World

The prophet Micah, looking to the far future, sees a warless world. Not a world in which nations armed to the teeth refrain from attack for fear of retaliation, but a world in which no one will be even studying war any more. Is this possible? It may be, now, no more possible than a world without death. But just because death is inevitable, doctors and health services do not give up their fight against it.

Prince of Peacemakers

Most Christians have a kind of hopeless feeling about international affairs. What can we do about it? we ask. One thing we can always remember—that international conflicts begin with bad impressions that one nation's citizens make on others. The world today sees Americans everywhere—tourists, business men, soldiers, missionaries. What sort of impression are these people making? What missionaries are trying to do is sometimes canceled out by what some stupid junketing congressman or private soldier on leave does or says. The more people are won by us to Christ, the more likely it is that these unofficial ambassadors of ours over the world will be Christians; and so the greater will our influence be toward peace.

Forest Fire Losses Have Been Reduced

The number of forest fires and resultant loss in timber has been cut dramatically in the past 32 years in the Western Maryland counties.

William A. Johnson, district forester, revealed statistics concerning the reduction with figures on woodland management at a meeting in Hagerstown last week.

Johnson reported that over the past 32 years 165,000 acres of the 716,000 acres of woodland in the western Maryland counties has been burned over by fire.

But in the last ten years only 2,693 acres had been ruined by fire.

The number of fires in the 22 years between 1926 and 1947 annually averaged 228 in the district but since 1947 the annual average has dropped to 68.

The fire record of the past, plus disease, insect pests and improper logging have taken a toll of the timber stand in the district. The annual growth is 25 million cubic feet of wood fibre and the annual toll is 9 million cubic feet. This leaves 16 million cubic feet of annual growth.

But much of this is on poor growing land and will never make valuable timber. Johnson estimated that one-fourth of the trees in this section are considered good growing stock that will produce quality logs.

The remaining three-fourths produces timber fit only for low quality products such as paper wood.

In the past 13 years there have been 6,000 private landowners representing 160,000 acres who have joined a cooperative woodland management program with the forestry service.

From the 5,500 acres marked for cutting by the department of forests and parks, 18,000,000 cubic feet of saw timber and 6,000 cords of smaller cuts have been produced. The overall picture in the western district shows state forests are somewhat better than private lands due to more intensive management.

KRAFT SYSTEM RECAPPING
A GENERAL TIRE SERVICE

SEE OUR KRAFT RECAPPING DEPARTMENT
WE USE . . .
• FACTORY-APPROVED EQUIPMENT
• FACTORY-CONTROLLED METHODS
• FACTORY-TRAINED MEN
• and GENERAL TRUCK TIRE RUBBER

Here's What We Do . . .
We carefully inspect every tire both inside and out to check for injuries and hidden bruises to be sure the carcass is sound for recapping. Only a tire that passes this inspection is accepted for Kraft System Recapping. Our factory-trained Kraftsmen use precision buffing to accurately buff the tire to the proper contour.
Every tire is scientifically balanced by factory methods to give new tire performance.
Our Time Temperature and Pressure Curing is constantly accurate.
The end result is a tire, recapped with General Tire rubber, that will give you thousands of safe, extra miles at lower cost per mile . . . because saving your tires is our business

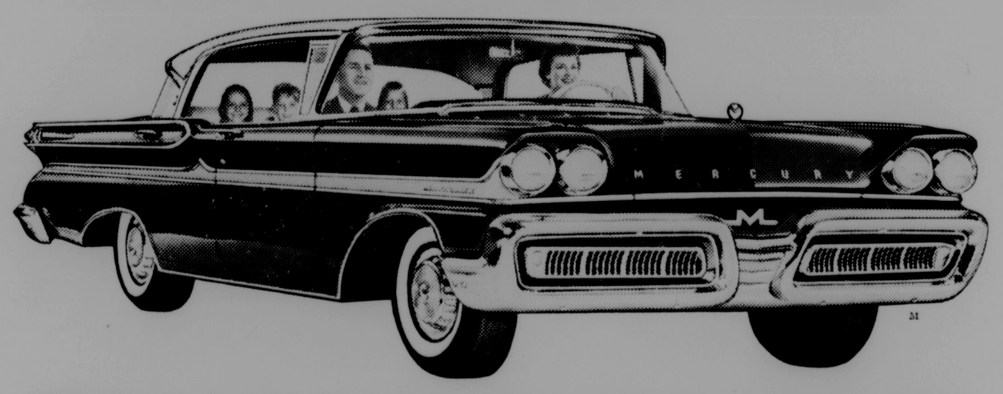
Mercury lets you stretch out while stretching your dollar



COME IN! LET US SHOW YOU HOW TO LIVE BIG—DRIVE BIG—ON A SMALL BUDGET

Six people can fit in almost any standard-size car today. But how often have you been comfortable with more than four passengers?

Mercury gives you extra inches inside to eliminate the "squeeze." Six adults can sit back without touching.

Extra comfort is just one example of Mercury's approach to building cars. Mercury gives you more than you might expect—more than ordinary cars offer.

You'll find this equally true of Mercury's performance and ride. Mercury's Marauder V-8 engines (up to 360 hp) are the most advanced in the industry—give you more power from less gas. Mercury's ride is a Full-Cushion ride—full-time smoothness on any road.

The price? It's never been easier to own a Mercury.

MARRIED

Hayes-Broadwater— Miss Ruth Louise Broadwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eston Broadwater, Deer Park, became the bride of Charles Raymond Hayes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hayes, Sr., Baltimore, on Saturday, July 19. The double ring ceremony was solemnized before an altar decorated with palms, white flowers and lighted candles, in St. Paul's Methodist church, Oakland with Rev. Edward Seibert officiating.

Keith Mersing was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Merritt Feather at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white ballerina-length gown of imported Alencon lace over nylon tulle and satin, styled with a fitted bodice buttoned in the back with tiny buttons, a scalloped V neckline and full skirt with appliques of lace. A crown trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a white Bible on which was placed a white orchid and satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Elaine Broadwater, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Judy Wampler and Miss Barbara Broadwater, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. Brenda Sue Broadwater was her sister's flower girl and Edward Broadwater, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mahlon Broadwater, brother of the bride, served as best man. Roger Broadwater, another brother, and Ronald Green, were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church social room. The bride's table was decorated with bouquets of pink and white carnations, baby's breath and fern, and lighted candles. A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, centered the table.

Mrs. Dorcas Wampler and Mrs. Helen Howell served the cake and Mrs. Leona Rice presided at the punch bowl. All are aunts of the bride. Mrs. Ada Green and Mrs. Ruby Harvey assisted at the gift table.

The bride, a graduate of Southern High school in 1956, is employed at Western Electric Co., Baltimore. The bridegroom was recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps and is employed in Baltimore as a plumber's helper. The couple is residing at 124 Kinship road, Baltimore.

Review of the Play

Some of the most popular plays produced on the American stage have been those associated with crime and detection, not to mention horror. These may be generally spoken of as "Who donits", a word coined by the late Wolfe Kaufman when he was a member of the great slang making staff of Variety. While this rather pithy word has become a part of our language because it is useful and descriptive, Kaufman has also performed somewhat of a disservice since something that is worth respect may be dismissed offhand by that self same individual word. There is definitely some art and much craft in the writing of a successful thriller, as well as there is art in the playing of them. The first of what we may call the modern group of "who donits" begins with William Gillette's "Sherlock Holmes" and ends with Frederick Knott's "Dial M for Murder." Crime does pay in the fiction of the printed page and on the spoken stage. It pays well to the author, the producer, the actors, and even the audiences.

Everyone still likes to play cops and robbers, as evidenced by the popularity of Dick Tracy, as well as Dragnet and similar series, not to mention the so called adult Westerns on TV.

There have been changes in this type of play from the more obvious melodramas to that of the psychological thrillers of today. Perhaps three of the best of these are "Night Must Fall," "Angel Street", and "Dial M for Murder." All three are British imports.

In previous years The Garrett County Playhouse group presented the first two. This week the last of the triad is brought forth to help make your hair curl.

This week's presentation "Dial M for Murder" is probably the best of the group. It might be considered an economical play in the number of characters, actors and words. There are five players, one set and one murder. There is however nothing economical about the quality of the production given this week's show, nor the excellence of the portrayals by the five actors involved.

This was not an easy production to set up in the round since there were certain technical problems of staging that had to be overcome. All of this has been well done by Gene Yell and D. G. Buckels, and we are given one of the better efforts of the group.

The interpretations given "Dial M" by the local playhouse compare favorably with the original cast.

Again this week Helen Page Camp and Neil Flannigan turn in the high type of performance which makes one so happy we have these two versatile young actors as part of the local acting company. For Helen, her ability to play on different weeks a teenager, an eccentric elderly woman, a slatternly farm woman, and this week the distraught, anxious wife of a calculating would be killer, makes one realize the terrific potential this young artist has. Soon she will achieve proper recognition due her as a young character actress of real ability.

As the rather cool plotting, sinister Tony Wendice, Neil Flannigan gives a portrayal which while played in a lower key, may well be compared to that of Maurice Evans who created the role on Broadway. He too has the change of pace as well as the ability to go far in his chosen field.

As the not so dumb inspector of police, Bill Pappas turns in another well studied performance.

Al Hadley in an important role has his best opportunity thus far this year, and takes advantage of it by being quite convincing as the wastrel who becomes the pawn of the insidious Tony.

Bill Lang is the American writer who aids in the trapping of the guilty person. This too is one of his better parts and he does quite well by it.

We will not tell you anymore of the story so as not to dull your interest or anticipation, but simply advise to treat yourself to an exciting evening by going to see this excellent "who donit", both because of the play itself as well as the way it is portrayed. You will be well rewarded for your trip to the playhouse.

Next week's showing of the "Moon Is Blue," a delightful comedy by Hugh Herbert, will bring down the curtain for the 1958 season. Then will come the planning for 1959. Perhaps next year one of the offerings of the first season, such as "Blithe Spirit" might be revived. Whatever is selected for production will be representative of the best of the living theatre, and make those of us living in this mountain top ever appreciative of the efforts of Gene Yell in making the playhouse a cultural success and a definite contribution to the attractions of this area.

Have a Care Driver! .....

It's ridiculous, isn't it, to realize that the last big week-end of Summer now coming up, will bring the usual staggering toll of accidents, death and injury on the nation's highways unless every motorist makes a special effort to be courteous, cautious and downright sensible.

The spectacle of hundreds of persons dying in automobile crashes confronts everyone who takes out the family car. The ridiculous and sad part of this tragedy, of course, is that it would not have to be. Just a little less hurry and a bit more attention to the small but important things that make the difference between driving carefully and not, might cut down this expected accident rate tremendously.

Highway deaths somehow fail to impress people. Air or sea tragedies stun and horrify those who read the big headlines. "Terrible," people say when an air crash kills 120 people. But in the same time 160 persons died in automobile crashes in this country and there was no outcry.

The Keystone Automobile club issued some good advice. "Men and women behind the wheel everywhere have the power in their hands and minds to change this picture to a great degree. Careful and sensible attention to the dangers ahead and behind, giving the other fellow a break, and just plain 'taking it easy' would be good Labor Day resolutions for everyone."

These precautions are not just for Labor Day, for the day after Labor Day schools begin their ten-month sessions and thousands of school children will be along the streets and highways. The American Automobile Association has begun an intensive campaign to alert residents that "School's Open —Drive Carefully."

So it is not just a three day proposition of being alert and then sinking back into recklessness. It is a year around job and one which merits our best efforts at all times.

Wisconsin Calves Arrive

An additional program seeking greater milk production in this area materialized when fifty-seven calves from Wisconsin arrived last week in Oakland and were distributed to buyers from this county and also Preston and Mineral counties in West Virginia.

This plan for calves from Wisconsin was originated by Howard J. White and C. D. Williams, fieldmen for the Carnation company; and John Reckner, Jr., Northern High school vocational agriculture teacher. It soon gained support from B. F. McConnell, vo-ag teacher at Terra Alta, W. Va., and Richard Bishoff, Southern High school vo-ag teacher.

The program began just for F.F.A. students as projects in dairying but began to grow when county agricultural agents James McHenry, Garrett county; Alton Anderson, Preston county; Jim Marshall, Mineral county and Moncelle Berg, Preston county's assistant agent, became interested.

White said the calves from Walter McFarland, Watertown, Wisconsin, arrived in top condition and were unloaded and distributed from the Mt. Top Veterinary hospital, just north of Oakland. They were attended in the unloading by Dr. Frank Custer, hospital owner, and Dr. Oehme, his assistant.

Among those receiving the calves were Jim Copeman, Fairmont, W. Va., and L. Bush Swisher, Morgantown, agriculture representatives of the West Maryland Power company, the latter director of the Farming for Better Living program; Paul Ditmer, Carnation company, Coshocton, O.; Charles Reynolds, Carnation company, Clarksburg; Moncelle Berg, Kingwood; James McHenry, Oakland; John Reckner, Northern High; and B. F. McConnell, vo-ag instructor.

Fishing Success Has Doubled on Lake

In a letter to Helmuth M. Heise, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion council, Edwin M. Barry, Department of Research and Education, Maryland Game and Inland Fish commission, states; "It appears from reports thus far that fishing success for large size fish has doubled over previous years at Deep Creek Lake."

To back his statement, C. C. Edwards, fish management division, Deep Creek, filed a list of the following anglers who are credited with landing the largest fish in each species.

J. W. Richardson, Pittsburgh, receives honors for the largest brown trout, a whopper measuring 27 inches and weighing 5 pounds, 5 ounces.

Andy Newman, summer resident and persistent fisherman, hooked the largest smallmouth bass, a 6 pound, 22 incher. Andy also receives credit for the largest yellow perch, one measuring 16 inches.

A 7-lb, 21 inch largemouth bass was landed on a spinner by Paul Frazee, of Erie, Pa. Frazee also caught a 3¾ pound, 23 inch eastern chain pickerel, another largest in its species.

Harry McIntyre, a 15-year-old from Pittsburgh, checked in a 26 inch, 6½ pound walleye, caught on a worm in the area of the dam.

Richard Nicoli, Pittsburgh, landed the largest Northern pike. It tipped the scales at 3½ pounds and measured 24 inches.

The result of one evening of fishing at the lake was exhibited the other evening. Harold Trickett and his brother Henry had four smallmouth bass and one walleye, caught in the lake, using bugs and plugs. The Tricketts had bass measuring 15½, 16, 17¼, 18 and a 19 inch walleye. The Trickett brothers are regular fishermen at the lake and are residents of Oakland.

Devereux Formally Opening Campaign

Rep. James Patrick Devereux formally opens his campaign for Governor of Maryland today with a speech before the Kiwanis club in Baltimore.

Throughout the week Gen. Devereux will stress the importance of "getting out the vote as the sure way for Maryland's right-thinking Republicans and Democrats to overcome the 'harmony machine' with an overwhelming turnout of independent citizens."

The General will be in Garrett county on Saturday, September 27 along with other state candidates. A caravan is being planned for that day and visits will be made to all areas of the county. The tour will conclude with a dinner meeting in Oakland.

Members of the Women's Republican club will have charge of the sale of tickets. The Republican State Central committee is arranging for the program.

E. Hobart Bishoff New Committeeman

E. Hobart Bishoff, of Friendsville, has been appointed as a new member of the Garrett County Farmers Home Administration committee, it was announced this week by B. Beeson Snyder, the agency's county supervisor.

The other two members serving with Mr. Bishoff are John C. Beachy and Ervin Ross Crowe. Mr. Bishoff succeeds Guy S. Stanton whose 3-year term expired. The committee elected Mr. Beachy as its chairman.

All members of the committee operate dairy farms. They also serve on various other agricultural committees and are active in church and community work.

Mr. Snyder explained that the FHA is an agency in the U. S. department of agriculture that supplies long-term credit to farmers to buy or improve their farms, establish soil and water conservation measures, and build or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings. It has intermediate or short-term credit for farm operations or to meet emergency needs.

He said the agency did not compete with other lenders in the farm credit field. As a part of its credit service it supplies farm and home management aids and advice.

No Decrease Noted In Postal Activity

The increase in postal rates apparently has had no effect on receipts at the Oakland postoffice. On the contrary business seems to be increasing, according to T. J. Stanton, assistant postmaster.

Stanton said that the increase in total receipts appeared to be much more than just the amount of additional postage required for first class letters and post cards over the previous rate.

Some rural deliveries had noted a decrease but in the overall picture, postoffice officials seemed to feel that the customers had taken the increase in stride and were sending out as many letters as they had prior to August 1.

Bray Makes Another Trip to Magistrate

Wells Bray, of Deer Park, made another appearance before Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., this week, but this time it was arranged that his case be heard by the Circuit court.

Bray had a hearing on a charge of assault against his wife on August 15. Magistrate Sanders imposed a sentence of 30 days in jail but the sentence was suspended. Bray had just returned a few weeks ago from the House of Correction where he was sentenced at the March Term of Court for one year.

Bray was charged by his wife, Betty Bray with disorderly conduct and assault and battery. Bray waived hearing and was returned to the county jail in default of $5,000 bond. Bray had not been able to furnish bond up to this morning.

Given Ninety Days in Jail

George Washington Teets was sentenced to serve 90 days in jail when given a hearing Tuesday before Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr.

Teets was charged with assault upon Charles W. Soelter on Sunday August 24.

Three Scouts Obtain Special Recognition

Three Garrett county boy scouts were among a number of scouts and leaders of Potomac Council that were accepted into the Order of the Arrow, a national scouting brotherhood which honors campers.

The ceremonies were held two weeks ago at Camp Potomac and were conducted by a team of 15 scouts and two advisors from Washington, Pa.

To be eligible for membership a Boy Scout or leader must be at least First Class and must have camped out at least 15 nights. Not more than seven of the nights could be counted if they came during a long-term camping trip.

This was the first group from the Potomac council to be received into the order. The chief purpose is to promote camping among Boy Scouts.

Scouts who were inducted included James Cuppett, Troop 70, Mt. Lake Park; Curtis Rhodes, Troop 57, Swanton; Richard Stuck, Post 31, Oakland.

Scout Leaders Plan Corn Roast Friday

Boy Scout leaders have planned a corn roast for boys of the entire Deep Creek district on Friday night. It will be held at the Fred Glotfelty farm, route 219, just north of Oakland.

All scouts are invited to bring other youth who are interested even though they are not scouts. The affair will begin at 8 o'clock.

L. J. Sacher, district chairman of camping and activities, announced that if the weather was inclement that it would be held the following evening at the same time and place.

Summer Theatre To End Saturday Night

Just three more performances and the 1958 curtain will be run down for the Garrett County summer theatre.

The eighth play of the season, "The Moon Is Blue," is being presented this week, and is described as "spicy spoof on conventional attitudes. There are only four characters in this final number, with Becky Valdez, of Albuquerque, New Mexico being the only girl. Other participants are Neil Flanagan, Bill Lang and Bill Pappas.

The play opened Tuesday night and will continue this evening, Friday and Saturday. Total attendance at last week's performance was 905. Gene Yell, director, said the Board of Directors of the Playhouse would meet sometime this week to make plans for next summer's activities.

Family "Pounces" on Two County Officers

When it started out only two members of a family were wanted for malicious destruction of property, but before the entire episode was finished, the whole family was involved.

County authorities gave this account:

Oscar Upole preferred charges against Norma Edith Reckart for malicious destruction of property, to-wit: breaking windows out of a 1950 Studebaker automobile, owned by Upole, on August 24. Pauline Upole, wife of Oscar, also preferred charges against Mary Myrtle Reckart, for assault and battery on the same day.

Sheriff James E. Frantz and Maryland State Trooper first class Donald Tucker went to the Reckart home, at the top of the mountain near Deer Park, to serve the warrants and place the two women under arrest.

They were able to bring in only one of the women, Mary Myrtle Reckart, whom they placed in jail, and they told a story of being set upon, stoned, scatchtd and otherwise bruised and defaced. Frantz had his shirt torn from his back. Trooper Tucker received numerous scratches. Their automobile was scratched and defaced. Stones and sticks flew thick and fast.

Now there are warrants for Pansy Reckart and Naomi Reckart, charged with making an assault. Pansy came to Oakland yesterday to see Mary Myrtle, and so now she too is confined. Officers are still seeking Naomi and Norma.

The trial before Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., was slated for 1 o'clock Tuesday, but the schedule had to be revised. It may or may not be held today, depending upon the success of the officers in bringing in the other two women.

Camps End Season

Camps Minnestoska and Whitethorn near Hutton, operated by Chester Johns, Baltimore, concluded their thirty-second season on Monday, August 18. Both camps were at capacity for the eight weeks' session with 50 boys at Whitethorn and 50 girls at Minnetoska. Campers were from the Baltimore and Washington area, plus several from Oakland area.

Mr. Johns said he had received what he termed "glowing reports" from many parents who came here to visit their children during the summer. One of the campers was Diane Kefauver, daughter of U. S. Senator and Mrs. Estes Kefauver. Mrs. Kefauver visited here one week-end and the Senator later wrote Mr. Johnson telling of Mrs. Kefauver's impressions of the county.

Campers from Oakland were two childen of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Englander, one of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Proudfoot, one of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nethken, and Kathy Gonder. Counsellors included Vaughn Hardesty and Janet Jackson, of Oakland.

This was the fourth year for the camp with Mr. Johns as manager. He said he is now modernizing the camp and doing some rebuilding, so that will be in excellent shape for the ensuing season.

Vacationer Has Heart Attack After Arriving

Harry Phelps Carr was stricken Saturday evening at the Will O' The Wisp motel with a heart attack and rushed to the Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland where he was pronounced dead by Dr. James H. Feaster, deputy state medical examiner. He and his wife had just arrived from Laurel, Md., during the day.

Born in Howard county July 29, 1909, he was aged 49 years. Surviving are his wife, Martha Baldwin Carr and four children, Elizabeth, Charles, Sarah and Mary Margaret. Also surviving are five sisters.

The body was taken to Laurel Sunday for funeral services and burial. Deceased was a post engineer at the Walter Reed hospital in Washington.

Corporal Sam Conrad of the Maryland State police, underwent a major operation in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland on Monday morning. He is now convalescing but will remain a patient in the hospital for ten days or more.

Gus Brickner became the first person to swim the length of Deep Creek Lake, having accomplished this feat last Friday.

The 46-year-old Charleroi, Pa., steelworker entered the water at Green Glade inlet at 7:20 a. m., and completed the distance to Deep Creek Lodge on the McHenry inlet in eight hours and ten minutes.

The distance has been variously estimated to be as much as sixteen miles, but this was being discounted this week by people who are acquainted with the technical construction of the lake.

F. R. Corliss, surveyor, said that Mr. Brickner probably swam about nine and one-half miles. He explained that the entire distance from Green Glade to the breast of the dam is eleven miles, and that when Brickner took the McHenry inlet instead of continuing to the breast of the dam he cut at least one and one-half miles from the total distance, since it is that much farther from the big bridge to the dam than it is to the end of the McHenry inlet.

However, this does not take away any of the glamor of the event. Others made attempts to swim the lake but no one had ever succeeded. Some 500 persons lined the shores of the McHenry inlet and a similar number were on hand to greet him when he stepped from the waters. He was greeted by Helmuth Heise, president of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, who presented him with a check for $150 from the council, for his feat.

Brickner was accompanied by his trainers, Roger Gillot and Metro Smereczniak who fed him every half hour. He was given lumps of sugar at intervals and a food preparation of cheese doused in honey, coffee or bananas.

Using the crawl, overhand stroke, Brickner maintained a steady pace through the entire course. At 11:45 a. m., he passed the Glendale bridge, about midway in the course. Shortly after 1 p. m. he started on the last lap past the Deep Creek bridge where he was greeted by hundreds. Crafts of all types came abreast of the swimmer to check his time and

Schools To Open For New Term Tuesday, Sept. 2

Enrollment Of 4,600 Students Expected This Year

The school bell will sound next Tuesday, September 2, for some 4,600 public school students in the county. Slight increases in enrollment are expected at both Southern and Northern High schools.

W. Kenneth Johns, principal, said Southern was expecting approximately 1,140 students. A study of last year's enrollment figures plus estimates for the coming year indicate that this will be a slight increase over last year. The opening day last year was 1,112.

Paul Muha, principal at Northern, said he was expecting at least 788 students there.

The balance of the students, some 2,600 of them, will enroll in the seventeen elementary schools.

At Southern High school Mr. Johns said all former students would report to the homerooms they had at the close of the spring term, at which time they will be assigned to their new homerooms. At 9:05 students will meet with their new homeroom teachers. Schedules and regulations will be outlined.

New students will report to the office. Incoming seventh graders from the various feeder schools will report to the cafeteria. Richard Travis and Carl Schoonover will be in the center lobby to answer questions any new students may have.

At ten o'clock all students will meet in the gymnasium for a special assembly. Wayne Callis, president of the Student council, will preside.

Senior high band students will bring their band instruments on opening day as the band will play a few numbers at the assembly.

Students will then follow the regular Tuesday schedule beginning with the third period. A full day of school will be observed, according to the principal.

Lunch will be served n the opening day. "Unlike some other counties which have raised the price of lunches to 30 cents per student, Southern High will continue to serve lunch for 25 cents."

A similar program will be carried out at Northern High school with an assembly program prior to going to regular classes for the day.

Teachers Named

The entire list of teachers for the 1958-59 term was released by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools. He said all positions were filled and that there had been only a slight turnover during the summer period.

Along The Potomac

With Your Congressman
DeWITT S. HYDE

We of the 6th District of Maryland are apparently faced with two major disappointments in the 85th Congress. The failure of the House Interior Committee to act on the C & O Canal National Historical Park bill was, in fact, a denial of the wishes of the majority of my people. It is regrettable that such an important public project should have become the pawn of special interest groups. At the time this is written I haven't given up all hope, but if no action is taken, rest assured that the billl will be reintroduced when Congress convenes next January.

This Congress, I think, also failed the people in its refusal to adopt adequate legislation controlling abuses revealed in certain labor organizations. No legislation was presented to the Members of Congress for action that in any real sense offered the rank-and-file of organized labor and the public protection from the abuse of power by some union officials.

The Kennedy-Ives bill, which at best was but a gesture toward solving some of the more flagrant abuses in the labor-management field, was originally rejected by the House Labor Committee by a 22-7 vote. It was presented to the House on a "take-it-or-leave-it" basis with no opportunity to amend the measure or properly debate it. I voted against this procedure.

I think, too, that it is unfortunate that the Congress did not enact suitable housing legislation, although the housing bill which was before the House was not of the best, I voted for it.

All of us in the 6th Maryland District are pleased at the action of Congress in providing for the ending of the 20% tax on dues and initiation fees for community swimming pools and making it retroactive to January 1, 1958.

Twenty Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Five were arrested for exceeding 50 miles per hour while two were arrested for traveling at lesser speeds.

Is Your Name COOPER?

Cooper, an old and honored surname, is of occupational origin. The equivalent of Couper and Cowper, it was bestowed in medieval times upon makers and sellers of casks, barrels or tubs. This is in line with the practice, often followed when surnames first came into vogue, of naming people in accordance with their place of residence, physical characteristics or occupation. In some instances the maker of casks, barrels or tubs was given the name of "le Cuper" or "le Cupper," but during the passage of years these names were almost invariably transformed to Cooper.

Thomas Cooper (1733-1799) served as captain of Virginia troops during the Revolutionary War. Another patriot was Reverend Samuel Cooper (1725-1783), a distinguished preacher and writer who served on important committees and contributed many political papers and writings to aid the cause of the Revolution. He was born and died in Boston. The first census of the United States, taken in 1790, has fifty three listings of persons by the name of Cooper who were residents of Maryland and heads of families at that time.

Numerous genealogies and historical records of the Cooper family have been published. One is entitled "History of the Cooper Family" and was compiled by J. P. Crayon of Rockaway, New Jersey and published in 1894.

James Fenimore Cooper (1789-1851) was a noted American novelist and author of "Last of the Mohicans" and other stories.

Peter Cooper (1791-1883) was an American philanthropist and founder of Cooper Union, New New City, an educational institution which provides free courses in the arts and sciences.

Philip Henry Cooper (1844-1912) was rear admiral, U. S. Navy.

Howard Earl Cooper is professor of accounting at Johns Hopkins University.

Ralph Copeland Cooper is major general, U. S. Army.

Richard Conrad Cooper is vice-president, U. S. Steel Corporation.

Another Masked Purpose

Out of the morass of an eight-month exchange of correspondence between President Eisenhower and two successive Russian premiers, a real objective of the Soviet axis begins to unfold. While placing major emphasis upon the call for a high-level conference, which patently could serve no useful purpose, the agents of international communism have used these letters as a wedge to advance the recognition of the People's Republic of China (Soviet China). The admission of Communist China to the United Nations, for example, would greatly strengthen the hand of Russia.

It seemingly unshakeable pall of lethargy, the free world moves willy-nilly toward acceptance of this band of cutthroats, murderers and blackmailers. Trade barriers with the Chinese mainland have been relaxed. Red Chinese aircraft move more daringly toward the Island of Formosa, the bastion of Nationalist China.

And, a reality little known, Soviet China is to be a beneficiary of the results of the International Geophysical Year.

To this international mishmash add the fact that the "Nine-Power Treaty," signed here in Washington, February 6, 1922, in which the parties, among them the U. S., pledged themselves to respect the territorial and administrative integrity of China, is still in force. For the reason that six of the signatory countries - the United Kingdom, The Netherlands, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and India - have already recognized Communist China, the Department of State characterizes this treaty as a "kind of dead letter." It was not enforced when Japan invaded China in the 1930's, and is obviously just another piece of meaningless paper to be conveniently ignored as circumstances dictate. Perhaps this development signaled the start of the diplomatic mediocrity and ineptitude which have marked the past quarter century.

The U. S. is nonetheless morally committed in the interests of its own national security to keep Formosa out of unfriendly hands —Communist hands. If the progress of communism is to be opposed successfully in Asia it must be done with Asian manpower. Thus far, only four Asian peoples have shown a willingness to contribute to such an endeavor - the Koreans, the Japanese, the Philippines, and the Chinese. With the Red Chinese on the other side, backed by the Soviet Union, the three other peoples combined would be outmatched.

And so again, to recognize Soviet China would be promote the causes of international communism on all fronts.

Review of the Play

DR. E. I. BAUMGARTNER

With the risk of employing certain rather hackneyed cliches, as well as the chance of becoming somewhat eloquently maudlin, it must be admitted the preparation of this review is being approached with mixed emotions. First, that of sadness since this is the last play of the season—but secondly, with the feeling of elation in that Producer Gene Yell has seen fit to do a play I've been suggesting for the past three seasons.

Get set for an evening of laughs—not just polite titters, but real honest to goodness belly laughs. "The Moon Is Blue" is a happy, gay comedy filled with engaging people which manage to make the best out of the two spheres of low comedy and high comedy. It is bound to please the three great groups which Russell Lynes describes, namely the low brow, the high brow, as well as that great group of middle brows. Perhaps Aunt Minnie may be shocked to teh extent of raising a quizzical eyebrow—but she will have the time of her life following the whimsical and tidy dialogue that the author provides.

"The Moon Is Blue" is by F. Hugh Herbert, an English writer, who has been most successful with his chronicles of the youth of his adopted America. Many will recall with nostalgia his weekly serial "Meet Corlis Archer" which was so popular on radio some years ago. This later was transformed into the very successful "Kiss and Tell."

This week's play is a most enjoyable comedy that is made quite effective by the marriage of innocence and sophistication — as well as by the mixture of wholesome, tender young love with slightly decadent, but definitely entertaining middle aged cynicism. The entertaining quality of delightful comedy is not dependent on the triumph of virtue and love, actually a foregone conclusion, but rather on its fireworks of dialogue in which the candor and odd reasoning on the subject of seduction are both droll and hilarious, to say the least.

One might, at the risk of being considered cute, coin a syllogism pertaining to the play. Major premise, virtue is laudable; minor premise, kindness is a virtue. Therefore kindness is laudable, at least the kindness afforded the author's lines by this week's cast is laudable. This is without question the best timed play of the year so far as dialogue, stage business, and performances are concerned. It shows evidence of hard rehearsal work by the four persons involved, as well as careful attention to detail by D. G. Buckles, the director.

The lead this week is entrusted to a newcomer, the delightful and ingenuous Miss Rebecca Valdez. This young lady gives a splendid portrayal to the part of Patty, the girl who is "preoccupied but not occupied by sex." The naivete she gives to her performance makes for a most delightful evening.

As her vis-a-vis, Donald, Bill Lang is the apothesis of a normal successful young professional man. This is unquestionably Bill's best week—even better than "Picnic".

The show this week is stolen by Neil Flannigan turning in a true professional job as the mildly inebriated, cynical, David, who in the end is found to have a heart of gold, though perhaps a bit tarnished. His interpretation is well studied and full of delightful nuances of stage business that indicate the finished actor.

Bill Pappas this week has a part that is little more than a walk on, however he manages to give it his usual excellent delineation.

You will enjoy this week's final production, one which I am sure will result in encomiums being heaped on the shoulders of the entire company by this week's audiences. It was a good choice but when over makes one a bit sad in that we shan't see these attractive, engaging and capable young people until next season. 'Till then—our best of everything—and thank you for some interesting evenings.

The weather was cloudy and drizzly with the water temperature at seventy degrees.

Brickner is known as the "Human Polar Bear," and has been in training all summer. Until he arrived at Deep Creek he had been working out in the Allegheny river near Pittsburgh every day. He has been swimming about six hours daily, does a half hour of calisthenics, walks for two hours and eats heartily. He is noted in the Pittsburgh area for his yearly dip on each New Year's Eve.

The man was unsuccessful in his efforts to conquer the English Channel on August 7, 1957. In that attempt his legs were paralyzed by cold salt water only five miles from the English coast. He said he might try again next summer.

Upon completion of his swim last Friday Brickner said, "I feel fine. I believe I could make another eight or ten miles." Showing no signs of fatigue the barrel-chested swimmer was greeted at the finish with cheers, a barrage of questions and numerous requests to pose for the cameras.

Before he set out on the swim Mr. Brickner had been greased by his trainers with nearly a gallon of lanolin. He said the main thing that bothered him along the way was the wind which continually blew water into his face. He said the short, choppy waves of the lake were actually worse than the large swells which he encountered in his English Channel swim.

Republican Women Meet

Members of the Budget, Membership and Program committees of the Garrett County Republican Women's club met at the home of Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, president, near Bittinger, Monday evening.

Lapsed memberships were discussed. Members who have not paid their 1958 dues were being urged to do so before September 1.

The group will send a birthday gift of two dollars to the National Federation of Republican Women for their 20th birthday party in Boston.

Announcement was made of the annual convention of the Maryland Federation, to be held in Baltimore, October 15, at which time Miss Bertha Adkins will be honored at a luncheon. A state-wide contest to find the person getting the most new members during the year is being held. Mrs. George Edwards, Grantsville, is having her name submitted, being responsible for 27 new members.

Mrs. Glotfelty said the group would have two more meetings this year, one in Oakland in October, and one in Friendsville a little later, at which time new officers would be elected. She said she planned to write a letter of congratulation to Miss Bertha Adkins for her appointment recently by President Eisenhower.

Return From Workshop

Edward Sanders and Susie Porter, members of the Student Council at Southern High school, have returned to Oakland after attending a workshop at Deal, Md.

Sanders was named representative to the western region and may return next year as a counselor at a workshop to be held in August, 1959. Sanders is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Sanders and is a senior this year. Miss Porter is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Porter and also is a senior this year.

The conference was open to all student council officers and representatives with its purpose being to help young people to become better leaders in their respective schools. The workshop was sponsored by the Maryland Association of Secondary School Principals. Miss Ann Dilgard is adviser to the council.

Modern Art In The Arab World

Painting in the Arab World is undergoing a revival and is changing radically in style as well as in content. Modern Arab painters are capturing the spirit of the age, absorbing and reflecting the renaissance of the peoples of the area.

Arab painters for some time have been experimenting with different styles elaborated by the various modern art schools all over the world. Gradually they have moved in a well-defined direction and the art which has emerged is their own: an Arab art that is original, yet has its roots deep in the cultural and spiritual heritage of the Arabs. It is truly national, yet of international appeal.

One of the leaders of this new Arab school is Ezziddin Hammouda, an Egyptian who has contributed a great deal to neo-Arab art. With the rest of his contemporaries, Hammouda passed through the mill until he crystallized his own style which echoes the Arab mind and soul with its hopes, aspirations, problems and love of the translucent. Hammouda's paintings are, however, inimitably personal. Few have been able to surpass his sensitive lines, his stained-glass transparent colors. He has been described as a coloristic poet. The painting above illustrates, even in black and white, his sensitive touch and graceful line.

Senate Cloakroom

By J. GLENN BEALL
United States Senator from Maryland

Congress Goes Into Homestretch—"A few more days— and then recess." That's the theme on Capitol Hill, as the 85th Congress heads into its final deliberations. That is the situation as I write this. As usual, quite a few bills are being brought up for last-minute consideration while others are being shelved for lack of time. The latter can, of course, be re-introduced when the 86th Congress "opens up shop" in January. The Senate is holding late sessions, meeting early in the day and continuing on into the evening.

Hospitals To Get Government Loans—Legislation has become law which authorizes Federal loans for construction of hospitals. The bill was passed principally for the benefit of religious organizations which object in principle to receiving grants of public funds. It provides for loans under the same general conditions which apply to grants in the Federal program for the construction of hospitals. The loans are repayable in 40 years.

Small Business To Get Capital More Easily—Legislation to improve the availability of loan money for small businessmen has been passed. It will enable formation of private small business investment companies to help supply long-term capital to small businesses. In addition, it would authorize SBA loans to State and local development companies as well as Federal grants for studies, research, and counseling relating to management, financing and operating problems of small businessmen.

Our Senior Citizens— Secure and happy older citizens are a dynamic national asset. Our system of old age insurance benefits, financed jointly by the people themselves, when working, their employers and the Federal government, has paid off handsomely in self-respect and productivity of our people. I am continuing my efforts to expand social security benefit coverage and increase the amount of the benefits to the individuals. An increase should get through this session of Congress; it is long overdue.

An Atomic Bomb With A Soft Pedal—The Atomic Energy Commission laboratory at Germantown, Maryland, is developing, at the request of the Pentagon, a small A-bomb with a new mission. It would have limited blast and heat but lots of short-lived poisonous radiation. Why? A limited explosion of this type could make a target area uninhabitable by an enemy without destroying needed buildings and facilities.

Indian Head Has A New Name—It used to be the Naval Powder Factory, but is now the U. S. Naval Propellant Plant. The Indian Head plant is manufacturing the large propellant grains used in rockets and guided missiles, and is also engaged in research work in connection with rockets, guided missiles, and other types of weapons. The new name "Propellant Plant" more accurately reflects the importance of Indian Head in new weapons programs, Chief of Ordnance Stroop tells us.

A Streamlined Defense Program—The new Defense appropriation legislation reflects a streamlining of activities. Funds were provided for many things in this legislation. Here are a few of the interesting highlights:

Military Personnel: An Army of 900,000 men; the Army Reserve, 300,000; the Army National Guard, 400,000; the Marine Corps, 200,000; the Navy 630,000; and Air force, 850,000.

Polaris Submarines: 6, with missiles and equipment.

Regulus-Firing Nuclear Submarines: 3 of these missile-launching underwater ships.

Airlift: An unspecified number of troop-carrier aircraft, to beef up our strategic airlift capability.

Jet Tankers: 15 KC-135 jet refueling tankers, plus ground support equipment.

Amphibious Ships: 2, for the Marines.

Anti-Submarines Warfare: Modernization of the Navy's anti-submarine warfare vessels.

Destroyer Escorts: Completion of 2 such ships already started.

ICBM Program: Speed-up of the "Minuteman" solid propellant intercontinental ballistic missile program.

Hound Dog Missiles: Enlargement of the Hound Dog missile program. (The Hound Dog is used by the B-52's.)

Emergency Fund: $150,000,000 from other accounts was approved for the Secretary of Defense to use for exploiting breakthroughs in new weapons research and production.

President's Positive Position On Middle East—At his news conference, the President said: "Troops are never going to win the peace. We have got to do something positive, and this must be in the field of moral and spiritual and economic and political strengthening of all these areas."

In responding to questions posed by newsmen, the Chief Executive made these points:

1. The United States still would be ready to attend a summit meeting with the Soviet Premier and other heads of government, provided that preparatory talks could establish the prospect of a constructive meeting.

2. He believes the Soviet Union's charges of aggression by the U. S. (in the case of Lebanon) could more properly be brought against the USSR itself for its own actions in Eastern Europe, North Korea, and North Vietnam.

3. He believes in nationalism, and so does his administration. If the Arabs wish to express their nationalism in the form of a federation, the U. S. has no objection. He pointed out that the United States quickly recognized the United Arab Republic, a federation of Egypt and Syria.

Quiz Program Winner Learns About Taxes—The following editorial appeared in the Cambridge, Maryland, Banner:

"If Elfrida Von Nardoff, record quiz show winner of $220,500, thought she was going to have a big bank account from her once-in-a-lifetime accomplishment, she had a sad awakening. After the tax collector skimmed the cream from her earnings, she had left about 50,000 forty-eight cent dollars. That's the price of big wars, big centralized government and piecemeal acceptance of the socialistic philosophy which saddles us with the "welfare state".

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

Bureaucracy at Its Worst

The economy of the State of Maryland is sustained by a variety of industries, among them shipbuilding and ship repairing. Bethlehem-Sparrows Point Shipyards and Maryland Shipbuilding and Drydock Company are in line to receive significant shipbuilding and conversion contracts from the Maritime Administration, and the resulting impetus to the economy of the Port of Baltimore will have a beneficial effect throughout the State. However, from a long-range standpoint, these facilities and others depend, in part, upon awards from the Navy Department for conversion, alteration and repairs to naval vessels.

But, contrary to the national policy of fostering free enterprise, the Government has closed its eyes to the burgeoning employment, payroll padding, inefficient operations, faulty accounting and excessive costs in the various Naval shipyards. Unquestionably, the national security dictates that the Navy must conserve a nucleus of skilled employees and maintain suitable facilities for expansion in times of emergency. However, total employment in all of the Naval shipyards today is nearly twice that of private yards. The Norfolk Navy Yard, for example, is characterized by the Navy as an "industrial giant," covering 811 acres and capable of drydocking and rendering complete service to the world's largest ships.

Yet, extensive search of material in the Library of Congress, government documents, periodicals and other literature, including the files of the Department of the Navy, has failed to show any evidence that there has ever been rendered a unified and systematic account of Naval shipyards with respect to their general activities in maintenance and repair. Congressional reports on appropriations sometimes include brief comments on the needs and problems of the Bureau of Ships, which administers the Naval shipyards, but do not illuminate the repair functions of these yards.

In an effort to lift this zealously and jealously guarded veil of secrecy, and thereby reduce to minimal proportions government competition with private industry in this field, I introduced legislation on March 10th which would carry out recommendations of the Hoover Commission. It should be emphasized that the proposal is not intended to eliminate essential government ship repair facilities. Four months later, on July 8th, the Department of the Navy submitted a self-serving report, too late for the Senate Committee on Armed Services to take any action during the present session of the Congress. This deliberate procrastination typifies one of the devices by which Federal agencies can frustrate, and frequently sabotage desirable and important legislation.

Along The Potomac

With Your Congressman DeWITT S. HYDE

I voted for the National Defense Education bill, although in the past I have opposed general Federal aid to education on the grounds that the States were able to do the job, and because of the danger of having our schools dominated by the Federal Treasury.

The measure as it passed the House provided for (1) loans for needy students, (2) fellowships to train college teachers, (3) grants to States for science teaching equipment and laboratory improvement, (4) grants for testing and guidance programs, and (5) grants for foreign language teaching. For the most part these are proper areas for Federal assistance.

This legislation is important not only for what it does, but also, in its drawing attention to the fact that it is necessary because of the lack of action by State governments, and the failure of private enterprise to assume its responsibilities in the field of education. My plea is for an awakening to the necessity for local and private initiative to assume responsibility for needed improvements in our educational system.

My bill to make confidential the relationship between a clergyman and parishioner in the courts of the District of Columbia has passed the House. At present only physicians are specifically exempt from testifying in regard to information obtained in the professional relations with patients.

The President has signed the bill which extends Federal aid for schools in federally imparted areas, and my bill providing for the acquisition of additional stream valley parklands for Maryland has gone to the White House.

The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation incorporating provisions of my bill to permit donations of surplus property to volunteer fire-fighting organizations.

Congress has sent to the President a bill incorporating provisions of one introduced by me to modernize the fish and game laws of the District of Columbia.

Things Are Looking Up For The Farmers—Secretary of Agriculture Benson reminds us of how much better off the farmer is now than he was when this Administration took over. He lists some of the accomplishments in agriculture, and they are indeed remarkable. Among the numerous highlights are such items as these:

Surplus commodities which cost 14 billion dollars have been moved out of storage and into use. Overall production and consumption of most farm products are now more nearly in balance than at any time since the height of the Korean War.

Farm exports grew from 2.8 billion dollars in 1953 to an all-time high of 4.7 billion dollars in fiscal year 1957.

The Special Milk Program was inaugurated in 1954. The program was operated last year in 75,000 schools, where nearly 2 billion half pints of milk were distributed.

The School Lunch Program absorbs large quantities of surplus foods. Last year's total purchases amounted to 475 million dollars.

The Rural Development Program is raising living standards of those on the lowest rung of the economic ladder through the cooperation of the Federal government and local authorities.

The Agricultural Marketing Service was established in the Department's reorganization of 1953 to give greater emphasis to problems of marketing and the distribution of farm commodities.

The bipartisan National Agricultural Advisory Commission was established in 1953. The Department works with it in reviewing national agricultural policies and in developing and administering farm programs.

A milestone was reached by the Forest Service in 1957 when one billion trees were planted.

"Operation Outdoors" was set up to expand family recreational facilities in the National forests.

Farm ownership is at a record high, and there is a smaller proportion of tenants than every before.

The standard of living on farms is the highest in history, measured in terms of electrical appliances, automobiles and other conveniences owned by farm families.

Income from dairying was the highest on record last year.

Gross farm income in the first half of 1958 was the highest on record, 13.8 billion dollars.

Maryland Tobacco and Swiss Watches—At the Prince George's County Fair and Showcase, September 25, 26 and 27, Maryland tobacco growers and Swiss watch manufacturers will present a combined display of considerable importance. Why such a combination? The answer is found in these facts: (a) Swiss cigarette manufacturers use Maryland tobacco exclusively (for the simple reason that Swiss people prefer the taste of Maryland tobacco); (b) the Swiss can buy our Maryland tobacco because Americans buy their Swiss watches.

Reciprocal trade!

The Swiss watch industry people will tranfer to the county fair at Upper Marlboro, Maryland, the fine exhibit which they have had at the World Trade Fair in New York City. The Maryland tobacco people will have a suitable companion exhibit.

The Acting Ambassador of Switzerland and a high official in the Swiss watch industry have agreed to take part in the fair's opening ceremonies. The Acting Ambassador, Dr. Thalmann, came to my office Wednesday to accept the invitation which I had extended on behalf of the fair's Directors and Board of Managers.

Reciprocal Trade Program Continued— President Eisenhower sealed one of his biggest legislative triumphs of the Congressional session on Wednesday when he signed into law a bill to extend the reciprocal trade program another four years. Commending Congress for its approval of the unprecedented extension—one year short of the five years he had requested—the President hailed the measure as a "firm forward step on the road to a stronger America in a world of peace."

Social Security Benefits and Taxes Increased—The Social Security bill, providing increases in benefits and increases in taxes to pay those benefits, finally passed the two Houses of Congress in the form recommended by both the committees which had made careful, analytical studies of the whole social security structure. Taxes withheld from pay envelopes and pay checks to cover the cost of social security were raised from two and a quarter percent to two and a half percent and benefit payments were raised seven percent. The increase in taxes will provide sufficient funds for the 7% increase in benefit payments, and such increase was justified by the committee reports.

To those dreamers who do not understand Government financing, it may come as a rude shock to be reminded that every penny that is paid out by the Government must come from somewhere—to be exact, from the pocket of the taxpayers, and that's everyone.

In the reports, there are a lot of technical terms—such as, for instance, "the balancing of an insufficiency of 42/100 of 1%." But is is enough for you and me to know, simply, that the specified increase in the pay roll taxes was the amount required to cover the specified increase in benefits.

An amendment which would have made the increase in benefit payments 10% instead of 7%, introduced during consideration in the Senate of the House-passed and committee-recommended bill, was voted down. The majority felt that the whole financial structure of our Social Security system would be threatened by any whimsical increase without proper study in committee of the end that there remain a balance between Social Security payments and Social Security taxes.

Maryland Projects Continue Apace—Colonel Johnson of the Corps of Engineers tells us that the Corp's present construction pace will continue on Maryland projects in those areas in which it is presently engaged in flood control, navigation, and harbor improvement programs and on its construction projects at the various military installations and centers in Maryland. These include projects at Cambridge, Tolchester, Fork, Jacksonville, Green Spring, Granite, Aberdeen, Edgewood, Fort Holabird, Davidsonville, Jacobsville, Fort Meade and Hagerstown. Federal funds totaling $27,940,000 are being spent on current construction work in Maryland by the Corps of Engineers.

Listen Americans!

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College

One of my long time friends is a building contractor specializing in the construction of school buildings and small industrial plants. Recently on a construction job in an Arkansas city the handling of some steel beams required the use of a piece of hoisting equipment. The equipment was a one-man hoisting machine. The union rules in force in this city required the employer using such a piece of equipment to hire five men although four of them were not needed on the job and would draw high wages for doing virtually nothing.

This is known as union "featherbedding." It is a practice forced upon employers and the public by some major and strategic labor organizations. The public has to pay for it with higher prices for whatever commodity or service is involved, since labor costs are a large part of production costs in every article and service. Featherbedding and other such restrictive labor practices are to a degree strangling the great productive power of this nation. They are soaking up the benefits of America's advancing technology, penalizing every citizen.

A number of labor organizations have recognized the unfairness and long range danger of featherbedding and have refused to adopt the practice of forcing employers to pay for work not needed and in many cases not done. A group of citizens in Arkansas have formed an organization to place before the state's voters next November a state constitutional amendment outlawing the practice of featherbedding. It is a wholesome amendment which will produce benefits for everyone, including particularly the wage earners.

Featherbedding practices are at their worst in four major areas of employment—on the railroads, in the entertainment world, and in the printing and construction business. Railroads are forced to spend many millions of dollars for crewmen who have no genuine function at all to perform. For instance, locomotive firemen of the old type are not needed on a modern diesel locomotive. Originally no seat was provided on the left side of the cab—since there is nothing for a "fireman" sitting there to do. But seats have to be provided and "firemen" employed to sit in the cab (at wages as high as $4.85 an hour) doing nothing.

Some of the practices in the printing business are ridiculous. Because some typographers' unions enforce the practice through union rules and threats of strikes, many newspapers in the U. S. are required to set (and then throw away!) "bogus" type for advertisements which are actually printed from matrices which improve the efficiency of the printing process. The advertisers, their customers, and the newspaper subscribers pay the bill for this "bogus" work.

Some carpenters' unions force contractors to hire their members to actually take apart units of pre-fabricated houses and put them back together again before they will assemble them. There are many examples of featherbedding in the entertainment world. When the character actor Charles Laughton picked up a trombone and pretended to play it in a five-second sequence of the play Major Barbara, the actual trombone sound came from a recording. But the producers of the play had to pay $628.51 a week for four "standby" musicians who sat for an hour or so in the wings of the stage but played not one note.

Perhaps the Arkansas law, if enacted, will become a pattern for the nation. It is my feeling that most workers—as well as the citizenry—will welcome the abandoning of featherbedding.

Forest Crews Begin Battle on Oak Wilt

Eradication of a number of acres of woodland infected with oak wilt began last Friday in the three Western Maryland counties, William A. Johnson, district forester, announced.

A Department of Forests and Parks crew is making a ground check of 25 suspected infestations located during July by aerial reconnaissance.

The section checked this year covered from Savage mountain in this county, across Allegany county to Bear Pond mountain in Washington county. The airplane spotting was done in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Forests. Some of the areas found to be infected will be set up into study plots by the U. S. Forestry Service officials from the northeastern region experiment station at Upper Darby, Pa.

Johnson said these six or eight areas will be used to study the spread of the disease that has crept into this section from the southwest.

The forestry technicians will also check to determine if Maryland's control measures are excessive or adequate. In this state infected trees are killed, along with others within a radius of 50 feet. In West Virginia only the infected tree is killed and treated.

Oak wilt is transmitted by airborne spores. It was not known in the tri-state area until about ten years ago, having gradually worked its way from the southwest.

FFBL Participants Purchase New Farm During Past Year

The William F. DeWitt family, Garrett county Farming For Better Living contest participants of the Sand Flat area, have been able to purchase a 290 acre farm near Deer Park during the past year. They still operate their 83 acre dairy farm on which they now live, but they expect to improve the new farm and move to it during the next year or two. They have benefited from the suggestions given in the Farming For Better Living booklet, they say, and from the guidance of the Extension Service agents and other agricultural workers in the county. Local bank credit and the supervised financial assistance made possible through the help of the Farmers Home Administration supervisors is making it possible for the DeWitts to expand their operation.

DeWitt, a local cow buyer, has brought more than 400 dairy cows into Garrett county, he told the FFBL reporter recently. He milks a herd of 15 Holsteins and raises many of his herd replacements. He uses a purebred Holstein bull. DeWitt took first placing with one of his Holstein cows in the Garrett county fair and the Cumberland and Allegany county fairs in 1957. The cow produced around 17,000 pounds of milk and almost 700 pounds of butterfat in a DHIA test during the past year.

The DeWitt family consisting of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt, Debbie, age 7; Donald, 4; and Rickie, 1, are shown in the accompanying pictures in front of their house.

Grantsville Takes 2nd Spot In League

Hyndman Merchants won the Pen-Mar Baseball league pennant for the second straight year by defeating Zihlman Sunday in the final game of the regular season 10 to 2. They finished one game in front of the Grantsville Sluggers who wound up the campaign with a 10-1 decision over Mt. Savage at Grantsville.

Grantsville won the pennant in 1954.

At Grantsville Sunday Bobby Dawson tossed a 5-hitter and whiffed eight to record his eighth win of the season. Grantsville clubbed three Mt. Savage hurlers for 10 blows. John Keister hit a grand slam homer and two-bagger. Perry who hit his 13th homer on Saturday racked up a triple and single. Joe Wengerd hit a pair of singles. Robert Keister, Don Wergerd and Llewellyn hit doubles.

In Saturday's game Grantsville defeated Flintstone 19-1 behind the five-hit twirling of Earl Gracie. After three successive singles in the seventh inning, Gracie walked Billy Hook, his mound opponent who had struck out three times previously to force in the run. Gracie struck out seven, walked five. Keister hit a triple and single and also collected two hits. Rappit Keister rapped out two triples and batted in four runs. Tucker Cain hit safely twice, both doubles; Llewellyn singled and doubled to pace Grantsville's 15-hit attack.

The four top teams in the league will have a play-off series. Hyndman, Grantsville and Barrelville are the three top teams, while fourth place will be decided between Zihlman and Salisbury. Their final game was rained out Sunday and had to be rescheduled.

Faraway Places...

I've never seen the Taj Mahal. Nor have I looked up at the Leaning Tower of Pisa, or out across the broad Sahara to the Pyramids and the Sphinx.

Most of my life, as a matter of fact, has been spent right here in my own town. Not because I don't want to travel. To visit these faraway places is one of my big desires—and, one day, I hope to do it.

But I know, deep in my heart, that even if I never leave my home town I'll have more to do than I can hope to accomplish. Because God is just as much here as he is anywhere. Our minister used that thought in his sermon last Sunday, and he told us how much there is for all of us to do in our own particular place—and how much remains undone!

If we'd bring just one other person to church with us on Sunday, we'd really be doing something, he told us. And, as I thought it over, I knew how true that was.

That's why I'm asking you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Proverbs 23:29-35; Daniel 1:1-20; Habakkuk 2:9-16; Romans 13:11—14:23.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 5:11-23.

Is It Fair?

Lesson for August 31, 1958

EVEN the people who talk most about social justice are often silent about one thing which readers of the Bible will find plainly there: the drink problem. It should be remembered that whiskey was invented long after Bible times. All the warnings about strong drink, in the Bible, are about wine and the equivalent of beer, the "lighter" liquors. The passage from Proverbs gives a vivid picture of personal trouble caused by such liquors. Daniel gives the story of the first total-abstinence society on record, an outstanding success on a health basis. Habakkuk the prophet lines up "giving his neighbor drink" right along with stealing and murder. Paul puts the whole thing in a new light: the truth of Christian brotherhood.

Dr. Foreman

Ask A Modern-Day Question: Is It Fair?

All of which raises the same question, in various ways. Isn't the use of liquor, as it is done in the United States in this 20th century, a very obvious example of social injustice? Social justice, we may remember, is just carrying into all relationships the spirit and principle of the Golden Rule. It is being fair to all concerned.

But is it fair to give a lame person a shove? Is it fair to put a stumbling block in front of the blind? Alcoholics are called "sick" and alcoholism a disease. But it is a fact that it ranks fourth in all the diseases of our nation. Alcoholism would never get a start without the background of social drinking. No drug used by "addicts" gets nearly as many people into trouble as does alcohol. Is it fair to the weak as much of a push downhill as American society does?

Policeman's Friday Night Offers Insight Into Problem

A young minister spent his Friday nights, one summer, riding around with policemen in squad cars. With very few exceptions, the calls for help were due to drink. Family quarrels, thefts (to get money for liquor), beatings, rapes, and murders: all starting from a few friendly drinks. This young man came to the conclusion that the money put into that city's treasury by liquor licenses was more than matched by the money taken out of treasury and private funds to pay for the damage the liquor creates. It is true, that city claims to be the "whiskey capital of America;" but the reader is invited to look around in his own town and figure the cost to the taxpayers of troubles caused by alcohol. Is it fair?

Movie Make-Believe Paints Problem in Wrong Color

Movies sometimes do the same kind of harm. Some years ago there was a popular series of movies featuring a husband and wife who were married both on the screen and off. In all their pictures they were a gay, happy couple. He drank "like a fish" and she drank with him and it never seemed to affect either of them. (How could it? Stage liquor is like stage money—a weak imitation of the real thing.) Not long after that, the papers reported that this actress had divorced her charming Prince Barleycorn. And for what? Doing in real life what he was paid to pretend doing in pictures: drink when he felt like it. Reel life and real life were vastly different.

Congressional Viewpoint

Sen. John Marshall Butler

A Challenge Unanswered

Not so many years ago the sugar trust, the oil trust and the tobacco trust, until they were destroyed by the Congress, were prominent in the news. Today the labor trust, with seemingly infinite power and expanding monopolistic practices, occupies the headlines. The difference, however, is that in the latter instance the Congress has not responded to the true sentiments and yearning of the American people in regard to effective measures to restrain this frequently unsavory, though constantly unbridled force. The inertia of the Congress in this respect defies rational explanation.

Marriner S. Eccles, former Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, in early 1958, phrased the problem in these words: "On the domestic front, a serious peacetime inflation has taken place, largely because the monopolistic powers of the labor organizations have been allowed to go unchallenged by the Government. These organizations, which have grown immensely in size and power, have never been subject to the anti-monopoly laws of Government to which business has always been accountable." Some will argue that the Kennedy-Ives bill was the first step toward the correction of this evil, while in truth it has now been exposed as a legislative hoax.

Moreover, the demeanor of some labor bosses becomes more brazen. James Hoffa of the Teamsters Union, an admitted confidante of criminals, seeks to amalgamate major segments of transportation workers in a massive national union. At the call of undistinguished labor leaders like Hoffa, and communist-tainted Harry Bridges, such a combination could strangle the economy of the entire nation. And still, Walter Reuther of the UAW-CIO, from every platform, preaches his special brand of socialism and national economic planning which is just as dangerous.

In addition to the need for equal treatment before the law for all organized groups in our economy, labor as well as business, it is my considered opinion that a bedrock of the American system has been overlooked. Simply stated, it is this. The individual personality of the workingman must never be destroyed by the battle for power engaged in by management groups or labor organizations. The inroads of labor or management into the domain belonging as of right to the other submerges the right of the individual which should be the Government's first concern, and if not policed for the public good, freedom as we understand it will disappear.

With this challenge restated, I close by 1958 series of newsletters and dare to express the hope that the Congress will answer it wisely and effectively in 1959.

He served as a bound boy in a German family near Philadelphia where he later married one of the daughters of this Germn family.

Children's Bible Story

BY S. A. KAPLAN

JACOB DELIVERED THRU PRAYER

(This story is based on Genesis 32 and 33)

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS! Have you ever noticed how your pet dog sneaks into the house after he has done something naughty? You would almost think he had a conscience. His tail is drawn between his legs, his ears droop, and even the expression on his face seems to change.

Well, you can just imagine how Jacob must have felt on his return home at the thought of meeting his twin brother Esau, whom he had so shamefully wronged twenty years before. He knew that all that Esau wanted was to get his father's wealth, and so Jacob sent messengers before him to tell Esau: "I have oxen and asses, flocks, and menservants, and womenservants." In other words, he was trying to tell him, "I don't need anything. You can have it all."

"And the messengers returned to Jacob saying, We came to thy brother Esau, and he cometh to meet thee, and four hundred men with him. Then Jacob was greatly afraid..and he divided the people.. into two bands. And said, if Esau come to the one company, and smite it, then the other company....shall escape." Then he prayed to God for help. Was there anything else he could do? The Bible says that he said, "I will appease him (Esau) with the present that goeth before me." Yes, he sent his servants with hundreds of goats, and also camels, and bulls, and donkeys, drove by drove as a gift to Esau. Then he went by himself alone and prayed to God all night long.

Do you know what happened to Jacob as he prayed that night? The Bible says, "there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of the day." And who do you suppose that "man" was? Jacob soon discovered that it was none other than the Lord Himself! Then he prayed, "I will not let thee go except Thou bless me." And the Lord gave him his request, and also changed his name from Jacob, which means a deceiver, to Israel, which means a prince of God. Besides, God softened Esau's heart, so that when Esau saw Jacob he "ran to meet him, and embraced him, and fell on his neck and kissed him: and they wept."

Then Jacob had his entire family, company by company, curtsey seven times before Esau. After that he insisted that Esau accept his gifts. Said he: "God hath dealt graciously with me..and I have enough. And he (Jacob) urged him, and he (Esau) took it", and they parted.

This story of God's love should encourage every one of us to bring our problems to Him, Who in answer to sincere, persevering prayer will change, wonderfully change the most hopeless, discouraging outlook. We need fear nothing and no one, for God is all powerful, and there is nothing too hard for Him. So bring your problems to the Lord, boys and girls, as did Jacob and you too will find that "the Lord is good," and that blessed is he that trusteth in Him. (Number 20)

Half-Done Job . . . .

We were interested in an article in the September 8 issue of "American Observer," a magazine used in high school classes in Problems of Democracy, and thought our readers would be, too. This one, "The Age of the Half-Done Job," by Clay Coss, was cited in an assembly on the opening day of school at Northern High by Ralph Beachley, vice-principal. It said:

"This country is experiencing the age of the half-done job. The land from coast to coast has been enjoying a stampede away from responsibility.

"It is populated with laundrymen who won't iron shirts; with waiters who won't serve; with carpenters who will come around someday, maybe; with executives whose minds are on the golf course; with students who take cinch courses because hard ones make them think. And the salesman who won't sell is only part of this over-all mess.

"Increasing numbers of articles, editorials, books and speakers are warning the American people that they are becoming too soft and lazy. It is pointed out that when powerful nations of the past have reached this stage they have inevitably declined and fallen.

"This nation of ours couldn't have achieved its present high standard of living without a hard-working population—without millions of people who were determined to develop their skills and inventiveness to the utmost. Of course, many people still feel this same way and are making a worthy vocational contribution. We cannot let down too much without having harmful effects on us as individuals and on our nation as a whole.

"If we are to continue enjoying the security of knowing that good doctors will take care of us when we are ill; that competent pilots will fly our planes; that someone qualified will always be on hand to serve our urgent needs—then stand-

Will Be Installed As Grand Chief of Pythian Sisters

Mrs. Vera Mussard, of Oakland, who at present is the grand senior of the Pythian Sisters of Maryland, will be installed as Grand Chief at the 51st annual Grand Temple convention to be held in Frederick, September 11 to 13. The installation ceremony will take place on Saturday evening, September 13.

Mrs. Mussard joined Garrett Temple No. 17 in Oakland in 1942 and since that time has been active in the organization. Two years ago she helped to institute a council of Sunshine Girls in Oakland, known as Garret Sunshine Council No. 3. On August 27 she helped with the institution of a new Pythian Temple, Charity Temple No. 35, at Westminster.

She is also a past chief of her temple and served as pianist.

Her installing officer Saturday evening will be Mrs. Nellie Miller, junior supreme representative, of Morning Star temple No. 1, of Lonaconing. She will be assisted by Mrs. Genevieve Wagner, past supreme representative from Manhattan Temple No. 8, of Cumberland; and Mrs. Floe Schaeffer, past grand chief, from Oakland Temple. During her installation the degree staff from Oakland and several other members from the temple will present a drill in her honor.

Mrs. Mussard is the third member from this Temple to become a Grand Chief, the others being Mrs. Floe Schaeffer and Mrs. Ernest Townshend.

Attending the full three-day session from Oakland will be Mrs. Mussard, Mrs. Mary Browning, grand press correspondent; Mrs. Ann Meisenbach, representative; Mrs. Floe Schaeffer, Mrs. Margaret Graham, Mrs. Elizabeth Turney and Miss Ellen Turney.

J. Millard Tawes will deliver the principal address at the banquet during the convention.

Headquarters For Democrats To Open

Offices on the second floor of the Garrett National Bank have been selected as campaign headquarters for the county Democratic party.

The newly decorated suite will be furnished by Kelly's Appliance and Furniture store of Loch Lynn. Mrs. Joseph M. Gonder will serve as receptionist. She plans to have it open to the public Friday in time to greet state and county candidates when they visit in Oakland at 2:30.

The public reception at the William-James hotel at 8:30 will be preceded by a dinner at Kitzmiller.

Three County Towns Consider Possibility Of Health Clinic

The Mayors and Town Councils of three towns, Accident, Friendsville and Grantsville, met in the fire hall at Accident last Wednesday evening, August 27 to discuss the possible erection of a health clinic that would serve these three communities.

Dr. Ruth Peachy, representing the Meyersdale Community Hospital staff, briefly outlined a plan for a building costing $25,000 which would be equipped and provide sufficient space for two medical doctors, a pharmacist and a dentist.

Individual members attending the meeting pledged their support and voiced their enthusiasm for such a project.

To expedite and facilitate such a proposal, the Rev. H. H. Droutz, from Cove, has made application to the Sears Roebuck Foundation, an organization which renders such assistance to rural communities. Ralph Beachley, of Friendsville, vice-principal of Northern High school, had made contact with this foundation previously and is now in the process of making an investigation in the Friendsville area.

Those present included Mayor Ernest Glass, Accident, and council members, John Brenneman, Benj. Callis, Sherman Frazee and Wilmer Margroff; Mayor Kaho, Rush of Friendsville, and council members Edgar Bartholomew, Ralph Beachley, J. L. Ross and Edgar Sines; Mayor Lee Beachy of Grantsville and council members Harry Hoover and Clinton McKenzie.

Bloodmobile To Visit Oakland Sept. 10th

The American Red Cross will endeavor to obtain 135 pints of blood at the next visit of the Johnstown Bloodmobile unit to Oakland next Wednesday, September 10.

The unit will be set up at the Oakland Fire hall and will be in operation from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m.

Mrs. Grover C. Stemple, blood recruitment chairman for the county, said the need for blood was urgent. At the last visit of the unit to Oakland on June 2nd, the workers received 98 pints. Mrs. Stemple pointed out that the local hospital used 33 pints in June and 55 in July. She had not yet received the August report.

The bloodmobile was 33 pints short on its visit to Accident several weeks ago and Mrs. Stemple said they would try to make up the shortage here next Wednesday.

This will be the last visit of the bloodmobile to Oakland until in February, although another visit is scheduled for Grantsville in November.

Mrs. Stemple was hopeful that people of the community would make an extra effort to complete the quota. She said the amount available for use was in proportion to the amount furnished by the community and that already the amount needed had exceeded the supply.

Sue Hershberger New Farm Queen

Sue Hershberger, 16-year-old brown-haired, brown-eyed Grantsville girl, was chosen State Farm Queen Saturday night at the state fair at Timonium.

"I never believed it could happen to me," said the surprised Sue who gets A's and B's in her high school classes.

A senior at Northern High school this fall, Sue wants to be a doctor. The new farm queen will get a big start toward that goal with first prize of a four-year scholarship at the University of Maryland and possible other aid.

The Western Maryland beauty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hershberger, who live on a 200-acre farm at Grantsville, was crowned in ceremonies at the grandstand at Timonium on Sunday afternoon.

Sue is active in church work. She is an assistant organist, plays piano in Sunday school, sings in the choir and belongs to the Youth Fellowship in the United Church of Christ. She also has a flower garden hobby at home.

She has a sister, 10, and a brother, 2. The entire family and Mrs. Orval Glotfelty were present for the crowning. Mrs. Glotfelty is president of the Associated Women of the Garrett County Farm Bureau which sponsored the farm queen contest in this county during the Garrett County Fair.

Sue has been state historian of the Future Nurses of Maryland in school. She said she first wanted to be a nurse and this summer the lady doctor in her town helped her to get a job at the Meyersdale community hospital where she was allowed to watch operations. That changed her mind about becoming a doctor. "I've always had an interest in people and always wanted to help people, I don't know why," she declared.

The judges awarded second place to Carol Ann Devaux, of Cecilton, Cecil county; third to Jane Marie Thompson, Parkton, Baltimore county and fourth place tie to Beverly M. Ropp, Middletown, Frederick county and Marie Pilkerton, Compton, St. Mary's county.

Following the crowning event there was a parade of 4-H club floats and an imaginative show ranging from four couples square dancing to a model belching smoke. The floats all featured aspects of 4-H club work and ambitions; leadership, good citizenship or skills on the farm.

The Chamber of Commerce of Grantsville is having a special celebration for Miss Hershberger at Grantsville, on Saturday evening at 6:30.

4,696 Enroll In Public Schools On Opening Day

Number Is A Gain Of 100 Over Previous Year

Garrett county's seventeen elementary schools and two high schools opened Tuesday morning with an enrollment of 4,696 students, a gain of 100 over the first day enrollment of a year ago, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Most of the increases were noted in the Oakland area and at the new route 40 and Yoder schools, he said. Slight decreases were recorded at Kitzmiller and Friendsville.

He said the total enrollment is expected to reach 4,750 by the end of next week when all children of school age in the county are expected to enroll.

Southern High school opened its doors to 1146 on opening day, according to Kenneth Johns, principal. Northern High had an enrollment of 759, it was announced by Paul Muha, principal. Last year's opening day figure at Southern totaled 1121. Mr. Johns said enrollment was expected to top 1150 by Friday.

He said grade ten showed the largest enrollment with 226. Grade seven was second with 223. Providing there are no dropouts in the senior class, this will be one of the largest classes to graduate from the local school. One hundred forty-five seniors are listed. The boy-girl ratio favored the boys, 591 to 551.

Mr. Johns said the cafeteria served 862 lunches opening day. At the opening assembly Mr. Johns indicated that though American education had been severely criticized since "Sputnik" he believed that American education was basically sound. "Our teachers constantly strive to improve programs of study. We are constantly evaluating classroom practices and procedures," he said. He told the students, "Southern High school offers you the opportunity for an excellent education program. What you gain from this opportunity is entirely up to you."

At Northern High Mr. Muha released the figures for the six grades: 7th, 143; 8th, 129; 9th, 120; 10th, 129; 11th, 126; 12th, 112.

At the opening assembly program comments were made by Mr. Muha, the Rev. William E. Carlson, Leslie Savage, representing the bus drivers; Mrs. Helen Harmon, cafeteria manager; Ralph Beachley, vice-principal; and Miss Patty McKenzie, of the Student

Boat Factory To Be Located Here

That a factory for the manufacture of sail boats would be located in Oakland was announced this week. A half dozen people would be employed in the operation at the start, it was learned.

Gordon K. Douglas, of Kirtland Hills, Ohio, a sail boat enthusiast of international reputation, will be the owner of the new plant. He just completed the purchase this week of the building now owned by Fred Burgwald, formerly housing the Pontiac garage agency, on North Third street.

Douglas is designer of the Thistle, Highlander and the Flying Scot and he plans to manufacture the latter boats at his Oakland plant. He planned to move to Oakland immediately with his family so that his family could could enter the public schools.

Completes 45th Year At Practice of Law

Ernest Ray Jones on Tuesday, September 2, completed his forty-fifth year at the practice of law in Oakland.

He was admitted to the bar at Annapolis on September 2, 1915 after having been graduated from the University of Maryland Law School and came to Oakland immediately and set up his practice.

He has remained in Oakland since that time, although finding time for extra activities in both Maryland and West Virginia. He was secretary of state under the administration of Governor Harry W. Nice, was State's Attorney for Garrett county a number of years ago. At present he is president of the Board of Trustees of West Virginia Wesleyan college, Buckhannon, and is a member of the General Board of Education of the Methodist church. He is active in the work of the Methodist church in Oakland.

Purchases Hardware

Clifford Holler recently purchased the City Hardware from Sylvester A. Krupinski, of Terra Alta, and will continue to operate the store on Second street, it was announced this week.

Mr. Holler has been managing the store since February 7 when Mr. Krupinski acquired the business from Jack Wakely.

Rabid Dog Bites Man At Table Rock

A rabid dog from Grant county, West Virginia, invaded Garrett county about two weeks ago, bit one man and a number of dogs, but was finally shot and killed by the man he bit.

The story of this activity came this week from Dr. Arthur Jones, county health officer.

Walter R. Skeweris, of the Table Rock section, the man involved in the story, is now receiving shots for rabies. He was bitten on the ankle by the dog shortly before the dog was shot and killed by a rifle loaned to him by his neighbor, Campbell Saunders.

Dr. Jones related that the dog had attacked the man's beagles, also a boxer. Mr. Skeweris's son came out of the garage and the dog headed for him. Saunders, nearby, brought his gun from his garage and gave it to Mr. Skeweris. The latter wasn't in position to shoot as the dog passed him and he put out his leg to deflect the dog in his path toward the boy, and was bitten.

They learned later that the dog had come across the Potomac river at Wilson and cut a path up to the top of the mountain, having been in fights with half a dozen other dogs enroute. He was known to have ripped a woman's dress in Wilson but the bite fortunately didn't break the skin.

The dog's body was brought to the animal laboratory in Oakland where it was found to be positive for rabies.

Dr. Jones said all dogs known to have been in contact with the rabid dog have been destroyed and he urged that all residents in that area destroy all stray dogs. He said the cooperation of the inhabitants of the area was necessary to prevent a serious outbreak of rabies. He further advised that any dog that appeared sick or surly should be penned up for one week and if death occurred in that time it should be brought to the animal laboratory for examination.

The positive report on the dog was received by Dr. Jones last Thursday and since that time the man has been receiving treatment. Dr. Jones said there had been three cases of rabies in lambs in Grant county this summer.

Dr. Wernher Von Braun, rocket expert, predicted a U. S. space man in five years.

Two Juveniles Are Given Sentences

Two juveniles were given sentences in institutions yesterday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley.

One youth, 15, was found guilty by the court of theft of articles from Frazee's store in Friendsville, of causing Sherman Livengood to fall after being tripped, threw soft drink bottles against the Frazee Restaurant and did a number of other things considered extremely disorderly.

Judge Fraley sentenced him to serve an undetermined time in the Maryland Training School for Boys.

Another youth, 17 years old, was found guilty of stealing cigarets, shells, coins, etc., from the dwelling of Richard Motter, in the Bear Creek area. Since he already had served time in the Maryland Training School Judge Fraley sentenced him to the House of Correction with a recommendation that he be transferred to the Patuxent Institution.

Broom Sale To Provide Eye Glasses For Needy

As a result of the broom sale conducted by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club in recent weeks, some 300 children will be able to obtain eye examinations and receive glasses if needed, it was reported this week by club officers.

Brooms were purchased from the School for the Blind and were sold to people in Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, Crellin and to property owners around Deep Creek Lake.

Members of the club are planning to make improvements to the Boy Scout camp this Sunday afternoon. The next regular meeting of the group is set for Monday evening at the William-James hotel.

VICTIMS OF THE STORM—Sunday evening's lightning storm played thunder with the herd of Walter DeBerry, north of Oakland. Here are four of seven cattle killed by a bolt which struck a tree under which they had taken shelter. Lightning also struck the DeBerry home, about a quarter of a mile away, but damage there was slight. —Photo by The Republican.

Four Women Detained

Four women who became entangled with the law one day last week are being detained in the county jail until a hearing is arranged.

Two were arrested prior to last Thursday and the other two were apprehended later. They were listed as Mary Myrtle Reckart, Pansy Reckart, Naomi Reckart, and Norma Edith Reckart.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt said he was arranging for all four to undergo an examination at the Springfield State hospital near Baltimore, prior to a hearing on charges of assault upon two officers and for malicious destruction of property.

Four Are Injured, One Is Killed In Two Auto Mishaps

Four persons were injured and one person was killed instantly in two automobile accidents on route 50, near Mt. Storm, W. Va., within two days.

Kenneth Tucker, of Wilmington, Del., a man presumed to be about 40 years of age, was killed instantly last night when the car in which he was traveling east ran off the highway and crashed. He suffered a fractured skull, a broken neck and a punctured side.

Riding with him was Richard Jenkins, about 20, also of Wilmington, who is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital, but apparently not seriously injured.

The accident occurred about 11 o'clock last night, 2 miles east of Mt. Storm. Both persons apparently were employed by the Baltimore Sunpapers.

In the other wreck on Tuesday night about 8 o'clock three West Virginia men were injured when two automobiles collided head-on, about one and one-half miles west of Mt. Storm. One vehicle completely blocked one lane of the highway for a time.

The three men were taken by ambulance to Garrett County Memorial hospital. They were identified as Noble F. Vannoy, Lockney, W. Va.; who sustained head injuries; Fay E. Hollen, Ridgeley, W. Va., and former resident of Oakland, who had facial injuries and a fractured leg; and Albert Moore, believed to be the driver of the car in which he and Vannoy were riding, with chest injuries.

Details of the accident were sketchy. The two cars apparently hit head-on on a straight stretch of road. West Virginia authorities were investigating.

Devereux and Hyde Visitors in County As Campaign Opens

Rep. James S. Devereux, Republican candidate for Governor of Maryland, and Rev. DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican candidate to succeed himself in the Congress of the United States were in Oakland Monday and Tuesday this week.

General Devereux, who commanded the U. S. Marines on Wake Island during World War II, met with the Republican State Central Committee members for about two hours on Labor Day, discussing local conditions and state issues. He was accompanied to Oakland by his campaign manager, Joseph Devereux.

Congressman Hyde was in Oakland Tuesday for the entire day and met a number of the voters in an "on the street" campaign. He opened his campaign actively during the week and in seeking election to a fourth term as a member of Congress from the Sixth district, declared he was "deeply grateful to the people for their support and confidence in past elections." He added that he had tried to express that gratitude by doing everything that could be done through Congress for the social, economic and cultural advancement of his district.

The Republican committee met Tuesday night and made plans for a meeting with representatives of the various election districts on Monday September 15, at Cabin Lodge, and for a meeting with all Republican candidates with these district committee representatives on Friday, September 19. Letters of invitation are being sent to all candidates and district representatives this week-end announcing the dates and requesting their attendance.

Republican headquarters will be opened about September 24 in the Fazzalari building, it was announced by W. D. Casteel, chairman of the committee.

Southern Gridders Will Open Season At Petersburg Saturday

Southern High school opens its 1958 football season on Saturday afternoon, September 6, with the Vikings of Petersburg High school at Petersburg. Game time is 3:15 DST.

Although posting the poorest football record in the school's history last year, 1-8, a veteran squad of nine starters hope to make this the first winning season in Southern's five years of football, according to Richard Travis, coach.

This year's roster includes Backs Dick Stuck, Leo Martin, Wayne Callis, Keith Butler, Don Mason, Fred Hinebaugh and Bill Stemple; ends, Jack Gnegy, Terry Colaw, Jim Haines; tackles, Doug Bittinger, Ernest White, Ron Colaw, Tom Bergner and Fred Bell; guards, Bill Kelley, Darwin Friend, Steve Malone and Wallace Bolyard; centers Ed Sanders, Don Stemple, Clayton Winters. Managers are Jim Cuppett and Tom Anderson.

Southern's first home contest will be on Friday afternoon, September 19, when the Highlanders will face the West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Pupils Get Help On First Day of School

In order that teachers could have more time with their new pupils on opening day of school, a group of parents were on hand Tuesday to help with opening day procedures at the Center street Elementary school in Oakland.

The teacher aides were organized into four groups with two parents in each group. One group took charge of registration while the other met each bus, wrote the contractor's name and route number on a prepared tag and then pinned the tag on every first grade child who rode a bus. When the first grader entered his classroom the teacher knew without question what bus the pupil would be riding at the end of the school day.

The idea grew out of a faculty meeting August 29. In discussing opening day procedures the faculty talked about the problem of getting first graders on the right bus at the end of the school day and the registration of pupils not previously registered. Robert Rodeheaver, principal, said these items had always been problems with the school and more of a problem with first graders.

Parents who assisted Tuesday were Mrs. Glenn Dixon, chairman; Mrs. Irvin Feld, Mrs. Stuart Hamill, Jr., Mrs. Henry Trickett, Mrs. Beeson Snyder, Mrs. Gertrude Dean, Mrs. Stephen Pagenhardt, and Mrs. Edward Smouse.

Two Are Casualties

Two students at Southern High school were casualties of football practice during the past week.

Clayton Winters, Jr., broke his leg last Thursday while playing the game and is a patient in Garrett County Memorial hospital in Oakland.

William Stemple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stemple broke a bone in his foot several days ago, also while playing ball. He walked around on it for several days before undergoing an examination.

National Debt "Limit" Hike—The national debt ceiling has been placed by the Congress at 288 billion dollars. This formal setting of the statutory debt limit is a bookkeeping device. The increased limit provides "needed flexibility to allow for contingencies which may cause unforseeable demands upon the Treasury," to use the President's words. This seems like a terrific amount, but our economists tell us that it is an amount which our robust national economy can take care of. Be that as it may, I want to observe in passing that our national debt when the New Deal took over was about 22 billion dollars and when Truman left office it was about 265 billion dollars—an increase of 1100%, while the debt has increased under this Administration less than 6%. (I'm talking about the actual debt.)

Outer Space Center Locates In Maryland—The outer space research center of the new space agency, the National Aeronautical and Space Adminstration, will be located in Beltsville, Maryland, it has been decided. In presenting the case for the Maryland location, a 400-acre Government owned tract, I called attention to its proximity to Washington and the Pentagon as well as the Friendship International Airport and its nearness to the Baltimore—Washington Parkway and other major highways. The center will employ some 650 technicians who will conduct all research in connection with outer space programs. Legislation appropriating $47,800,000 for the space agency passed without amendment. Construction will begin at once.

Bainbridge May Get Atomic Power School—Several changes were made in committee on the Administration's military construction proposal, the Maryland part of which we outlined in a previous Senate Cloakroom letter. An item of $1,368,000 for a nuclear power school at Great Lakes Training Center was eliminated and a directive was given in the committee report that the Military study the possibility of using facilities at Bainbridge, Maryland, for the nuclear power school.

Under the committee revision, Fort Detrick, Maryland will get $1,187,000 for construction, more than originally scheduled, and the Army Chemical Center in Maryland, $2,051,000, also for construction. The biggest single item is for Towers Field in Maryland, where the Naval Air Station is scheduled to do construction work which will cost $16,559,000.

Another Increase At Indian Head, Maryland—Following immediately upon last week's authorization of 117 new employees at the Indian Head Naval Powder Factory, this week there was authorization for the employment of 19 more. This is in line with my express opinion that this is the beginning of a series of increases. Indian Head will manufacture solid propellants used in missiles and assemble them in the missiles.

Progress Toward D. C. Home Rule—On Tuesday I took the Senate Floor to make a plea for unity in support of the Administration bill providing territorial home rule for the District of Columbia. I felt that this was a step in the direction of true home rule, which the residents of the District fully deserve. The territorial plan was drawn up by the Commissioners to meet the objections of the President to previous home rule legislation. To paraphrase an old Chinese proverb, the way to start on a long walk is to take the first step.

Summit Conference?—"Nyet!"—When President Eisenhower agreed to Premier Khrushchev's demand for a summit conference, that threw the Russians into confusion; suddenly, maybe they didn't want a summit conference! As this is written, it appears that the summit conference is off. The Russian strategy seemed to change when it became evident that a summit conference would not give the Communists propaganda advantage. In agreeing to the handling of the Middle East situation in the United Nations General Assembly, which was what the United States had proposed in the first place, the Soviet Premier actually made a surrender.

The Russians will press their phony "aggression" case against us, while our side will press the very real indirect aggression case against them.

In the meantime, we should not withdraw our troops from Lebanon. Those who think that this would take the wind out of Soviet sails are in error. To the world-at-large, such withdrawal would appear to be a confession that we were in the wrong and were being forced to back down in the face of Soviet demands.

Nikita Must Postpone That U. S. A. Trip—The Russian Premier had wanted—Oh! so badly—to see New York and Washington. It must have been hard for Nikita, who likes to travel, to give up the anticipated trip to the mighty and majectic U. S. A. When it looked as though N. Khrushchev would be coming here, we were asked by a prominent newspaper for a statement as to what in our opinion he should see in the City of Washington. Here is our answer:

I would not show him big industrial plants or big freight yards. Neither would I show him our big department stores or super markets. Not that we want to hide material accomplishments, but Khrushchev knows we have these things. I would show him things which would indicate where our real strength lies—in our faith. Yes, our faith in ourselves, our way of life, our fundamental personal and national principles, and our faith in God. Let him visit the National Cathedral which indicates our cultural ties with Christian civilization. Let him visit the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception, built at a cost of $20,000,000, collected in one day's time by free will offerings from millions of Americans. Let him visit the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and see how we honor the individual. Let him begin to realize what is really important to us—the sentiments, the emotions, the principles, the faith, those inner things from which we draw our real strength.

Nears Frost Line

Garrett county's weather officially came close to the frost line yesterday morning for the coldest time of the week. The thermometer at the Weber greenhouse south of town registered 38 degrees.

Some residents reported light frosts in scattered areas, but apparently no damage was done to the growing things.

The cold spell was preceded by a severe thunder storm Sunday evening. The lightning struck in a field of Walter DeBerry, just north of Oakland, killing seven cows and causing a loss to Mr. DeBerry of about $1,500. The same charge knocked out lights and burned wires in nearby homes.

The weather remained cool in the early mornings until today.

Swan Meadow School Receives 45 Pupils

As school opened Tuesday the new two room school at Swan Meadow near Gortner neared completion. The two classrooms were given the final touches Labor Day and were in readiness for pupils Tuesday morning. Pupils then reported to the old school where they picked up their desks and books and moved into their attractive new quarters just a short distance away.

The driveway is about completed and a little more work is to be done in the large basement room which is to be used as a recreation and assembly room for school and community.

This building was constructed during the summer by the patrons of the school. The county provided $15,000 to be used for the cost of materials that went into the building. Forty-five students enrolled at the school on the opening day.

Mrs. Bonnie S. Calhoun is the principal of the school and Miss Esther Miller is her assistant.

ENGLANDER'S PHARMACY — Monthly News

A Message from Clinton W. Englander, "Your Pharmacist"

Self Medication Can Be Dangerous

There is no machine invented that is as complex as your own body. Yet, when something is wrong with their body, some people attempt to correct it themselves.

Correct Diagnosis Is Necessary To Proper Treatment.

It is almost impossible for any untrained person to repair a modern machine. Only skilled, experienced people are entrusted with such work. Since your body is ever so much more difficult to repair, why let anyone who is not an expert, even yourself, tinker with it?

Only A Physician Has The Knowledge And Training.

At the first sign of any illness, let him discover the cause, instead of depending on home remedies that usually only give temporary relief.

Let Your Physician Prescribe Proper Medication.

From the many medicines in a prescription pharmacy he will specify the particular one best for you. You will save much future sickness-time, perhaps even your life, if you will follow this sincere advice.

Along The Potomac

DeWITT S. HYDE

Once again we have been forced to vote an increase in the Federal debt limit. Every hike in the debt ceiling is a somber warning of stronger inflationary pressures ahead. Big Federal spending programs and huge deficits are a major factor in inflation. This newest increase in the National Debt limit serves to remind us of the need of restraint in seeking and granting Federal aid of all kinds.

Inflation means higher prices. It seriously affects the working man whose wage increases never quite catch up with the cost of the things he buys. But we must also face the fact that inflation hurts most, those who must depend on retirement income for their livelihood. The Government, business, and labor must do everything in their power to prevent a runaway price and wage spiral.

State and local governments are in as good, or better, financial position as the Federal Government to carry out programs that should be under local control. Yet, the strange idea prevails that we can solve our local problems through bigger Federal programs.

Unfortunately, the people in many cases, by their votes at the polls, have indicated that they favor more Federal programs and a shift of responsibility to Federal authorities. It is up to the citizens to make the decision on this issue.

The House Judiciary Committee has favorably reported a bill creating forty-six new Federal judgeships—one of these will go to Maryland. These new judgeships are not a luxury, they are a necessity as we know from the growing number of united Federal District and Circuit Court cases.

The Committee has favorably reported legislation incorporating provisions of my bill to permit fire-fighting organizations to obtain donable surplus property. Heretofore they had to bid for the equipment they needed. I am doing my best to have the House approve this before adjournment.

Further hearings on provisions for an increase in railroad retirement benefits have been held, but the Committee has not yet reported on the measure.

Half-Done Job . . .

ards of workmanship in every field must be maintained at high levels.

"There's no better time than now, as the new school year is getting underway, to resolve that you are going to do as much as you can to develop proper working habits. That means getting a good start, concentrating, writing down your assignments, and doing each day's homework each day.

"Once you get into the habit of doing these things your mind will be free of worry over unfinished business and you will have greater assurance of enjoying a successful, useful career. You will also be helping to strengthen your country."

That's good advice for the 4,700 students who began their 1958-59 school year on Tuesday. Likewise it's good advice for the other millions of students scattered throughout this land of ours.

Lake Investigation Of Fish Continues

The Maryland Tidewater News carried a story in the July-August issue concerning the investigations of fishing conditions in Deep Creek Lake, which are being continued by the Inland Game and Fish Commission.

The story indicated the management program was promising. The story follows:

As the five-year management program for Deep Creek Lake, Garrett County, Maryland, passes the half-way mark, biologists are very optimistic about its chances for success. During a shore-line rotenoning and electrofishing project conducted jointly by the Game and Inland Fish Commission and the Department of Research and Education in July, 1958, great numbers of young-of-the-year chain pickerel were found. This discovery indicates that suitable pickerel-spawning habitat exists in the lake, a point about which there had been considerable doubt.

Four Predator Species Introduced

The five-year program for Deep Creek Lake consists largely of "corrective" stocking, that is, the introduction of predator fish to control the overabundant yellow perch. Four species have been planted: chain pickerel, northern pike, walleyes and striped bass. Of these, only the chain pickerel are definitely known to have spawned in the lake. A single small northern pike taken during the survey indicates that the eggs of northerns can hatch and the young survive. Adult northerns were planted early in March, 1958, and 800,000 eggs were stocked in April. The six-inch specimen that was taken was either from the spawn of the adults or from the planted eggs.

Single Species Sufficient As Predator

No evidence of walleye or striped bass reproduction was found. However, this fact does not dim the biologists' optimism because it is felt that any one of the predator species, if it could build up a large population, might control the yellow perch. Although three other predator species, largemouth bass, smallmouth bass and redfin pickerel, existed in the lake before the management program began, they were unable to keep the perch in check. It has been suggested that the two species of bass were, instead, being kept in check by the perch. Yellow perch spawned about six weeks ahead of the bass so they were able to prey on the bass as soon as the bass eggs hatched. The redfin pickerel, although an excellent predator, is so small (rarely over twelve inches) that it is ineffective as a predator of larger perch.

Pickerel Eat Perch

The stomach contents of a few chain pickerel were examined and it was found that the bulk of the food present was yellow perch. This indicates that the pickerel are working at the job they were supposed to do. One of the pickerel had eaten a smaller pickerel. This evidence should help allay the fears of those who worry that pickerel might overrun the lake. The fact that pickerel will readily eat their own kind indicates they may tend to keep their own population in check.

Fishing Has Apparently Improved

One further note of good news is the fact that fishing seems to be much better in 1958 than in any year since the lake has been under study. Accurate data are not yet available, but many reports have been received of large catches of fish and catches of large fish. It is expected that this favorable trend will continue.—H. J. ELSER.

Large Crowd Visits Grantsville School At "Open House"

School authorities estimated that well over five hundred parents and patrons of the Grantsville School attended the "Open House" program Sunday afternoon. The occasion marked the opening of the building for public inspection following the extensive renovation and remodeling program which was completed only the day before the "Open House" program was scheduled to be held.

According to A. B. Dean, the principal of the school, parents expressed amazement at what had been done to the building, to make it one of Garrett County's most attractive and most modern school plants. New windows were placed in four rooms on the west side of the building, all floor space was covered with asphalt tile, acoustical ceilings were installed, new lighting was provided for all rooms, the auditorium floor was sanded and refinished, partitions were removed to provide library and cafeteria rooms; the exposed rafters in the auditorium were covered, toilet improvements made, the furnaces rebuilt and the kitchen completely remodeled, to mention but some of the major items of improvement.

The two feature attractions of the school are the library and cafeteria. Prior to the changes made this summer, the school had no library other than a small storage room for library books, neither was there a cafeteria room, and children were forced to eat on the stage of the auditorium. By transferring about seventy-five of the Avilton children to the new Route 40 School, space was made available for both a library and cafeteria.

Approximately sixteen men, under the direction of O. T. Graser, supervisor of maintenance, worked throughout the entire summer on the Grantsville project. The total cost was $15,000.00 which according to members of the Board of Education was a bargain price considering what was accomplished.

The school is staffed with the following teachers: A. B. Dean, Principal, Viola Broadwater, Mrs. Fern F. Epstein, Mrs. Joanne S. Harris, Mrs. Betty Kolb, Louis T. Michael, Claudine Opel, Esther Opel, Mrs. Grace H. Speicher, Mrs. Jennie D. Stark, Joyce E. Warnick, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams.

Jake Layton is the school custodian.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Maurice R. Franks is President of the National Labor-Management Foundation and Editor of its official publication, PARTNERS.)

To live we must invest ourselves in life. And life as a whole can only mean our fellow man. To gain from him we must enable him to gain from us. To take and receive we must give and be received.

This is a tremendous message of Christianity, on which our American Way of Life is based, and the inevitable truth of it is as applicable to man's material world as it is to our residence in God's spiritual universe. These word's have come down to us: "Give and ye shall receive"—"As ye sow so shall ye reap"—"Do unto others as ye would they do unto you"—"Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those that trespass against us"—these four-square words support the structure of responsible government as stoutly as they lend voice to the revelations and moral guidance of our religion.

We fail, and must suffer the embarrassments of failure, when we set our standard of success without considering others. We lose when we withdraw from our prime objective to produce.

It is here we encounter the tragic fallacy of socialism—the belief that government bureaucracy can accomplish as much as it costs in goods and services and the over-all well-being of human individuals. It is here, in the crushing throes of all-purpose police work, that no human bargains can be made, all incentives depart and the virile spirit of man languishes. Socialism, no matter how prettily it presents itself; no matter how fully it may seduce a spineless people, is inevitably destined to break its own back—and theirs—if only because it is committed to take more than it gives, to consume more than its people produce.

The Russians have learned this and, no matter what their leaders piously say, have embarked on a program of individual incentives enough to make our American capitalist heads swim. It is they—and tragically enough, not we—who have discovered the fallacies of socialism and are doing what they can to correct things at the grass roots at least.

Also in modern American labor-management relations the basic fallacy of inverting the give-and take formula reveals itself.

Guided by certain union leaders—imbued with the foreign substance of socialism—broad segments of the labor movement have up-ended the economic machinery of this country in a blind endeavor to set it to working in reverse. Consumption, they reason, should come before production. To consume more, we must learn to produce less! Labor, our chief consumer, must be paid more money for fewer hours on the job. And meanwhile, "Take it easy, pals, but take it!"

Consider the implications that advice involves. It is the slogan that every work-day morning signs off the United Auto Workers' "Eye Opener Program" beamed by Walter Reuther's union to the American worker over a special radio network out of Detroit. "Take it easy, pals, but take it!" Such are the last words spat by Guy Nunn into the ears of auto workers and others as they drive to their jobs to make their 7 A. M. punch-in in Detroit and other industrial centers.

Is this a supposedly responsible union's advice to the people it represents—in fact, to all wage earners within radio earshot of Guy Nunn's voice? Take it easy, lie down and loaf on the job, under cut the employer's productive effort! Do as little as possible for your money but take it! Take all you can get and more! Give as little as you can but take all the traffic will bear! Is this offered as sober guidance to labor? It could be as the slogan is a capstone to a half-hour of radio time filled with advice in line with socialist philosophy. My monitors have kept track of this program for years and have tapes that will vouch for its content.

On no tape to which I've listened have I heard the Christian advice that labor must give in order to receive. I've heard no words truly creative in their impact, no words endeavoring to preach the mutuality of productive enterprise—the partnership of labor and management for producing most of the best for the least, so that more could be had for less. I've heard on the program plenty about the sins of management, but never a word about the Christian impulse to forgive the sins of others so that one gains the right to seek forgiveness of one's own sins.

Here—and in other expressions of modern organized labor—we encounter the law of God and man enunciated in reverse. Such enunciations have invaded and dominated the bargaining demands of many a union at contract time. Because this has happened over the years, right now the nation is paying for this serious perversion of labor's mind.

It would be unfair to lay all the blame upon organized labor for ignoring the basic law of human and industrial relations. In my next article, I propose to discuss how some managements have also been guilty in this respect.

Plans for ditching some set areas in the pasture have been discussed with local soil conservation specialists.

Game Commission Sets Date for Hearing

The Game and Inland Fish Commission has announced a public hearing at the Alexander hotel in Hagerstown for Friday evening, October 3, at 7:30 p. m., to discuss a number of proposed regulations.

One concerns open seasons, size and creel limits on game and fresh water fish in non-tidal waters for 1959, one concerns fly fishing elimination of fly fishing in Jones Falls area, Baltimore county, one concerns amendment of trout stream regulations, and one concerns baiting of wild waterfowl.

The law gives the Game and Inland Fish commission the power to adopt and publish seasons, size and creel limits for game and fresh water fish in non-tidal waters annually on or before October 25 of each year.

The amendments concerning trout streams will have to do with Garrett county in the following manner:

Little Youghiogheny River only, Big Youghiogheny river only, above Maryland route 39; deleting the Millers Run watershed and Sand Run watershed and adding the Wolf Den run to the open streams.

It is proposed that the following regulation be substituted for the one now in effect: "It shall be unlawful to hunt, shoot or kill, or attempt to hunt, shoot or kill any migratory game birds from any blind, shore or any shooting point by the aid of baiting, or on or over any baited area."

The hearings are open to any interested person.

Airman of the Month

Airman first class Kenneth L. Wolf, former Oakland resident, presently assigned to the Confinement center of the air base squadron at Duluth, Minn., as administrative clerk and assistant confinement supervisor, has been selected as the 343rd fighter group airman of the month for July.

Recommended by the air base squadron as the most outstanding airman of the squadron, Wolf met the airman of the month board and was selected on a point system which judges men on knowledge and performance of job, military conduct, appearance and bearing, military education, civilian education, knowledge of service, current events and community service.

Wolf received a three-day pass from his squadron accommodations in a downtown hotel in Duluth, tickets to Duluth theaters, a helicopter ride, a cash award from his squadron, a cash award of $25 from the base welfare fund and a gift certificate from downtown Duluth merchants.

Airman Wolf was born in Oakland. He is a son of Mrs. Harold J. Barnes, of Cumberland and the late Andrew Wolf. He attended high school here and played basketball, soccer and baseball. He entered service at 16. He enlisted in the United States air force in 1951 and has been in air police work for nearly eight years.

He married the former Donna Renken, of Racine, Minnesota, in 1956 and they are expecting their first child around December 31.

Wolf declared he liked air police work and wanted to remain in the service but he indicated the pay would be a deciding factor. He wants opportunity for advancement.

Mrs. Barnes recently returned to her home at Cumberland after visiting her son and daughter-in-law.

Holiday traffic death toll reached 332 in U. S. with 82 drownings and 61 deaths in accidents other than highway.

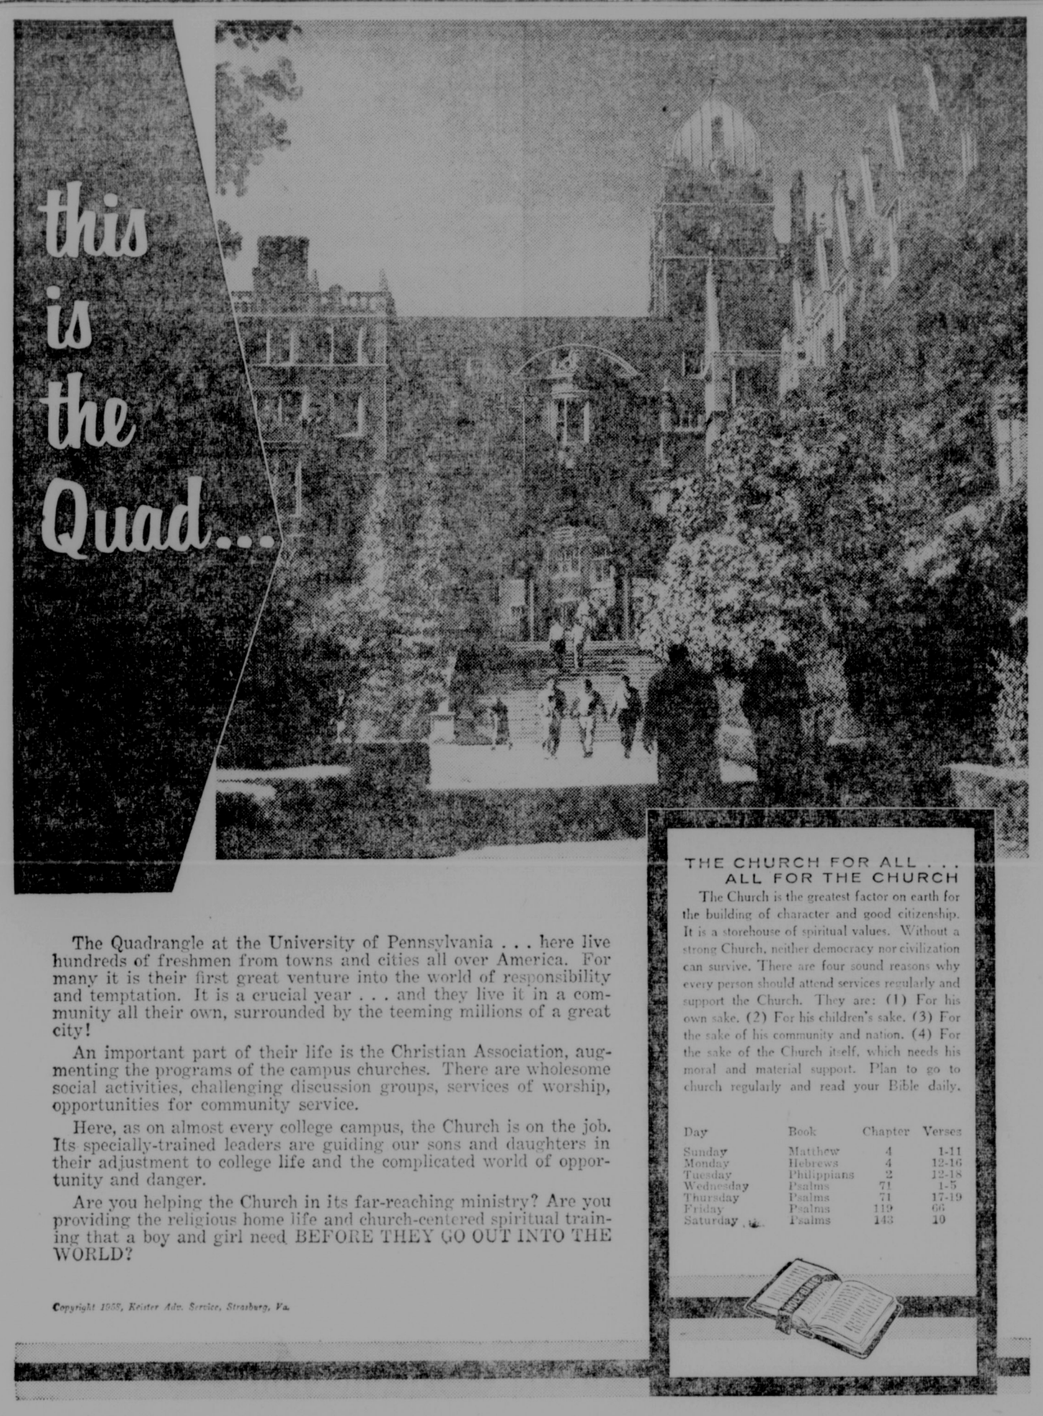
A Russian space trip was predicted within one year.



The Quadrangle at the University of Pennsylvania . . . here live hundreds of freshmen from towns and cities all over America. For many it is their first great venture into the world of responsibility and temptation. It is a crucial year . . . and they live it in a community all their own, surrounded by the teeming millions of a great city!

An important part of their life is the Christian Association, augmenting the programs of the campus churches. There are wholesome social activities, challenging discussion groups, services of worship, opportunities for community service.

Here, as on almost every college campus, the Church is on the job. Its specially-trained leaders are guiding our sons and daughters in their adjustment to college life and the complicated world of opportunity and danger.

Are you helping the Church in its far-reaching ministry? Are you providing the religious home life and church-centered spiritual training that a boy and girl need BEFORE THEY GO OUT INTO THE WORLD?

Copyright 1958, Keister Adv. Service, Strasburg, Va.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Day's Work

Lesson for September 7, 1958

CAN WE talk of social justice and our jobs at the same time? If we can't we must admit that social justice will not work where perhaps it is more needed than in most places; it won't work where we spend most of our waking time, in that area of life that means so much to us: namely our jobs. Take away a man's job and you have destroyed the basis of his self-respect. Take his job and you leave him rootless, a drifter, unhappy and without meaning in a world that can find no use for him.

Dr. Foreman

"Work, or don't eat"

When we turn to the Bible we should expect to find that the book which says so much about social justice (remember, the name is not important but the thing is!), would give some hints about how this principle of all-around fairness affects the day's work of men and women. And such is the case. The Apostle Paul, one of the "workingest" men that ever lived, had a problem church at Thesalonica. The Christians there had somehow got the notion that the end of this world was right around the corner. They were like people working in a field when a tornado is moving across the prairie; they take a lot more interest in the tornado than in finishing the job. So these people had quit their jobs and were living, it seems, on their good-natured and still working friends. Paul moved right into that situation with a sharp order. "If any one will not work, let him not eat." Work, in short, is part of a Christian's duty. The world does not owe anybody a living, no matter how pious he is.

What's wrong here?

The Sabbath Commandment does not start with the Sabbath. It starts with the other six days: "Six days you shall labor . . ." Old Testament and New alike set up work as part of the "whole duty of man."

But—here is where trouble begins. In our society as at present organized, it often happens that a man who wants to work, can't. Farmers sometimes have a hard time understanding that this is so. A farmer can find more to be done than he can do, year in year out. But the factory worker, the professional man, doesn't always find it so simple. The factory has a layoff, or merges with another one, or just closes down. Thousands of men and women in a distant state can be thrown out of work by one decision in a New York office. As for the professional man, in hard times he does not have the clients he used to have. His expenses go on, his debts pile up, but his patients (if he is a doctor, for example) don't pay, they can't pay because they are out of work. So it may come about that literally millions of people, the highly educated and trained as well as countless unskilled workers, find themselves either working for nothing or not having a chance to work at all.

"Do it with your might"

The wise reader will reflect on many other ways in which social justice and the day's work are related. But lest we forget, we must call to mind another important side to this. Suppose I get what the world really owes me—not a living, but the chance to make a living; suppose I have a job, then what? Society has fulfilled its part by making work possible for me. What is my part now? One thing surely is that I should give the job everything I've got. Social justice means seeing that no man is jobless. Social justice also means that no man with a job lies down on it.

There are certain industries where the "workers" have things so well sewn up that it is almost impossible to fire a man unless he actually gets drunk on the job. It is surely social injustice to demand a job, and at the same time demand to hold it whether one really works at it or not. Social justice, applied to the day's work, isn't all the responsibility of society—it is the responsibility of the workers as well. A Christian, especially, shows the genuineness of his Christianity by the way he goes about his day's work.

Children's BIBLE STORY

BY S. A. KAPLAN

JOSEPH SOLD AS A SLAVE

(This story is based on Genesis 37)

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS! Do you hold any hard feelings in your heart against your brother or sister when mother or dad seem to favor them above you? In today's story we will learn how jealousy and envy embittered the lives of Joseph's ten brothers for many years; brought untold suffering and grief to their aged father, and almost cost the life of Joseph, their brother.

Joseph was a handsome youth. He was obedient, and his gentle, affectionate disposition endeared him to his father's heart. We read that Jacob "loved him more than all his brethren." One day his father "made him a coat of many colours," which was worn in those days by persons of distinction. This unwise act on the father's part did not work out well for Joseph, for it only served to stir up his brothers still more against him. However, they did not openly show that they hated him.

One day after Joseph's brothers had been gone for some time with their father's flock, Jacob became worried about their safety, and so he sent Joseph to see whether all was well with them. Joseph walked sixty-five long miles on foot before he found them, and when his brothers saw him afar off, they plotted to kill him. However, Reuben, his brother, persuaded them to cast him into a pit instead, hoping to rescue him later. Can't you visualize Joseph's terror as he came near and saw their angry, revengeful glances? They seized him, tore off that beautiful coat of many colors, and threw him into a deep pit. While Reuben was gone for a while, a caravan of merchants who were on their way to Egypt passed by. Judah then suggested that they draw Joseph out of the pit and sell him as a slave to these heathen traders. Can't you see Joseph in an agony of terror appealing to one after another of his brothers not to sell him? But they would not listen. Just try to imagine how you would feel if you had been in Joseph's place? And how do you suppose his brothers felt? Happy? Far from it! In order to cover up their crime, they killed a goat and dipped Joseph's coat in it and "brought it to their father" who when he saw it cried, "It is my son's coat; an evil beast hath devoured him. Joseph is without doubt rent in pieces." Great was the father's grief, and in vain were their efforts to comfort him, for he would not be comforted.

And so again we find that as Jacob had deceived his father, so he in turn was deceived by his sons. However, God overruled even this tragic experience for good, for Joseph not only brought the knowledge of the true God to Egypt, the greatest nation in the world at that time, but he also years later was able to save the lives of his entire family from starvation.

Social Security To Increase in February

Some 12,000 persons served by the Social Security office in Cumberland will receive increased funds beginning with checks due early next February.

Last Friday President Eisenhower signed the bill which will increase these payments for those now receiving them, and at the same time will raise taxes for old age insurance on workers and employers.

James A. Gwinn, district manager, said the local office serves Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland; Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy and Grant counties in West Virginia.

He said the amount of the monthly increase would be about seven percent although some would be slightly more and some less.

Persons getting Social Security payments need not apply for the increase. It will automatically be added to the checks for January which will be mailed out early in February.

Beginning January 1, 1959, the social security tax rate for employees will be two and one-half percent. These rates are slated to increase every three years until they reach four and one-half percent for employes and employers, and six and three-fourths percent for self-employed persons in 1969.

The first $4,800 of earnings in a year will be taxed for social security and will count toward social security benefits.

Annual Sing Scheduled

The annual sing will be held at the Lake Ford Methodist church on Sunday, September 14, beginning at 1 o'clock DST.

All singers are invited and all persons are welcome. There will be a loud speaker on the grounds.

Hi Neighbor! .....

There is something heartening in this neighbor to neighbor campaign for votes this November. It is being launched by the Republican women of the county on Friday and throughout the nation this week.

Democrats in other areas are planning to conduct similar campaigns.

For the first time in history the American people will be told over and over again on radio and television, in newspapers, by posters, car cards and by magazine advertisements to get out and vote and to "Give to the Party of Your Choice."

Endorsed by National Republican Committee chairman, Meade Alcorn, and by the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, a nation-wide non-partisan advertising campaign has been undertaken by the American Heritage Foundation and the Advertising Council of America. This is a public service project to explain to the average voters why they should be interested in voting, and why they should make a financial contribution to the political party of their choice when approached by the authorized representative of their party.

The full impact of the publicity is scheduled to reach its peak within the next week or two when the Republican neighbor-to-neighbor campaign will be in progress. The Democrats have announced they will start their "Dollars for Democrats" drive on September 26.

This is an opportunity to organize and give voters in every precinct an opportunity to contribute to their cause, in addition to feeling enough responsibility to get out and vote on election day.

There are about 160,000 precincts or polling districts in the 48 states. If an average of 10 volunteer workers for each polling district was recruited, we would have 1,600,000 neighbor-to-neighbor workers. If those workers rang only ten doorbells in their own neighborhoods, the workers would contact 16 million homes or family units. We would reach at least 32 million voters and potential contributors. The idea is unlimited. It has great possibilities.

G.O.P. Women To Undertake Neighbor To Neighbor Drive

Will Urge Every Voter To Cast Ballot In Election Next November

Garrett county's neighbor-to-neighbor campaign for Republican votes this November is to be launched tomorrow with a tea to be held for county community chairmen and other workers at the home of Mrs. Lewis R. Jones, county chairman.

The purpose of this canvass, explained Mrs. Jones, it to place information about Republican candidates in the hands of every voter. "We will urge every one of them to go to the polls in November and give them the opportunity to make their personal contribution to the party."

This is in line with projects of the American Heritage Foundation and the Advertising Council of Americans to "give to the party of their choice," through TV, radio, newspapers, magazines and posters.

The project locally is sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee.

Besides giving all Republicans an opportunity to contribute to their party the canvassers will present a booklet on "Why Vote," with a strip listing state and county candidates.

The Neighbor-to-neighbor campaign had its origin with the publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald, Philip Graham, and adopted for vigorous promotion by the American Heritage Foundation.

Women attending the tea at Mrs. Jones' home Friday will receive instructions for the canvass plus materials. Each canvasser will have a card indicating she is an authorized agent.

Buys Property—But Not The Grocery and Station

Last week it was reported that Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Coffey had purchased a store in McHenry from Mr. and Mrs. Earle T. Glotfelty and were operating the business.

This was not correct. The Coffeys purchased the property, but apparently not the store fixtures and contents nor the gas station. The business is still under management of William Bower who has been in McHenry for the past nine years, since 1949.

The store and gas station had been leased from Mr. Glotfelty by Mr. Bower.

Court Opinion Favors Town In Browning Suit

Bill Of Complaint Ordered Dismissed By Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley

In a court opinion handed down by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on Monday the bill of complaint filed by Browning, Incorporated, against the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, was ordered dismissed.

C. H. Browning and others had attempted to prevent the Mayor and Council from constructing a curb in front of their store property on Third street.

The bill of complaint against the council was filed June 30 and sought an injunction against the town. The bill alleged that the town did not have the authority to place a curb since they contended that jurisdiction had been transferred to the State Roads commission and had contended also that the action was "arbitrary and capricious."

On June 4th Donald M. Browning had presented a plan for the Browning parking lot including surfacing and marking off the area for angle parking with openings at the alley and the traffic light at Green and Third streets and had asked for the opportunity to try the plan without additional curbing.

The council at that time voted 5 to 2 to make a 30 foot opening at the alley opposite the city hall.

Radio Transmitter Station Will Aid Disaster Plan Here

Oakland will soon have an emergency disaster plan in operation and police emergency protection, with headquarters at the Garrett County Memorial hospital. The emergency disaster plan will be extended to include other towns of the county.

Henry W. McComas, hospital administrator, who said he had been working on the plan since April, received a permit this week from the Federal Communications commission to operate a radio transmitter station for emergencies.

The station will be known as station KGF. An aerial will be erected on the hospital building and the town of Oakland will purchase the transmitter which will be installed in the hospital.

Mobile units are to be installed in ambulances of the two funeral directors in Oakland, automobiles of physicians, in the Oakland police car, one in the hospital administrator's office, one in Kitzmiller and one in Friendsville, Mr. McComas said.

The cost of the transmitter, aerial and mobile unit for the Oakland police car will be borne by the town of Oakland, amounting to some $850. The hospital will pay for its one unit, and other mobile units will be paid for by the physicians and by Herbert C. Leighton and Gerald N. Minnich.

Can Now Call Off Search For Killer

County authorities can now call off their search for Chester Mauchline, 47, of Sewickley.

They were alerted Monday to be on the lookout for Mauchline who was known to have spent some time at Deep Creek Lake and it was thought he may have fled to this area.

Mauchline was being sought on a larceny charge and for questioning in connection with the death of his wife. Mauchline reported to police on August 24 that she was missing. His wife's body was found September 4.

Mauchline walked into a Chicago police station Tuesday night and identified himself as the man, and told officers he killed his wife August 23. His picture was in last night's Cumberland Evening Times.

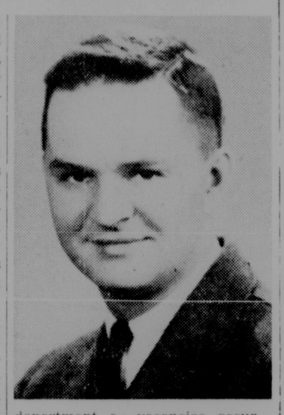
H. Russell Smouse Appointed To Attorney General Staff



The Attorney General's office in Washington, D. C., has announced the selection of H. Russell Smouse, of Oakland, for employment in one of the divisions of the Justice Department.

The son of Mrs. Vernie Smouse of Oakland, Register of Wills, and the late Harvey R. Smouse, he was graduated from Princeton University and the University of Maryland, receiving his law degree in June from the law school of the latter institution. He now resides in Baltimore with his wife and daughter.

While attending Maryland Smouse was a member of Delta Theta Phi, legal fraternity, a research trainee in the Civil Division of the Department of Justice.

The appointment to his position in the Department of Justice was made under a program inaugurated in 1952 by former Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., that provides for the recruitment of outstanding law graduates.

Officials of the Justice Department claim the recruitment program has proved highly successfull in having young lawyers recognize the importance of government service. There have been 181 honor graduates of law school placed since the inception of the program.

One of the features of the program allows the young lawyers to gain a variety of experience by allowing them to transfer between the various divisions of the justice department as vacancies occur.

Following their selection the young attorneys received an orientation course which includes a meeting with the attorney general and discussion of the work in the various divisions.

Selections for the attorney general's recruitment program are made on the basis of merit and are generally limited to those in the top ten percent of their class. Smouse was one of 60 students to be chosen from a field of nearly 600 applicants.

Smouse learned Tuesday that he was one of 144 candidates out of 245 who passed the Maryland State Bar examination, which he took in July.

Town Is Restricted On Furnishing Water Outside Corporation

After doing a reversal on a policy of furnishing water and sewerage to persons outside the corporate limits of Oakland at a regular meeting in August, another reversal was thrust upon the town this month through an order of the State Health Department.

In August C. C. Mason asked for water and sewerage privileges for proposed residences near Southern High school. Before granting the request four to three the council rescinded a resolution which was passed September 10, 1956, which had stopped all such extensions outside the corporate limits.

A letter from Perry Prather, director of the Department of Health, was read at Monday night's council meeting in which Mr. Prather ordered that all construction work be stopped on laying of water mains in the development of C. C. Mason, until formal approval is received from the state department of health to proceed. The decision was based on the contention that the Oakland sewer system is already overloaded and that the water supply is not overly adequate. The Chester Engineers are now in the process of making a complete study of the water con-

"Clothes Closet" To Be Open One Day Each Week

At an executive board meeting last Thursday night, members of the Junior Woman's Civic club made arrangements to keep the "Clothes Closet" open just one day each week. This would be on Wednesday, from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., and from 1 to 3 p. m.

The "Clothes Closet" is a project to try to clothe needy students. The Closet is located in the School Board annex building and the restriction was necessary on the time because it was found that persons were coming to the place at all hours, and causing some measure of inconvenience.

The day and hours are to be posted on the door of the room and visitors are being asked to abide by them.

Mrs. Nancy Helbig, chairman of the project, said that another drive for clothing would be conducted in the near future.

The one hundred forty-four persons will be recommended to the Court of Appeals of Maryland for admission to the Bar.

Thayer received his LL.B degree from Duke university, Durham, N. C., in June being graduated with distinction. He had previously received his A. B. degree in history from the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio, graduating there with honors, in June, 1955.

Farm Queen Given A Royal Welcome

Maryland's Farm Queen, Miss Sue Hershberger, 16, didn't have to be told last Saturday night that the Grantsville area appreciated her feat in bringing home the honor.

Miss Hershberger who was crowned Farm Queen a few days ago at the State fair at Timonium, received a queen's welcome.

Enroute home her car was halted at Meadow Mountain by a motorcade. There the mayor of her home town, Grantsville, Lee Beachy, presented her with a bouquet of roses.

Then her car joined in the host of others for the few miles to Grantsville. At the town limits where a large banner proclaiming "Welcome Home, Queen," was strung across route 40, the procession joined the Northern High school band.

Led by the band a parade was held from one end of the community to the other, and back to Grantsville Elementary school.

There Mayor Beachy officially greeted the smiling daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hershberger, who own a farm just outside of Grantsville. She was presented with a three-piece set of luggage by the citizens. Closing remarks were made by Paul Muha, chairman of the welcoming committee and principal of Northern High School, where Sue is a senior this year.

When the people learned that their county queen had been chosen state queen from among 22 other contestants, they decided to do something about it.

Organizations participating in the "welcome home" gesture were the Grantsville Town Council; Grantsville Post 214, American Legion, and its Auxiliary Unit; Grantsville Volunteer Fire company and its Ladies Auxiliary; Grantsville Rotary club, Northern High School band, Garrett county farm bureau, and the Homemaker clubs of Grantsville and Casselman Valley. All had placard-bearing cars in the parade.

More Rabid Dogs?

Possibly three more rabid dogs were in the area of Wilson this week, causing havoc among a flock of sheep owned by Ernest Cullers, with one of the animals biting Mr. Cullers through the hand. Mr. Cullers is now taking shots for prevention of rabies.

Mr. Cullers, middle aged man of the Wilson section, went out to attend his sheep Saturday and found them being attacked by three dogs.

He killed one of the dogs by cutting its throat with a hunting knife, and wounded a second one. In the process however he received a leg and knee wound from his knife, one of the wounds requiring 13 stitches. About that time the third dog bit him through the hand. He was hospitalized for three days. The head of one dog is being examined. But the other two dogs are still at large.

Attempted Attack On Young Woman Fails

An attempted attack on a young woman of Oakland took place Thursday evening about 10 o'clock.

The attacker fled when screams of the woman attracted neighbors and lights started flashing from all directions.

Involved in the incident was Miss Lenora Lantz, an employe of the Englander Pharmacy. She left the store about 10 o'clock to go to her apartment located on the third floor of the Hervey Bittner property on Second street. Entrance to the apartment is in the rear of the home and usually a light is left burning in the area, but the place was in darkness last Thursday evening.

As Miss Lantz walked around the corner of the building a masked man confronted her, threw her to the ground and attempted to place a hand over her mouth to prevent her calling for help. This was unsuccessful and her screams were heard by Mrs. Bittner and near neighbors. The man immediately fled.

Miss Lantz had her glasses broken in the encounter and was almost hysterical when she got into the Bittner home. She was given a sedative and taken to the home of her parents in Aurora, W. Va., that night.

Mrs. Bittner called the sheriff who arrived on the scene within a few minutes. City Police were called and they responded, but there were no traces of any person in the area. Authorities are still investigating.

Charles Newman, of Turtle Creek, Pa., will be the new assistant to Willis V. Smith, council executive.

The additional worker was made available through allocation from the County United Fund. Smith said Newman would work with boy scout troops, explorer posts and cub packs in the Deep Creek district in this county and the Nemacolin trail district in Allegany county. The other field executive, Wilbert Sifton, Keyser, who had been assisting in Oakland and the Deep Creek district, will continue to serve troops and packs in the Tri-Valley district which includes the four West Virginia counties and the Tri-Towns section.

Smith pointed out that membership in the council is approximately 2,200 boys which gave the two workers about 1100 each. This is above the national average of 760 boys for each professional scouter.

funeral directors. They will cost about $185.00 per unit.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals some time ago directed that a disaster plan for the care of casualties be formulated by the hospital, and Mr. McComas said he started thinking at that time how the police protection and emergency calls could be taken care of promptly in the same plan.

The station is to be used only for the transmission of communications relating to the safety of life and property. There will be a direct line to a telephone at the hospital which will be used for that purpose only.

In case of medical emergencies the physicians can be summoned to the hospital. Should a physician answer an emergency call and find himself in need of additional medical assistance, additional physicians could be directed to the scene of the disaster. Should disaster strike in Friendsville or Kitzmiller physicians and ambulances could be so directed. A police emergency vehicle with personnel can be directed to the scene of disaster for the protection of life and property; also to set up road blocks. The medical administrator can also be summoned.

Communication service will be rendered without charge. The hospital will assume full responsibility for the proper operation of all radio equipment. The service will be on a twenty-four hour basis.

Mr. McComas said the new system should be in operation within the next three months. He added that this was one of the first such set-ups in the United States. The material to be used in the plan is being purchased through the surplus army equipment agency.

11 Indictments

(2) Toilets be replaced on the first floor of the jail.

(3) Women's quarters be painted on both sides.

(4) Vent pipe be installed for the open gas stove located in the kitchen.

(5) The plaster be repaired in the kitchen, also an exhaust fan be installed.

(6) Awning be installed on the west side of the residence porch for the protection of the floor.

(7) That the salary of the cook be increased.

After our inspection in the Court House we recommend the following: (1) That the lavatory and commode be replaced in the rear of the Clerk of the Circuit Court's Office.

(2) That the toilets in the basement be replaced.

(3) That the new board of County Commissioners follow up with the efforts of the present board in correcting the condition of the ceiling in the Office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

After our inspection in the Garrett County Memorial hospital we find it to be in excellent condition. We recommend however, the purchase of a larger deep freeze for the kitchen and at least one new tray cart.

The condition of the County Roads Garage is very good. However, we recommend that something be done to correct the escape of fumes from the garage and shop to the second floor.

It was brought to our attention that the Commissioners can spend only $25,000.00 annually for the purchase of new equipment and machinery. Last year the County spent over $100,000.00 for the repair of old machinery and equipment. We recommend that new legislation be passed to the end that the limit to be spent annually for the purchase of machinery and equipment for the roads department be raised. We also recommend that a study be made as to the feasibility of standardizing equipment and machinery and also a study as to the limit to be spent for the purchase of equipment. We suggest that the present antiquated method of transporting heavy equipment be modernized and also modern labor saving loaders and other devices be acquired.

"We also recommend that bids be required for the purchase of road equipment and machinery in excess of the limit now provided for in the general law, of Md.

We desire to express to his Honor Neil C. Fraley, our thanks and appreciation for his courtesy extended us during our term.

We also wish to thank Sheriff James Frantz, Richard L. Davis, Clerk of Court, the State Police and the Constables for Garrett County, Maryland, for their cooperation and assistance to us during our deliberations. It is our opinion that the law enforcement officers have performed their duties in a very commendable manner.

And we lastly wish to express our thanks to Mr. Stephen R. Pagenhardt, States Attorney for Garrett County, for his advice and cooperation as an adviser to this Grand Jury and his able manner in conducting his affairs before us is greatly appreciated, and also we wish to thank Lester White, Deputy Clar kand Mr. Charles F. Hammond for their able assistance during our deliberation.

Respectfully Submitted.

Plan Approved For New Radio Station

The Federal Communications Commission announced last week that D. C. Loughry, of Vandergrift, Pa., had been authorized to start construction on a new radio station, WFRB, in Frostburg, immediately.

According to 33-year-old Loughry, WFRB will be a commercial station operated on 740 kilocycles with 250 watts. The station will broadcast during daytime hours. Loughry plans to move from his home at Vandergrift to Frostburg in about three weeks. Construction will begin on the station's facilities October 1, and deadline for the first broadcast is December 1.

Both the studio and transmitter will be located in Garrett county, on route 546, just off route 40. The company will be known as Western Maryland Broadcasting Company.

The permission granted by the FCC culminates a life-long dream of Loughry to own a radio station. He begin broadcasting near his home town of Vindex before he was graduated from high school and has remained in the radio business as announcer, engineer, salesman, singer and TV repairman ever since.

Loughry had been owner and proprietor of Carl's Radio and Electric shop, Vandergrift, for six years. He was a staff announcer on radio station WAVL, Apollo, Pa., for three years and maintained a program featuring country music until this spring.

He began preparing his application for the Frostburg station during February, 1957, and submitted the application to the FCC July 26, 1957. However, it was not until last week that he received the final okay to build.

Carl describes the program on the infant station as of a variety type. "Of course, there'll be no liquor, cigaret or rock and roll commercials," he said. "But the station will offer a variety of programs, some religious, but not primarily so."

Robert Kerr, Frostburg, will be program director. The Rev. James Raines, pastor of the Meadville Church of God, and formerly of WAVL, will be news director. Loughry will serve in a dual capacity as chief engineer and general manager.

Deep Creek Gets Publicity Long Way From Home

Deep Creek Lake came in for its share of publicity about two weeks ago, although a long way from home.

Appearing in the Machinists' Magazine August 28, published in Washington was the following item:

"From the early entries in this year's Union Fisherman's Bragging Bee, the judges have culled whoppers. The stories all have a fishy flavor but their authors swear they are true.

"John Denkenberger, a member in IAM district 751, Seattle, Wash., wrote how he went fishing. He didn't get a fish. He got the bird!

"Fishing in Deep Creek Lake near Oakland one night while casting for black bass with a black jitterbug I was surprised by a terrific tug on my line.

"After a while I found my pole to be pulling upward, not into the water. Finally I heard a slash near my boat and the line went limp.

"I grabbed up my flashlight and threw the beam on the water and there, sitting on top of the water was a large horned owl.

"While sitting on a tree nearby the owl must have mistaken the plug for a mouse and pounced on it. The plug had two treble hooks and the owl clamped its claws over these hooks and got caught."

Court Opinion

an opening at the junction of Green and Third streets, and a 40 foot drive at the northern end of the lot.

At the trial on August 14 councilmen testified they were of the opinion there was a definite traffic hazard in the area. Two town police and Corporal Sam Conrad of the State Police, also testified to the same effect.

Concerning the complainant's first contention that the action was without jurisdiction by reason of an ordinance July 16, 1923 granting the State Roads Commission easements on Third street, Judge Fraley wrote he felt the contention was without merit for the reason that in the last clause of the ordinance it stated that "nothing should be taken to deprive the Mayor and Town Council of police power over the street."

Judge Fraley pointed out in his opinion that police power was generally held to include reasonable ordinances and acts designed for the protection of public safety or general welfare including elimination of traffic hazards.

He ruled that the town had not divested itself of power and authority to do what it proposed to do to protect safety of the general public.

Judge Fraley also struck down the second contention that the action was "arbitrary and capricious," by declaring that such was not the case here. That the proposed action provided for three entrances for a total of 110 feet out of a total of 246 foot frontage.

The complainant producted business men as witnesses to the effect that no curbing had been placed in front of their properties, but Judge Fraley ruled that they were not comparable situations—that there had been no complaints of traffic hazards there.

Judge Fraley said the court may not agree with the proposed solution but that "action is within authority of the Mayor and Town Council and with no showing of fraud or bad faith, I will not substitute my judgment for that of the municipal authorities."

He ruled the bill of complaint be dismissed.

Nixon proposed cuts in federal taxes on business and persons with high income brackeet to stimulate continued business properity.

Southern Is Blanked In First Game 25-0

Southern High school lost its first football game of the season to Petersburg Vikings. The game was played in 96-degree heat at Petersburg and the final score was 25 to 0.

Wayne Redman tallied two touchdowns on runs of 53 and 50 yards to spark the Viking attack. They gained a total of 259 yards while limiting Southern's backs to 118 yards.

Petersburg, after being blanked in the first quarter, secured three six-pointers in the second quarter and then added another in the third.

Redman started the spree after Petersburg took possession of the ball on its own 30-yard line. The galloping halfback, first Negro to ever enroll at the West Virginia school, took a handoff and headed over the tackle slot and marched 53 yards to the goal line.

Late in the same period Redman again skirted around right end and sped 50 yards for the score. On a 30-yard pass play from Quarterback Bill Reynolds to David Koontz, Petersburg found itself leading 19-0 as the first half closed. After intermission the Vikings struck again. This time it was John Frye who slid off tackle for the game's final tally—a run of 53 yards. One placement was scored after the second touchdown.

Grand Jury Charge Delivered by Judge

Rules and regulations explaining how the grand jurors should conduct their deliberations were outlined by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley on Monday morning as the September term got under way in the court house in Oakland. Following his address the jurors were duly sworn by the bailiff, C. F. Hammond, after which they retired to the grand jury room to begin their investigation of alleged infractions of the laws.

The charge to the grand jury is printed in full below.

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:

You have been selected by the court to serve as Grand Jurors for the September Term of Court which begins today.

It is customary for the Judge of this Court to charge you with reference to your duties, and the procedure you are to follow in your work.

The Grand Jury is of ancient origin and comes down to us from early days in England. Although the institution has been abolished in England and many of the States of this country, here in Maryland it stands as an important part of the administration of criminal justice.

There is a double duty cast upon you as Grand Jurors: a duty to society to see that parties against whom there is a just ground to charge the commission of crime shall be held to answer the charge, and a duty to the citizens to see that he is not subjected to prosecution upon accusations that are not well founded. Whether or not an accused is brought to trial on any charge requiring your attention depends solely upon your determination and no one may even suggest to you what your decision shall be.

Your membership consists of twenty three individuals, twelve or more of your number constituting a quorum, and no presentment or indictment can be found by you unless at least twelve of your number should concur therein. A mere majority of members present at any session will not suffice.

A Grand Jury is an investigating body and has very broad power and authority to investigate and inquire into alleged violations of the criminal laws of this State. Many of the cases that will be brought to your attention will have been investigated by the law enforcement officers of the County. The State's attorney will present these cases to you and you will hear the testimony of the witnesses that the State intends to produce against the accused. It is your duty to decide if the charge is supported by sufficient evidence to warrant the finding of an indictment and that the accused shall stand trial before a petit jury or the Court. Indeed, the oath which you have just taken requires that you "shall diligently inquire, and true presentment make of all such matters which may come before you and that you shall present no person through envy, hatred or malice nor leave anyone unpresented through love, fear, favor or affection, or for any hope or promise or reward."

Your proceedings must be absolutely secret. No disclosures of any kind are to be made concerning your deliberations or how individual members of the jury voted with respect to any charge considered by your body, unless you are directed by the Court to make any such disclosures.

While testimony is being produced before you, the only persons allowed in the Grand Jury room besides your own members, are the State's Attorney and the witness testifying before you.

If an individual juror has knowledge of the commission of a criminal offense that is not brought to your attention by the enforcement officers, it is the duty of such juror to disclose such information. Enforcement of the criminal laws is extremely important and it is incumbent upon the enforcement officers to ever be alert in bringing to justice those guilty of violating our criminal statutes and your body plays an important part in maintaining law and order in the community.

By recent enactments of the Legislature, a person charged with the commission of a criminal offense, may waive indictment by the Grand Jury and also waive his right to a trial by jury and ask that the charge against him be heard promptly by the Court. In such cases the State's Attorney prepares an information and the accused is brought before the Court and his case disposed of promptly. This procedure has materially reduced the number of cases to be heard by the Grand Jury and has resulted in considerable savings to the County.

It is the responsibility and duty of the County Commissioners of the County to see that the public buildings owned by the County are properly maintained and kept in repair. It is the custom for the Grand Jury to inspect these properties and make such recommendations relating thereto as seem proper and desirable. You will be furnished with a copy of the March Term Grand Jury report and you should investigate to learn whether or not its recommendations have been carried out.

The State's Attorney, Sheriff and other officers will be available to you at all times during your sessions to assist you in the performance of your duties.

The Clerk will now swear the bailiff, who will conduct you to the Grand Jury room.

Beall Makes Reply On Route 40 Issue

Senator J. Glenn Beall stated this week that Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler was misinformed or was "misrepresenting the facts" when Butler attacked Beall in a speech at Cumberland last week.

Butler, speaking at an Allegany County Democratic rally last Thursday declared that Senator Beall had not worked hard enough to get U. S. route 40 between Hancock and Washington, Pa., into the Interstate Highway system.

Senator Beall said: "Mr. Butler either was misinformed, doesn't understand, or deliberately misrepresented the facts."

He said it was the previous Maryland administration (Democratic) that caused the Western Maryland segment of U. S. 40 to be dropped from the Interstate system in the planning stage.

"The present Republican administration in the state has made repeated efforts to get route 40 west of Hancock into the Interstate System," said Sen. Beall.

He said he has done everything possible toward this end, but has been blocked by Pennsylvania's refusal to go along with the idea. When the Interstate System was approved by Congress, it included U. S. 40 only as far west as Hancock, from where traffic would go north on U. S. 522 to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Sen. Beall said both the Maryland State Roads commission and the West Virginia State Roads commission have worked with him to get the western leg of the route included in the system.

The U. S. Bureau of Roads, he said, remains powerless to change the route without the agreement of Pennsylvania.

Sen. Beall blamed the former State Roads Commission headed by Robert M. Reindollar for allowing U. S. 40 to be dropped from the nation-wide federal aid program when it was in the planning stage.

Since then, he said, the present state roads commission and others in the state's Republican administration have made every effort to get back what was lost.

Reports For Football

Joseph Bender, a junior at Western Maryland college, was among the 54 players who reported for fall football camp at Westminster. Bender, Grantsville resident, will play at the position of tackle.

The Western Maryland Terrors make their first 1958 grid appearance against Bridgewater college on September 27, in Westminister.

ACTIVE IN PROGRAM—Jerry Paugh, Deer Park, specializes in the production of good quality beef calves on his 140 acre farm near Deep Creek Lake. He has 24 beef-type cows, mostly Hereford, and he has six dairy cows which he keeps mostly for the home milk supply. A flock of 700 laying hens helps to balance out his year-around income. Mr. and Mrs. Paugh have two children, Michael Allen, 16 months, and Donna Louise, age 3 months. The family is active in the Garrett County Farming for Better Living program. Paugh is shown above discussing his farming operations with Barry Carr, assistant county agent, during a lull in his hay making operations. He has the assistance of his three nephews, Robert and James Owendoff, Washington, D. C., and Donald Uphold, Deer Park, each summer in his farming operations. Donald is on the hay wagon.

Gortner Reports On Fair At Lions Club

H. G. Gortner, president of the Garrett County Fair association gave a report on the activities of the fair at the last meeting of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club Monday evening. Mr. Gortner traced the progress made over the past two years.

The Lions club members announced a car lift beginning this week in order to allow additional students to play football. Three Lions club members each evening will go to the high school at six o'clock to furnish trasportation to football candidates who live in outlying districts.

Volunteer workers of the club and others were at the boy scout camp Sunday completing the construction work on the barracks. Windows were placed, doors were hung, septic tank installed and a partition between the shower room and barracks was started. Volunteer workmen not members of the club assisted in the work. They were Clarence Long, Dan Friend, Bud Sliger, Harland Paugh and Ed. Kitzmiller. It is the plan of the club members to get the building sealed in before winter.

It was announced that there was an error in the information furnished on the eye glasses. The proceeds from the sale of brooms will furnish examination and glasses to some 30 children and not 300 as stated last week. The money will be turned over to the health department.

Senate Internal Security subcommittee said that "Communist activity on a regional basis in U. S. is well organized and highly conspiratorial."

That girl at the blackboard is Ellen Blake. She is a sixth grade student at Fairview Heights School, and she has just written my name. I'm the new teacher—Mary Thomas.

Being a teacher is a big job. Each Sunday I say a special prayer for guidance in my work. But I am well aware that the task of training these children for good citizenship is one I can't possibly accomplish alone.

This is a wonderful age, but it is often terrifying. There are so many diversions, so many activities and so much knowledge that seem apart from the Church. And yet God created everything, and God's love is universal. Today's children need help that only the Greatest Teacher of all can give them. They need the teachings of the Church, and a firm basis of Faith.

I'm gratified when I see so many of my students at church with their parents. The Church needs all; all need the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

God In Business

Lesson for September 14, 1958

WHERE can we find God? In church, yes; in the great out-of-doors, yes. In prayer in the quiet room, or under the mighty far-off stars. God is everywhere.

But is God in business? We don't mean, is God doing business? He always is, of course. We mean, is God in the business life of our time? Is he on the stock exchange, is he in attendance at board meetings of great corporations, is he in the little country stores, is he in horse trades or on used-car lots? "The Economy" is a phrase used so often nowadays that even teen-agers must know in general what it means. "The Economy" is today's jargon for all the financial doings that keep our industrial and agricultural wheels going, the word includes those four pillars of all business anywhere any time: production, marketing, accounting and finance. Is God in the economy of America?

Dr. Foreman

Simple Honesty

Now it might be that not a reader of this column is a "business man." For all that, every reader is engaged in business some way or other part of the time. "Money isn't everything, but money's into everything." If we live, breathe and eat groceries, we are connected, more or less, with the vast web of buying, selling, owning, renting, earning, spending (yes and wasting, which is economics gone mad), all of which we lump together under the head of "The Economy" or just "economic life." Let us think not of something big, something a congressman might plan for. Let us think of economics on Main Street, at the supermarket, on the bus, maybe our few dollars at the bank. Let's forget about the hundred-dollar bills and think about small change.

Are we honest about all these things? Does our religion affect the way we price what we have to sell (if only a few eggs or bales of hay)? Do we make honest statements about what we buy and sell? The command of God is: "Thou shall not steal." Nothing said about "Thou shalt not steal a whole lot," or "Thou shalt not steal unless thou canst get by with it"! Taking any kind of advantage of any other person (or corporation, for that matter) so that they are the poorer for what you did, is stealing.

Is it a sin to be rich?

There are so many condemnations of rich people in the Bible, that some readers of it have the impression that God condemns rich people just because they are rich. This is not true. A more careful reading shows that whenever a wealthy person is denounced in the name of God, is isn't because of his wealth, by itself. There are too many highly-praised persons of wealth in the Bible to allow us to believe that wealth is a sin, period. The point is not: How much do you have? or, What is the amount, in dollars, which is the limit a good Christian can have? The point is: How did you get what you have? Jesus' brother James calls down doom on certain rich farmers, not because they had money but because their wealth was gained by underpaying their hired men. Making money by making men poor is stealing, and sin.

Is this spirit possible?

Saint Peter gives us what is better than a rule: he tells us the right kind of spirit that a Christian ought to have. Our gifts, he writes, are to be employed "for one another;" service is to be rendered in such as to glorify God. We all feel that this is the right spirit for "church work." But is it practicable to take this same spirit into business, into our economic life? Is it possible, in business transactions, to serve one another for the glory of God? This is a vital question. If we have to say No, it is not practicable, then we are saying that we can be Christian only in our leisure time, not our workingtime. If we want to live as Christians around the clock, throughout the week, then we shall have to think out ways in which we can carry this spirit of devotion to God and man into the dollars-and-cents world. Can it be done? Each reader is challenged to make the experiment.

JOSEPH'S TRAINING IN EGYPT

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS!

Have you ever been far away from home and all alone? Then you can understand how Joseph must have felt when he saw his father's tents in the distance as his captors journeyed with him southward toward Egypt. For the first time in his life, Joseph was on his own. If you were Joseph what would you have done under these circumstances? Wept? Certainly! Afraid? Most surely! However, Joseph turned to God as his father Jacob had done when he was in trouble, and the Lord did not disappoint him.

In Egypt he was sold to Potiphar, captain of Pharaoh's guard, and we read that "his master saw that the Lord was with him and that the Lord made all that he did to prosper in his hand, and he (Potiphar) made him overseer over his house". And we read further that, "from the time that he had made him overseer..the Lord blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake."

Joseph was a handsome young man, and one day while he was doing his work, Potiphar's wife, a wicked woman, tried her best to entice him to sin, but Joseph said to her: "How can I do this great wickedness and sin against God?" And we read that he "fled and got him out." Do you stay around those who try to tempt you to do wrong or do you, like Joseph, flee from them? Joseph knew what the consequences would be if he refused, but the Lord helped him to say "No", and because he did not yield to her wishes, Potiphar's wife caused him to be thrown into prison. Did Joseph become bitter or blame God? Not at all! We read that "the Lord was with Joseph... and gave him favour in the sight of the keeper of the prison," who put him in charge of "all the prisoners that were in the prison."

Why did God permit all the above hard experiences to come to Joseph who was a good boy and tried to do what is right, you ask? It was necessary for him to go through the university of hard knocks, but the Bible tells us that he graduated with high honors. You see, God was training Joseph for a great work, and while God did not hinder the working of these wicked people, He overruled it all to Joseph's good. In Potiphar's house he was brought in contact with the great men of Egypt, which was a very valuable and necessary training for Joseph's future work in that mighty kingdom; and what he saw in prison—the results of injustice, and the effects of crime—prepared him to exercise justice, sympathy, and mercy when he was made prime minister of the greatest empire of that time.

Have you sometimes wondered, boys and girls, why so many heartbreaks come your way when you are trying so hard to do what is right? Then remember Joseph, who remained true in spite of everything, and who successfully passed the severe tests and went on to greater heights of accomplishments in his service for others.

I Am an American and Constitution Day

(Combined with Maryland Defenders' Day)

Sunday, September 14

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, the privilege of being a citizen of the United States was never more highly esteemed than in these critical days, and

WHEREAS, Sunday, September 14, 1958, has been set aside as combined I AM AN AMERICAN-CONSTITUTION AND MARYLAND DEFENDERS' DAY, the patriotic observance of which is intended to bring home to all of our people the special significance of citizenship in these times, and awaken in us renewed appreciation of the privileges and blessings we enjoy as American citizens, and

WHEREAS, our country as a whole and our community as well, have been enriched by the naturalization of many who have come to us from other lands to realize their dreams of liberty and opportunity; and by the coming of age of our native-born youth who now add their strength to the cause of upholding the principles of liberty, right and justice which form the basis of our free government,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as Mayor of Grantsville, Maryland, do proclaim Sunday, September 14, 1958, as I AM AN AMERICAN, CONSTITUTION & MARYLAND DEFENDERS' DAY, in Grantsville, Maryland, and urge that our citizens observe the day fittingly and in true patriotic fervor, and attend, if possible, the great American Day parade in Baltimore at 2 P. M. on this day. Let us by appropriate meetings and programs, give solemn evidence that we realize the priceless worth of our citizenship; that we recognize the debt we owe those generations before us who have fought to win and retain the blessings we now enjoy. Let us proclaim to the world and to the thousands of other communities throughout the nation, assembled as we will be, our loudest boast—

"I Am An American"

Given under my hand and seal of the City of Grantsville, Maryland, this second day of September, 1958.

Grantsville Ball Team Misses Finals

Grantsville Sluggers lost a 2-0 thriller to Zihlman at Grantsville Sunday to eliminate the county nine from the play-offs.

Zihlman ended the regular season in fourth place. Its opponent in the five-game series play-off will be Barrelville. Barrell finished the regular season in third place but defeated Hyndman 6 to 4 in a 10-inning battle to beat out the champions.

Zihlman won its third and deciding semi-final game from Grantsville as Haberlein twirled a four-hitter. Bobby Dawson took the loss although he twirled a five-hitter.

Zihlman went to the finals after the third inning when Warnick singled and Diehl followed with a fly-ball out to left. Jack Anderson reached base on an error and was followed by Ken Johnson's single, scoring Warnick and sending Anderson to third.

Then Johnny Johnson sent a roller back to the mound to be fielded by Dawson who hesitated before he made the play to first and allowed all hands to be safe and the second run to score. Grantsville missed the services of slugging Junie Perry who was limited to a ground-out pinch-hitting role in the ninth. Perry suffered a badly swollen thumb in a game Friday. Keister also injured in a collision in the fifth, withdrew from the contest in the sixth inning.

Collections amounted to $24,153.79 with $773.90 from water, $17,027.90, from taxes; and $6,351.99 from miscellaneous. Among miscellaneous items were $942.87 from parking meters, $1,171.53 from bank stock tax, $2,422.36 from gasoline tax, $1,229.47 motor vehicle revenue fund.

Expenditures amounted to $18,976.27 which included $1,053.91 for street labor, $1,191.04 for street supplies, $2,714.49 for water department capital outlay, $2,159.25 for street department capital outlay; $1,695 for payment and interest on water farm; $3,060 for water bonds and coupons, and $2,000 for fire department.

James Hutchinson, new manager of Eastern States, and Baity Ridder asked for improvement to 8th street and the street committee promised to make an investigation. Sunday movie tax amounted to $72.25.

There was some discussion over adjustment of water and sewer lines in the area of East Oakland Where U. S. 219 is under improvement.

Canny young local couple takes advantage of year's lowest prices

Bob and Pat Dunning had put off buying a car. Budget. Wanted to see what would happen.

Last week as Bob, a commercial artist, was driving to work he noted a sign in a Plymouth dealership reading, "End-of-Model Clearance Sale. Lowest Prices of the Year." . . . "Just," as he says, "for the fun of it," he stopped his car and went in. Chatted with a Plymouth salesman. Couldn't believe his ears.

Conformity? .....

Do the most of us want to conform in these times rather than to show initiative? Some editorial comment on this matter attracted our attention recently. It declared:

"Those who still regard the United States as the land of 'get up and go' may be taken aback to hear that American youth has 'less initiative' than European young people.

"In Montreal recently some 350 students from nine European countries who had spent a year at U. S. universities and were returning by sea to their homelands delivered this surprising verdict. Most of them came from lands that since the last war have made a fetish of welfare and cradle-to-the-grave pampering and so might have been expected to recognize initiative when they saw it.

"That they saw less of this desirable quality in their hosts than they believed they themselves possessed rather turns the tables. The land once famous for its rugged and often violent individualism is apparently producing young people who prefer the comforts of prosperity to the rigors of adventure.

"Initiative, at least in the economic field, is usually the result of the pressure of necessity or the beckoning of ambition. The first has been lacking in the lives of American university students these last few years and the second unnecessary. With scouts from the giant corporations hovering on the campus looking for talent as graduation days approach and offering a starting salary of as much a month as the graduate's father would have been glad to get a year in the 'hungry thirties' there is not much call for initiative.

"Initiative is the product of competitive struggle, and as far as the individual is concerned there has been little of that these last 15 years. As the prime ingredient for success it has been replaced by conformity."

There is a bright spot, however. Students throughout the country are beginning to turn their thoughts to "tougher" courses, educators say. Maybe they have had enough of this conformity and once again are wanting to strike out on their own. We hope the trend continues.

Democrats Ahead In Registration Figures

Democrats have far outnumbered Republicans in registration during the past several weeks.

Figures released by Russell L. Smith, chief registrar of the Board of Supervisors of Elections show that 91 persons registered Democratic compared to 14 who registered Republican. There was one independent. Two Democrats changed their affiliation to Republican, while 12 Republicans changed their affiliation to Democratic. The fugures do not include registrations in the office itself, but only those in the special areas listed during the past three weeks.

Jury Awards $34,000 In Spoerlein Case

A Circuit court jury on Tuesday awarded Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spoerlein $34,000 for their property at Gortner, in a condemnation case brought by the State Roads commission.

The commission had deposited $29,000 in the office of the clerk of the Circuit court some time ago as a fair amount for the property but Mr. and Mrs. Spoerlein did not accept this figure. In a reply they said the sum "did not represent fair value of the property," and also said that the sum "was inadequate, insufficient and unfair."

The attorney for the Spoerleins had argued that somewhere between $38,000 and $39,000 would be considered a fair market value for the property which included 1.43 acres of ground, upon which eight buildings had been erected. The property was operated as a chicken farm.

The property is being taken by the State Roads Commission to make way for the widening and improvement of U. S. route 219.

John M. Jarboe was foreman of the jury in the case.

Mr. Hawkins said the board planned to submit this project for bids around November 1, in order to have it completed in time for the 1959 school session. He said the project would cost approximately $60,000 and that the money would be secured from the State School Construction fund.

Mr. Hawkins reported that little had been done on the band room at Southern High during the past month but that the roof steel was expected by the end of the week. The building is expected to be completed approximately thirty days after the steel has been received.

Schools To Return To Standard Time Monday, Sept. 29

Members of the Board of Education, at a regular meeting on Tuesday, voted unanimously to return all schools to Standard time as of Monday, September 29, with the exception of Bloomington, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

Mr. Hawkins said no provision could be made for the children going to Bloomington school to be transported other than on the buses that are transporting the Bruce High school children, where school will remain on Daylight time until the last Sunday in October.

Hawkins said the board felt that no good purpose was served by continuing Daylight time through October when children "were forced to get out to their buses almost before it became light in the morning."

The county officially has remained on standard time all summer, but most of the incorporated towns have been operating on daylight time. The time would automatically be returned to standard time the last Sunday in September unless under special action of the various city councils.

Allegany county passed a motion last week to continue daylight time until the last Sunday in October, to conform, the Allegany commissioners said, to Baltimore, Washington and a number of Maryland counties and nearby Pennsylvania which had also extended the time.

Mayor Russell Smith of Oakland, indicated yesterday that the town did not expect to take any further action on the time question, and that automatically it would revert to standard time on Sunday morning, September 28, at 2 o'clock.

Other incorporated towns of the county were expected to follow suit.

On Saturday after preparing breakfast and policing the area, there will be advancement work for camping and cooking requirements, after which there will be a swap circle and individual swapping of items.

The rifle and bow shooting contest will be held at 1:30 and camp will close at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Cub scouts and their dads will have their dinner at the camp and remain for the camp fire Friday evening. Others will remain overnight.

Food and equipment are to be furnished by individual scouts. Rifles, bows, targets, etc., will be furnished by Potomac Council.

Gun Explodes; Boy Injures Nose, Face

Bobbie Hinebaugh, 19, son of Albert Hinebaugh, of Deer Park, was injured last Saturday afternoon when a gun exploded, a portion of the mechanism piercing his nose and causing injury to his cheekbone.

The gun was of Japanese make, of World War II make, and Hinebaugh was said to have been unaware that the gun had been fixed for souvenir purposes and was not capable of firing a bullet. When he attempted to fire it the bolt blew off in his face.

He was taken to Broaddus hospital at Philippi, W. Va., by P. G. Arnold on Saturday evening where the wound was dressed. He was returned to the hospital this week for examination.

DIDN'T QUITE MAKE IT—Two Fairmont flyers were hospitalized last Thursday when they failed to get up enough speed to carry them over the trees, in a take-off from a wheat field near Hutton, and crashed to the ground when their motor stalled. Injured were Robert Cumpston, 22, and Richard Graves, 25. Both were released from the hospital the following day. They were reportedly enroute to this area to sell their Piper Cup coupe. Needless to say, the sale was not consummated.—Photo by The Republican.

Two Are Injured In County Plane Crash

Two young men of Fairmont, W. Va., were injured last Thursday afternoon when their light airplane Piper Cub Coupe, crashed while taking off from a pasture field near Hutton.

State Police said the accident occurred about 2 p. m. one mile north of Hutton, near state route 39, on the farm of Gordon Ray Gank.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital were Robert Hall Cumpston, 22, of 211 Chestnut street, Fairmont, with lacerations of face, mouth, both knees, and chest contusions; and Richard Robert Graves, 25, of 1150 Avalon Road, Fairmont, who sustained brush burns of the body and chest contusions.

Both men were in good condition and were released from the hospital the following day.

Tfc. D. A. Tucker investigated the crash. He reported that Mr. Graves was piloting the 1958 cub from Fairmont to Oakland with Mr. Cumpston as a passanger. The pilot intended to land at McHenry field at Deep Creek but became confused in his directions and set the plane down in a pasture belonging to Robert Clayton Bowser. After obtaining directions to McHenry from Mr. Bowser the two men taxied the aircraft to the edge of the large field and attempted to take off.

Moments after the plane was airborne it swerved sharply to the left in an apparent attempt to avoid a number of trees, then stalled and crashed nose first into the ground. The front end of the plane and the propellor were demolished and both wings damaged. The plane was removed the following day.

Commissioners Move To Control Rabies

Steps were taken by the County Commissioners this week to assure control of rabies within the Table Rock area of the county.

A new case of rabies in a dog was diagnosed at the Live Stock Sanitary Service laboratory in Oakland this week. The dog was from the Table Rock area. No one was known to have been exposed, it was stated.

But the Commissioners moved this week to attempt voluntary control otherwise they let it be known by advertisement in this week's issue of The Republican, that the department of agriculture would place an official quarantine upon the areas involved.

The Commissioners asked that dogs be placed on leash, that all strays be eliminated and that dogs be vaccinated against rabies.

They also asked for control of wild animals, especially foxes, since they are considered a reservoir for the disease. They also asked that a report to authorities should be made of all suspicious acting dogs or other wild animals.

A fox thought to have been rabid, was run over and killed Wednesday morning on the north edge of Oakland. The fox never moved from its position in the middle of the road as it stood and waited for the oncoming automobile.

The Health Department suggested that any dog suspected of having rabies should be impounded for observation for at least 24 hours. Where there is a known exposure to an individual the dog should be impounded for ten days.

Dogs suspected of having rabies should not be killed unless it is impossible to impound the dog without undue hazard to the person making the attempt to impound.

To the Citizens of Garrett County

I have been getting several inquiries concerning the law which places a limit of $25,000 upon the amount of money the Commissioners can lawfully spend for roads machinery in any one year. The impression seems to be that this is a law that was recently passed. The truth is the law was passed 'way back in 1945. I was not your Senator at that time and it is not my law. The controlling part of the law reads as follows:

"WHEN DEEMED NECESSARY OR ADVISABLE TO PURCHASE TRUCKS OR OTHER ROAD BUILDING EQUIPMENT IT SHALL NOT BE NECESSARY FOR THE COMMISSIONERS TO ADVERTISE FOR BIDS ON THE SAME BUT THEY SHALL MAKE ALL DUE AND REASONABLE EFFORT TO PURCHASE SAME AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE. EXCEPT WHERE EQUIPMENT CAN BE OBTAINED TO THE ADVANTAGE OF THE COUNTY BY PURCHASE AT PUBLIC OR FORCED SALES THEY SHALL CIRCULARIZE LOCAL OR OTHER DEALERS HANDLING THE TYPE OF EQUIPMENT NEEDED, GIVING ALL SPECIFICATIONS AND REQUIREMENTS, AND SAID COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ARE HEREBY AUTHORIZED TO TRADE IN OLD EQUIPMENT ON NEW PURCHASES WITHOUT ASKING FOR BIDS WHENEVER THEY DEEM SAME ADVISABLE OR EXPEDIENT. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, THAT SAID COUNTY COMMISSIONERS SHALL NOT EXPEND MORE THAN $25,000.00 FOR ROAD MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT IN ANY ONE YEAR."

It will be noticed that the law has a provision for trading in old equipment on new equipment, and therefore it is not necessary to keep the old equipment insofar as the law is concerned. Nevertheless, no new road equipment has been purchased recently. I have the Auditors' report covering purchases for 1957, and it lists the following:

1 Rodgers ten wheel trailer	$ 150.00
1946 Chevrolet truck	450.00
6x6 GMC (Army) dump truck	2,156.32
6x6 GMC (Army) dump truck	2,156.33
1955 Diamond "T" dump truck	4,000.00

It will be noticed that all the trucks and other road machinery that was bought in 1957 were second handed. It would appear that new trucks could have been had by trading in the old ones as part payment without expending any more money than was expended for second handed trucks.

I have never received any request that the law be changed to increase the amount of money that could be lawfully used each year for equipment. The facts are, the limitation of $25,000.00 has been mostly ignored, and the outlays for equipment have greatly exceeded that amount.

I feel grateful to the Grand Jury for calling attention to the heavy expenditures of over $100,000.00, for repairs on the hundred or more old trucks and motors and machines that have been accumulated. I heartily concur in the recommendation that the law should be restudied and the amount raised to a reasonable figure. At the same time I feel that since the limitation of $25,000.00 was not obeyed it has been mainly a matter of administration and raising the amount in the law will not necessarily stop them from buying old trucks. I will do everything possible to make sure that new equipment is obtained in order to eliminate these heavy outlays for repairs.

If the law is changed, I believe it should require that bids must be obtained from dealers selling the equipment needed. However, such a requirement in the law would probably operate to our disadvantage when trading in old equipment on new. If I go back to Annapolis, I will consult with our responsible officials and interested citizens before making the required changes in the law.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC From The County Commissioners Of Garrett County, Maryland

Garrett county has a very serious problem with the number of rabies cases which have developed and unless voluntary measures are made by the Garrett county residents to control this outbreak, it will be necessary for the State Department of Agriculture to place an official quarantine upon the areas involved. We ask that each and every resident of the county cooperate in the voluntary control by observing the following measures which have been recommended by Dr. F. D. Custer, local veterinarian.

RABIES CONTROL

1. Control movement of dogs:
   A. License and leash dogs.
   B. Strays should be eliminated.
2. Vaccinate dogs against Rabies. (Present vaccines are effective and safe.)
3. Control wild animals, especially foxes, as they are a reservoir for rabies.
4. Report any suspicious acting dog or wild animal to authorities.

HOME FIRST AID FOR ANIMAL BITES

As soon as possible, the bite wounds should be washed in soapy water. (Strong laundry soap or tincture of green soap are best.) Wash and soak the wound in this warm soapy water for as much as 20 minutes. It is important to remember that this is only a good home remedy, and the person bitten should contact his physician or health department as soon as possible.

HANDLING OF DOGS SUSPECTED OF HAVING RABIES

A dog suspected of having rabies (when no known exposures have occurred) should be impounded for observation for at least 24 hours.

With known exposure to people or animals, the dog should be impounded for 10 days. If no symptoms develop in that time the exposed person or animals need not take prophylactic treatment.

No dog having clinical symptoms of rabies should be killed unless there are positively no known exposures and it is impossible to impound the dog without undue hazard to the person making the attempt to impound.

To Play With Colonials

Norman Groves, a 230-pound sophomore tackle will see action this fall with the George Washington University Colonials.

The twenty-year-old athlete, who excelled in sports at Keyser High school, stands six foot four and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin L. Groves, of Keyser, formerly of Swanton.

Married Recently In Oakland

Miss Norma Jean Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Lee of Oakland, became the bride of Noel W. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darl G. Robinson, Bridgeport, W. Va., on Sunday, August 24 at 2 o'clock in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland. Rev. Richard C. Rife, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Morgantown, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar of white lilies, chrysanthemums and lighted candelabra.

At the organ for a suite of nuptial airs was Mrs. Donald Sincell. She also accompanied Frank DeWitt who sang "I Love You Truly," "O Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a waltz length gown of French lace over taffeta. The scalloped neckline was trimmed with clipped lace and sequins as was the swirling, scalloped hemline. Her finger-tip veil of imported illusion fell from a small cap embroidered with clipped lace, seed pearls, sequins and a droplet of crystal over the brow. She carried a white Bible topped with a lace handkerchief of her maternal grandmother, a purple lipped orchid, satin streamers and rose buds. Her jewelry was a triple strand of cultured pearls and earrings, a gift of the groom.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Elsie Dinsmore. She wore a ballerina length gown of white dotted swiss over pale blue taffeta, with long blue matching mitts and carried a colonial bouquet of small summer flowers.

Lowell Robinson served his brother as best man while Lyle Lee, brother of the bride and Daniel Hawkins, fraternity brother of the groom, were the ushers.

For her daughters's wedding, Mrs. Lee chose a lavender chiffon dress with matching accessories and wore a red rosebud corsage. The groom's mother wore navy print with black accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the William James Hotel. There the serving table was decorated with white candles and a wedding cake which was surrounded with carnations and greenery.

The tiered cake was cut by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Gordon Sanders. At the punch bowl was Mrs. William Rinehart, Jr., sorrity sister of the bride. Mrs. Gene Liller circulated the guest book. Mrs. Harry Kammerer served as an aide.

The bride chose as her going away costume a lime green suit with white accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are residing at 33 River St. Westover, W. Va.

The bride is a graduate of Oakland High School and Morgantown Business College. She is employed at Auto Parts Company, Inc., Morgantown. She is a member of Pi Rho Zeta, national honorary business sorority.

Mr. Robinson was graduated from Washington Irving High School, Clarksburg and is a student at West Virginia University, majoring in mechanical engineering.

FFBL MEMBER HAS DIVERSIFIED INCOME—Income on the Hobart Harvey farm in the Sand Flat area of Garrett county is diversified. While the production of "Grade A" milk from 20 cows is the regular income on this farm, 400 hens produce market eggs and 15 beef cows raise calves to market each year. The Harveys operate two farms—one of 130 acres and another of 237 acres—near Deer Park. The latter is mostly woods, with some pasture. In an effort to live better by farming, the Harveys have regularly enrolled in the Garrett County Farming for Better Living contest for the past several years. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey have two children at home—David, 19 years old, and Wanda Lee, 21 years. Their four married children have eight children of their own.

Social Security Changes Bring Bigger Payments

The Social Security Admendments of 1958 made important changes. Monthly payments are to be greater. The increase is to be added to the January check, scheduled for mailing early in February. No application is necessary for this increase.

Wilmer E. Dunn, social security representative, Cumberland, pointed out that 1,315 persons in this county were receiving social security benefits monthly at a total rate of $55,449, the yearly total being $665,388. He said the total monthly figures would be increased in January, 1959, by seven percent. Effective January, 1959, the total benefits would be $59,330 monthly or $711,960 yearly.

Persons becoming disabled after working long enough under the law, may receive monthly payments at age 50. Payments may also go to children under 18, to children age 18 or older who have been disabled since before they reached 18, to a wife regardless of age if she has in her care a child who is getting payments and to a wife at 62 even if there are no children receiving payments.

Mohamed Chagla, 58, was named India's ambassador to the United States.

IN THE TRUNK

. . . the one with Granny's Great-Grandmother's stuff! That bundle of old letters! It's the envelopes I would like to buy. Particularly those used between 1845 and 1895. Should you have any I'd be pleased to hear from you. PAUL P. GLENN, Purchaser of old U. S. Stamps and Envelopes, Spring Mount, Pa.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It was autumn, and as we looked out at the beauty of the valley Bruce asked me to marry him. Though I loved him, I was afraid to say yes.

I've always been a church-going person. Bruce wasn't. I knew that before I could marry him I would have to show him how much the Church meant to me. I asked him if he would start attending Sunday service with me.

He did; and in the beginning I knew that he was coming only to please me. Then, as time went on, I could see that the Church was beginning to have a new meaning for him. And finally the day came when he turned to me and said, "I had no idea what I had been missing."

That was the turning point. Bruce and I have been married five years, now—and you'll still find both of us in church each Sunday.

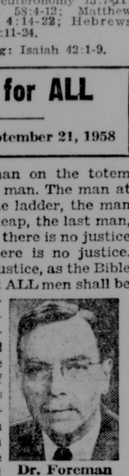
Justice for ALL

Lesson for September 21, 1958

THE LAST man on the totem pole is still a man. The man at the bottom of the ladder, the man underneath the heap, the last man, the least man: if there is no justice for him then there is no justice. For the ideal of justice, as the Bible upholds it, is that ALL men shall be treated with fairness, and more—with consideration, pity and helpfulness in the name of God. If everybody gets fair treatment except the bottom layer, then when you who have been fortunate all these years slip into that bottom layer you will discover there was not so much justice as you thought. In Mark Twain's story "The Prince and the Pauper" the prince thought everything was smooth and fine; but when he changed places with the pauper and looked at things from the seamy side, he could not find justice anywhere.



Dr. Foreman

Who they are

So-called justice which only "divides the spoil with the strong" and leaves no share for the weak, is only so-called. It is precisely the persons who cannot fight for themselves, the little people without votes, the unimportant people, the forgotten and obscure, those who live and die in the shadows, it is precisely these whom a true and Christian justice will not forget. The strong will get their share and more besides if they can get by with it. It is the weak who need protection and defense.

The Bible lines them up for us, and a sorry rag-tag lot they are to look at. Here is the poor man who needs a loan and (as everybody knows) will never be able to pay it back. Here are the people so poor that they cannot buy food, but have to live on the wheat they pick up from somebody else's harvest field, the grapes they pick off some land-owner's vines. Here is the family uprooted, wanderers on the face of the earth, without home or job. Here are the nameless, faceless people totally obscure, for whom history has no name except in the lump—"the multitudes." Here are the sick people too poor to have a doctor; here is a woman some doctor has made poor. Here are the people in prison, here is a beggar shivering at the back door.

What they need

Of course, such helpless people need not have been so helpless if perhaps society had been differently organized, or if there had been better laws. Such desperate situations ought to be prevented in the first place, to be sure. For example: it has not been a lifetime since there were beggars on all roads. The tramp and the hobo were common sights. Now how long is it since you have seen a tramp? How many beggars do you know by sight? The reason why we have fewer beggars now even in a depression than we used to have even in times of prosperity is partly due to the fact that the man who lost his job in hard times used to have nothing; now he draws unemployment insurance. Prevention of poverty is much easier than curing it. Nevertheless, with all the prevention we have the wit and the courage to provide, we still have the problem cases, the hopeless and helpless ones.

Forgotten Folk

It is not only individuals who have run into personal hard times who need help, but whole groups and classes of people in trouble, need more help, more fair treatment, than they usually receive. There are, for example, the people in the mental hospitals of America, a half million of them at a recent count. Unless your state is a most unusual one, such patients in your state do not have nearly enough doctors, nurses, attendants, or attention. Then consider that for every patient who can get into a mental hospital, even the understaffed, overcrowded ones we have, there are numbers of others who cannot be admitted. What is being done for these people by your church, your community, your state? Or consider juvenile delinquents, or adult lawbreakers on parole. Does your community ignore these bottom-rung derelicts, or does it do anything to help them, or to prevent their being derelicts?

Southern Is Loser at Moorefield 34-0

Southern High school will attempt to mark up its first football victory of the season this Friday in the opening home game against the West Virginia School for the Deaf, from Romney.

Southern lost to Moorefield Yellow Jackets last Friday afternoon at Moorefield by a 34 to 0 score. It was the second straight loss for Southern, having lost to Petersburg the week before 25 to 0.

Jimmy Paugh passed to Forrest Barr for two of the Jackets' five touchdowns and kicked four extra points in five tries.

Moorefield scored three times in the second period. After Jimmy Paugh recovered a Southern fumble on the Southern 15-yard stripe, Thorn went over from the two. Midway in the period Marlin Evans scooped up a Southern fumble and ran 30 yards to score. Paugh set up another score when he intercepted a pass on the 25 and ran to the 15. Calhoun tallied several plays later.

In the last quarter Moorefield marched 60 yards to the Oakland 20 from where Paugh passed to Barr for the final six-pointer.

Playing for Oakland were T. Colaw, Kelley, R. Colaw, Sanders, Friend, White, Haines, Stuck, Mason, Butler and Callis.

Open Air Burning Is Now Restricted

The fall season fire law restricting open-air burning to the hours between 4 p. m., and midnight outside incorporated towns went into effect throughout Maryland at midnight Sunday.

The law is effective annually from Septemer 15 to December 15, inclusive, and through the months of March, April and May. It prohibits "all open-air burning within 200 feet of woodland or of inflammable material that could carry to woodland, except 4 p. m. and midnight EST except on days when the ground is covered with snow."

Also all open-air burning within the prescribed limits must at all seasons of the year meet the following protection standards: a firebreak 10 feet wide and free of inflammable material, completely around the material to be burned; adequate personnel and equipment to prevent the fire from escaping; a responsible person at the location until the last spark is out.

NOW QUALANTITY SAVINGS

on life insurance—

Qualantity Savings is a philosophy of fairness, developed by The Family Fraternity . . . a new rate structure that means real, not imaginary, dollar savings on life insurance protection. With Qualantity Savings, when the quantity of protection goes up, the rate per thousand goes down, and the quality of the life insurance protection is better than ever before . . . with new, liberal accidental death benefits and other new features.

Here's how Qualantity Savings puts money in your pocket:

At age 30, for $2,000 whole life insurance, under the new rate structure, you save $3.89 per thousand over the annual rate for $1,000, a total savings of $7.78 per year. For $3,000 of exactly the same insurance, you save $5.19 per thousand . . . $15.67 a year. With Qualantity Savings, by purchasing a $10,000 certificate you save $7.00 per thousand . . . an annual saving of $70. For any and all kinds of term, whole life, limited payment, and endowment coverages, similar savings apply. Your local Woodmen Representative will be happy to explain this new concept in life insurance to you.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Report to the People

This will be the last of my bimonthly reports to the people on this session of Congress. It covers congressional events and items of interest to the 6th Maryland District for the months of July and August.

The 85th Congress was notable and fruitful. The second session was the first to deal with the new problems of the Age of Space and to reorganize the Department of Defense. The Congress was notable for what it did, as well as for what it did not do.

A major disappointment to the people of my Congressional District was the failure of the House Interior Committee to report out the C & O Canal National Historical Park bill. Conservationists and others throughout the Nation were also disappointed in this neglect. They are aware that its importance transcends the limits of our own area. They know, as we do, that the C & O Canal would make a fine addition to our system of National Parks and would fill a need in the Eastern United States.

SOME NATIONAL ISSUES

The Nation's economic stability is basic to every problem we face. In the May issue of my bimonthly reports we predicted a turn in the economic tide which today's events are providing to be true. This recovery is the real thing and I feel certain that Fall will see us well on our way to sound economic stability.

FEDERAL-STATE RELATIONS

The people of my Congressional District have a stake and a great interest in Federal-State relations. I am not a doctrinaire states righter, but I believe our freedoms are threatened by Supreme Court decisions which tend to weaken our system of sovereign states. I worked for a House-passed bill deigned to clarify the relation of Federal and State laws on the same subject which do not conflict and which can stand together and be mutually enforceable and administered. The bill, H. R. 3, states that Federal law will not strike down a State law unless Congress expressly says so in the Federal law, or unless they conflict so that they cannot stand together.

EDUCATION

During the second session of Congress we made some important moves in the direction of helping our educational system to adjust to the needs of the Age of Space. Congress extended the law to continue school construction and maintenance payments to Federally impacted areas. To meet other problems Congress passed the National Defense Education bill. I would like to call attention to the so-called "fading out" provision of the Defense Education Act. This provision for a gradual termination of the Act's programs should alert the States and local governments to the necessity of finding means for carrying on the activities provided for in the Act when they cease to be a Federal responsibility. It seems to me that this is also the cue for private organizations to begin preparations for carrying on their responsibilities in providing for the education of our youth.

LABOR LEGISLATION

A further disappointment to our people was the failure of Congress to enact legislation dealing adequately with racketeering in labor unions. At no time did the members of Congress have an opportunity to vote on a measure that would in fact protect working people and the public against the abuses of power by union leadership or management collaboration with union racketeers as revealed by the Senate investigating committee.

The Kennedy-Ives bill failed for two reasons: (1) the bill did not deal adequately with the worst of the racketeering abuses; and, (2) specific provisions in the bill curbing both union and management practices were never given public hearings by either the Senate or the House. The manner in which the bill was presented to the House left no opportunity for complete discussion or amendment. I voted against this procedure.

A welfare and pension plan disclosure measure was passed and signed into law by the President. The Act requires all non-Government welfare and pension plans to file annual reports with the Secretary of Labor and to make them available to beneficiaries.

SOCIAL SECURITY

I am happy to report that the President has signed into law the measure which increases the benefits under Social Security. To meet these increased benefits, social security taxes have been increased.

SMALL BUSINESS

Small businessmen of our Congressional District, as well as those of the Nation, will benefit greatly from legislation making the Small Business Administration a permanent agency; setting up the Small Business Investment program which will provide capital for expanding small businesses; and granting tax relief to small businesses. The latter includes, in slightly varied form, two proposals of mine: (1) a special depreciation allowance, and (2) the installment payment of estate taxes.

AIR SAFETY

With the mid-air crash in our Congressional District still fresh in our minds, I know all will be interested in the establishment of a new Agency which will provide better control of air traffic. The new law also sets up provisions for the control of space travel.

RAILROADS

The new railroad relief act was signed by the President on August 12. There is every indication that it will help the railroads. The repeal of the excise tax on transportation of property, which I have advocated since 1953, seems to be aiding both the railroads and the shippers. I am sorry to report that the bill I worked for in the House to adjust annuities for retired railroad workers failed of passage in the Senate during the adjournment rush.

LEGISLATIVE ITEMS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WESTERN MARYLAND

As a result of my work with the Joint Committee on Washington Metropolitan Area Problems I have introduced a Joint Resolution granting the consent of Congress to the States of Maryland, Virginia, and to the District of Columbia to enter into a compact relating to the regulation of mass transportation in the Washington Metropolitan Area. The Joint Resolution is now under study by the Judiciary Committee.

All of us are pleased with the action of Congress in ending the 20% excise tax on dues and initiation fees for community swimming pools retroactive to January 1, 1958. The President has signed into law my bill which would permit the purchase of additional stream valley parklands in Maryland. A similar measure to my bill on humane slaughter is now law, and a provision of mine correcting an inequity was incorporated in the law granting Washington teachers a pay increase. Several of my District of Columbia and private bills have been approved by the President and are now law.

Many widows who heretofore have never been qualified for annuity benefits now have the privilege of filing for annuities under a section we were fortunate enough to have incorporated in the law; we were also fortunate in having the remaining insurance beneficial associations taken over by the Civil Service Commission.

During the 85th Congress these bills of mine were also enacted into law: (1) exchange of lands in connection with the George Washington Memorial parkway; and, (2) transfer of Bailey Bridge in Allegany County to the County Government. My bill to bring Maryland firemen and policemen under Social Security became an amendment to a bill approved by Congress.

Kills Grey Fox

Scott Sisler, enroute to work Wednesday morning, ran over and killed a grey fox on North Third street, near the Pontiac garage in Oakland.

Sisler said the fox just stood in the middle of the road and didn't move, leading him to believe perhaps the fox was rabid. He said he would take the animal to the laboratory in Oakland for an examination of its head.

Seven Are Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Seven persons were apprehended during the past few days on charges of violating the motor vehicle laws.

Willis Lee Rohrbaugh, Cabins, W. Va., and Paul Thomas Clark, Maysville, were charged with operating unregistered vehicles on the public highway and were fined $10 and costs.

Clark Champ Coberly, Baltimore, for exceeding 25 miles per hour limit, was fined $5.

Virginia Mae Bowman of Mt. Lake Park, pleaded not guilty to two charges, one of having no operator's license and failure to obey a summons to court. She was fined $10 on the first charge and $25 on the second. The fine and costs were suspended in the latter case.

James M. Hutchinson, State College, exceeding 50 miles per hour, $10.

George David Strawser, Swanton, for permitting an unauthorized person to operate a motor vehicle, was fined $10 and costs. Strawser told the magistrate he was ill and it was necessary for him to come to Oakland to see a physician.

Have Loaded Rifles

Two were fined during the week for having loaded rifles in their automobile. They were Charles A. Burns and Terry Sweitzer, both of Deer Park. Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr., levied fines of $10 and costs.

Robert Kemp, on a charge of disorderly conduct at a home in Deer Park and on a charge of assault upon Mark Upole, at the same home, waived preliminary hearings and requested a trial in the circuit court. He furnished bond of $1,000 in each case and was released Saturday, September 13.

On a charge of operating a boat on Deep Creek Lake at night without lights Lester Bittinger, Jr., was fined $25 and costs. Fifteen dollars of the fine was suspended.

A P.-T. A. executive meeting was held Monday night September 15.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and "Dad", Frank M. Propst, who passed away four years ago the 13th of September, 1954.

Dear daddy little thought when leaving home that morn,
That he would not return,
That he so soon in death would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.
A broken circle, a vacant chair,
A memory is a rose we share
Across the lonely years.
A flower we tend so carefully,
And water with our tears.
God only knows how much we miss him
He only knows the bitter pain, we have suffered since we lost him
Life has never been the same.
God gave us strength to bear it,
Courage to meet the blow
But what it means to lose him,
This world will never know.
Away in the land of the Sunrise,
Separated by Heaven's gold door;
Our loved one is patiently waiting
Not dead, but just gone before.

Sadly missed by his wife, Leona Propst, their daughter, Maryland, and grandchildren, Glenna, Millie and Vonda.

Good Project .....

Dr. George S. Benson, director of the National Education program and author of "Listen Americans," told recently of a wonderful project being undertaken. We quote:

Persons who have made the most thorough-going studies of the world-wide Communist movement have been impressed with the zeal with which the Communists dedicate themselves to their "cause." They contrast this with the apathy of so many Americans toward the cause of freedom, and some of them wonder whether our way of life can survive when its enemies give themselves over entirely to their "cause" while patriotism in the United States has declined in scope and intensity.

We need to revitalize our patriotism. One of the vital areas for cultivating a forceful love of country is the schools. No school administration is fulfilling its responsibility if it is failing to stimulate in the heart and minds of children under its care a profound respect and deep loyalty to our nation. The best way to accomplish this is to teach the children the facts about our nation, its dramatic history, its unparalleled progress, and all about the political and economic institutions that have made possible its progress and our individual prosperity and freedom.

Every American school child, besides learning that our nation is founded on faith in God, should be given the opportunity to generate a reverence for our flag; our National Anthem, the Star Spangled Banner; the Declaration of Independence; the United States Constitution; and to be thrilled at the long list of highlights in our nations's forward progress. Every school should have the Stars and Stripes displayed and hold periodic ceremonies to dramatize the significance of patriotism. One of the most inspiring stories in the literature of

Mr. Smith said he would not be able to give a complete total until he received a report of the deaths from the hospital at the end of the month. With the deaths not taken into consideration the totals would be 6,005 Republicans and 3,604 Democrats, but there will be some changes in these totals when the final tabulation is made.

The totals by voting precincts since the primary election are as follows: District 1, Swanton, 1 female Republican, 15 male and 7 female Democrats; district 2, Friendsville, 5 male and 2 female Republicans, 14 male and 17 female Democrats; district 3, Grantsville, 12 male and 9 female Republicans, 6 male and 6 female Democrats; Jennings, no registration; district 4, Bloomington, 3 male and 2 female Republicans, 3 male and 5 female Democrats, 1 Independent; district 5, Accident, 3 male and 4 female Republicans, 3 male and 2 female Democrats; district 6, Sang Run, no registration; district 7, Oakland, 3 female Republicans, 2 male and 2 female Democrats.

Bray and Pigott Are Sentenced In Local Court

Criminal Trials Of September Term To Be Continued This Week

Sentences of one and two years in penal institutions were among those meted out by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in the Circuit Court here this week as the criminal trials were heard.

Other cases are to be heard today and tomorrow.

Gordon Wells Bray, 34, was found guilty of an assault charge against George Sanders, 52, by a circuit court jury yesterday. The verdict was given after deliberating about one and one-half hours. Bray was sentenced to serve two years in the Maryland penitentiary.

It was the third time in six months that the Swanton man was tried on an assault charge, once on a charge of assaulting his wife which was heard by the trial magistrate. He was tried and convicted in March in the circuit court and was sentenced then to a year in the House of Correction. After serving approximately four months of the sentence Bray was paroled.

In yesterday's trial Mr. Sanders testified he and several other men had visited Thayer's Barn, Deep Creek Lake tavern. As they left the place he said Bray came up behind him, pushed one of the others out of the way, and struck him.

Escapee Gets Year

Wayne Erwin Pigott, of near Oakland, who was on trial for escaping from the county jail while awaiting grand jury action and also for a petty larceny charge, was sentenced to one year in the Maryland House of Correction on each of two counts. State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt dropped the petty larceny charge. Judge Fraley said the two sentences would run concurrently. Pigott had pleaded guilty to the charge Tuesday.

In another criminal case Robert Lichliter of Oakland, indicted on

Most of County To Return To Standard Time Next Sunday

Most of the county will be on Standard Time beginning Sunday morning, September 28, at 2 o'clock. Persons wanting to cause as little confusion as possible will turn back their clocks just one hour when they retire Saturday night.

A large number of people will remain up an hour later than usual on Saturday night, knowing that they will not have lost any sleep by such action.

Mayor Russell Smith indicated last week that the town did not expect to take any further action on the time question, and that automatically it would revert to standard time Sunday morning.

The Board of Education announced last week also that the schools would return to standard time on Monday morning with the exception of Bloomington.

Grantsville city council has announced that it would remain on fast time for another month, but Accident, Friendsville and other towns of the county plan to revert to standard time with balance of the area.

No changes in the train schedules have been announced. The trains will probably remain unchanged while daylight time remains in Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, and other cities. Allegany county has voted to remain on daylight time until the last Sunday in October.

In reverting to standard time Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the board of education members felt that no good purpose was served by continuing daylight time through October when children "were forced to get out to their buses almost before it became light in the morning." The county itself never changed this year.

Dr. Arthur Jones said his office would go on standard time in order to continue the close cooperation with the school board and the school health program.

The U. S. Employment office in Oakland will maintain daylight time hours during October.

Date Set For FFBL Annual Dinner Event

The annual dinner meeting of the Farming For Better Living program will be held at Southern High school on Friday evening, November 14, it was decided at a meeting last Thursday evening at the FFBL council. The program this year will vary somewhat from previous affairs. Instead of a principal speaker, the council will present a slide story project of the program, carrying pictures of activities of the various members on their farms.

The council has seventy-three farmers enrolled in the program this year and leaders were pointing again for one hundred percent completion. Farm record books will be due in the office of James McHenry, county agent, on October 20 and the books will be graded in the agent's office November 6 and 7. A county winner will be named who will be eligible to compete for regional honors.

NEWLY REGISTERED VOTER AT 85—An unusual event at the office of the Board of Supervisors of Elections on Tuesday was the signing of Mrs. Mary Etta Gank, wife of George Gank, of Hutton, as a newly registered voter at age 85. She was one of a number of individuals persuaded by the chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, Louis C. Hutson, to come and make herself eligible to vote in the November election. Mrs. Gank was born in Grafton, W. Va., February 14, 1873 and was married in 1897. She has lived in Hutton since that time. Mr. and Mrs. Gank have twelve children, eight sons and four daughters, all living. They now have 46 grandchildren and 81 great grandchildren. At least a few of them ought to be Republicans. Mrs. Graser announced that new year books would be available at this time.

F.F.A. Team Places High In Competition

Maryland F. F. A. boys from Northern High school placed high in Atlantic Rural Exposition judging contests held at Richmond, Va., on Monday, September 22, it was announced by John Reckner, Jr., vo-ag instructor.

F. F. A. Members from Northern High school, Gaithersburg and Easton chapters were among the Maryland teams competing. The livestock judging team from Gaithersburg placed second, an Indiana team taking first honors. The dairy judging team from Easton took first place.

Northern High's poultry judging team represented Maryland and took fourth place, being edged out by teams from Delaware, Virginia and South Carolina. Contestants were Ellsworth Yoder and Burton Lytle. Lytle, of near Friendsville, was fifth in individual standing. He also received a cash award for his placing.

The contests were on an invitational basis and were based on state contests held previously.

Lions Will Furnish Glasses To Children

The Board of Directors of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club approved requests for eye examinations of thirteen children at a recent meeting. If the examinations reveal need for eye glasses the need will be met.

Since July, 1958, the club has secured glasses for four other children. It was explained that children needing glasses are referred to the club through the County health department.

Officers said the club would continue to provide glasses for children of the community from money raised by the club.

District Governor Visits

Russell H. Marsh, governor of district 22W, visited the local club Monday evening, September 22. Marsh spoke to the members stressing the continuing need for community service. "TNT, Today, Not Tomorrow," was the catch phrase around which his remarks were centered.

Marsh was accompanied by Deputy District Governor, Glenn Davis, of Cumberland, and the zone chairman, Nelson Keyes, of Lonaconing.

Improvements Made To Ski Tow Area

Improvements are being made to the Marsh Mountain Ski area that will make it comparable to other ski slopes in the tri-state area, it was learned this week from Helmuth Heise, president of the Recreational Industries, Inc.

This corporation recently purchased the existing facilities from the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council, and is making extensive changes.

There will be a new lodge or warming hut 30 by 60, of log construction with fire place, which is twice the size of the one in use last year. The new building will have central heating and inside sanitary facilities.

The former hut will be used as a ski shop and rental building. The corporation also purchased a new Pomalift, which will allow a person to sit while being pulled up the ski tow. Delivery of this unit has been promised for November 1. Steel towers and 1700 feet of cable also have been purchased. The new lift will enable a person to get off at any point desired.

The two ski tows in use last year will remain there but will be relocated. New trails are to be made. Heise said the snow making equipment would be in use again this year. The concern already has all the equipment for this except the compressor and this item is rented.

Teen Age Club To Use Guard Armory

The Teen-age club will be housed in the National Guard armory this year, it was announced by the sponsors, and the club will open Friday evening with a record hop.

The club formerly operated at the Moose club.

It was planned to have teen-agers from Northern High school to join with the Southern High group this year, since there will be plenty of room for all.

Sponsoring the club will be the Non Commissioned officers' club and Fred Tichnell. Tichnell said new officers would be elected a week from Friday. On the governing board will be the club officers, Doyle Biser, of the Non Com's club, Art Calhoun, captain of the National Guard unit, and Tichnell.

Membership cards will be 50 cents each and all members must present their card at the door to be admitted. Similar rules will be observed, same as last year, it was stated. Once a student enters the building he must remain inside. Once he goes outside he will not be able to enter again that evening.

The club will be open every Friday evening, from 8 to 11 o'clock.

Plans Being Made For Autumn Glory

Plans for the annual observance of Autumn Glory time in this county have been made by local organizations and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company.

Further arrangements were made at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening.

The plans call for a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad excursion to leave Baltimore on the morning of Sunday, October 12, and travel to Oakland. From there the excursionists will travel by bus to Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake, to a county turkey farm, and to the new state park on the Meadow Mountain inlet of the lake.

At the Falls there will be booths of the Turkey Growers and the Promotion Council, and at the state park there will be a booth of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. Soft drinks, coffee, candy and other packaged food will be available.

Five turkeys will be given away, two furnished by the Promotion council, two by the Chamber of Commerce, and one by the Turkey Growers. The High school band will be at the station to welcome the seven hundred or more excursionists who are expected to come to Garrett county on that day.

Purpose of the program is to give residents of Maryland and nearby states an opportunity to see Mother Nature's fall setting in the forest and recreation areas of the county.

The train is due to arrive at the Oakland station about 12 o'clock. Buses will be provided to take the people on the tour of the area. In order to eliminate congestion half of the buses will head for Deep Creek Lake first while the other half will head for Swallow Falls.

Autumn Glory excursions have proved popular over the past several years and this year is not expected to be any exception.

Autumn Arrives; No Killing Frost Yet

Autumn arrived at 9:10 a. m. Tuesday, September 23, and was preceded by two days of rainy weather.

The summer came to an end when the sun crossed the equator on its way to the south, making day and night of equal length.

Thus far there has been no killing frost, but with the moon on the way to becoming full, and further rain predicted for the week-end, it can't be long.

County Historical Tour Set October 4

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Garrett County Historical Society it was agreed to have the Society sponsor an historical tour. This will be the fourth conducted tour of conspicuous Garrett County landmarks, and will be held on Saturday, October 4, starting at nine o'clock a. m., promptly.

Not only members but the general public is invited. All those going on the tour are requested to bring their picnic baskets. If weather is agreeable arrangements have been made to hold the picnic on a preserved section of the original Braddock Road.

The Tour, under the direction of Felix G. Robinson, will commence at the grave of General John M. Schofield along Rt. 40 opposite Meadow Mt. Inn on top of Meadow Mountain. Allegany Countian Is Indicted Here

A former Cumberlander was indicted by the September grand jury here on a charge of receiving stolen goods—his admitted share of a safecracking job he said he helped set up.

W. Ewald Ruehl had the warrant served on him last Thursday by Baltimore county police at his place of employment in the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt said Ruehl is charged with receiving $1,500 as his share in the safecracking and burglary of a total of $17,500 from the home of Lee A. Green in LaVale, in October, 1949.

Details of Ruehl's part in the conspiracy came to light April 24, 1957 in Baltimore County Circuit Court.

Green had sued Ruehl in that court for the $1,500 share of the loot and Judge John E. Raine, Jr., on April 25, 1957, issued a lengthy opinion in which he mentioned Ruehl's confession given to Allegany County authorities.

The statement showed how Ruehl had allowed a man named Paul and two other men, one apparently a safecracker with a 50-year record, to occupy his cabin at Deep Creek Lake. Judge Raine noted that Ruehl admitted knowing the burglary was to take place, and after the safecracking said he found $1,500 in $100 bills in a jar in the cottage.

Two men, Harold Paul Odum and James Golden were picked up by the FBI in Baltimore after Ruehl had signed the confession but county authorities were forced to set them free after stating there was insufficient evidence to charge them.

Number of Oak Wilt Areas Discovered

An air reconnaissance over the four westernmost counties in the state has disclosed that 29 woodland areas are infected with oak wilt.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said the areas extended from Savage River dam section in this county to Clear Spring area in Washington county.

Twenty-three of the infected areas have been eradicated by a forestry crew. Five of the infected areas have been set up as a study plot for five years' investigation into the spread of the disease. It is hoped to prove or disprove the merits of respective control measures now used by agencies in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In Maryland the practice has been to cut the infected trees and treat the logs with insecticides and fungicides, the premise being that this would prevent the formation of spores of fungalmats dispersing spores from the wood.

In addition all oak trees within 50 feet of infection have been either cut or girdled and poisoned to prevent spread of disease by root grafts. For the most part control measures have been successful in preventing immediate spread. In West Virginia only infected trees are eradicated.

United States threw Soviet Union's latest letter back in Premier Khrushchev's face, calling it too false, abusive and threatening to be acceptable.

Man Who Swam Deep Creek Saves Young Girl

Gus Brickner of Charleroi, who became the first person to swim Deep Creek Lake, from Green Glade to the McHenry inlet, was in the news again with a rescue of a young girl from the Monongahela river.

Brickner was standing on the bank of the river when he heard a noise. He saw a four-year-old Margaret Smith of Charleroi come to the surface of the water her face a mass of blood.

Brickner dived and swam to the girl who had been floating on an innertube which was struck by a motorboat. Operator of the craft, Dennis Green, 17, of Charleroi, also dived to assist with the rescue.

The girl was said to be in critical condition.

Homecoming To Be At Springs, Oct. 11

The Springs Historical society is making preparations for its first annual homecoming and folk festival which will be held Saturday, October 11.

Addition to the present museum is being made under leadership of Floyd Bender with assistance by residents of the Springs community.

A lean-to shed attached to the present tile structure will serve to house barn items as well as large articles such as Conestoga wagons, tread powers, tumbling shafts, grain windsmills, stone turning lathes and similar items.

The main museum will feature old fashioned apple butter stirring by hand, spinning, weaving and demonstrations. Plans also are being made for crafts and produce exhibits in the former Amanda Hanning house near the Community center.

The society is in need of offers to produce dried apple snitz, dried corn, hominy, grape-nuts, ponhaus, noodles, sauerkraut, and other things.

Proceeds will be used for the Springs Historical Society building fund.

the nations of the world is the story of the writing of the Star Spangled Banner.)

This year the American Heritage Foundation asked the Boston Symphony Orchestra and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra to record the Star Spangled Banner on a high fidelity RCA Victor record (78 RPM). The results are two tremendous renditions of our stirring national anthem. The Heritage Foundation has made a gift of the record to every urban high school, grammar school, and elementary school in the nation.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has joined with the Heritage Foundation and now every rural and community school in the nation is getting one of the records. Farm Bureau local officials in every community and county are making formal presentations of the records to their colleges and schools. This record distribution is a part of the Farm Bureau's nationwide Good Citizenship Program. The full program sets an example for every other organization in the nation. Through the full program every one of the approximately 8,000,000 men, women, and children in farm Bureau families across the nation are stimulated to be active citizens — getting an understanding of citizenship responsibilities in our great Constitutional Republic and learning how to intelligently participate in its political and governmental life.

School officials are urged by the Farm Bureau to use the new hi-fi Star Spangled Banner recording as a daily or weekly stimulator for a program in American citizenship: (A) to focus attention on a significant phase of our heritage; (B) to stimulate a study of our heritage of freedom and what it means; (C) to help students acquire a new appreciation of our National Anthem. This is a wonderful project!

Is Your Name WHITE?

White is one of the most popular of English surnames. It is obtained from the Old English "hwita" which means "white" or "fair". Thus it was bestowed, when surnames came into vogue, upon those who were of light or fair complexion or who had white hair. According to one well known authority on nomenclature, a branch of the White family settled in Ireland a number of centuries ago and lived principally in Mayo and Fermanagh Counties.

William White (1736-1780) served as first lieutenant of Maryland troops during the Revolutionary War. He was born in Prince Georges County and died in Montgomery County.

Among the early marriage licenses issued by the Clerk of Garrett County Court was that to James W. White and Flora May McCrum on March 30, 1873.

George A. White was sheriff of Garrett County in 1879.

William White was a trustee of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Oakland seventy-five years ago.

John M. White was a school trustee of Ryan's Glades District, No. 8, Garrett County for the year endng May 1882.

Peregrine White (1620-1704) was the first child born in New England of English parents. She was born on the "Mayflower" in Cape Cod Harbor.

Edward Douglass White (1845-1921) was Chief justice of the United States. His father of the same name was the seventh governor of Louisiana.

Charles Joyce White (1830-1917) was professor of mathematics at the U. S. Naval Academy.

Roy Barton White is chairman of the board of directors, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, with offices in Baltimore.

Milton Grandison White is professor of physics at Princeton University.

Chandler T. White is vice-president, General Aniline and Film Corporation, with headquarters in New York City.

Listen Americans!

President of Harding College

A few months ago I happened to tune in on a radio program being broadcast from a southern city. The speaker was a U. S. Senator reporting from Washington to his constituency —via taped recording. The Senator was lambasting Ezra Taft Benson and calling for high rigid price supports for farm products as a permanent agricultural program for the nation. Undoubtedly many political office-holders feel that such a stand is what the farmers want from their Senators and Representatives in Congress.

However, Farm and Ranch, published in Nashville, Tennessee, one of the top agricultural publications going to southern farmers, has just taken a poll of farm sentiment on national issues and the results may astonish many politicians.

Here are the results of questions in the poll pertaining directly or indirectly to the farmer:

Cooperatives should be taxed, nationally and locally, on the same basis as corporations. YES 72.2 percent; NO 27.8 percent.

Postal rates should be raised (including rates on magazines) to enable the Post Office to break even. YES 63.2 percent; NO, 36.8 percent.

Government should guarantee support prices at 90 to 100 percent of parity, and control production of major crops. YES, 26.9 percent; NO, 73.1 percent.

Farming should return to a free supply-and-demand system, as soon as possible, with minimum government control. YES, 87.5 percent; NO, 12.5 percent.

Public utilities should be developed and operated by private companies instead of by the government. YES, 85 percent; NO, 15 percent.

States should run their own schools without interference from federal government, and federal aid to schools should be stopped. YES, 80.9 percent. Federal aid to schools is good and necessary, YES, 19.1 percent.

Federal aid to states means extravagance, high taxes, waste and federal control. It should be stopped. YES, 75.3 percent.

Secretary Benson is doing a good job as Secretary of Agriculture. YES, 55 percent; NO, 45 percent.

Editor Tom Anderson of Farm and Ranch remarked: "The results of this survey indicate the southern farmer once more reasserts his historic independence, his fear of government, his devotion to self-help, and his love of freedom. We would not be truthful if we failed to state that we are greatly surprised—and greatly gratified—by what the response showed."

THE

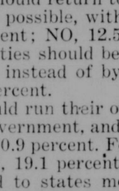
WEEKLY SERMON
by
Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

"Being Dead Yet Speaketh"



The Bible uses these words concerning Abel. I would like to use them of my predecessor of 100 years. Recently I was loaned a booklet which tells of the Pastor of our Church in 1857. One statement is so good that I want to pass it on to you. The former Pastor said, "The grounds of the Christians' confidence is not, 'I am holy' but 'It is Christ that died.' And, if he turns from this truth to himself, or to anything else, all the evidence in the world will not sustain his hope of heaven." He goes on to say, "To preserve assurance in the heart of any guilty sinner for a single day or a single hour he must live continually by the faith on the Son of God. Nothing but Christ Himself, crucified, risen and reigning can assure us of pardon and of heaven! Yes, written a hundred years ago and just as true today as then. Some people clamor for a Church that changes with the times but the eral need is for Churches who proclaim the same old and eternal truths as the former Pastor of this Church. Truth does not change with the years. Jesus Christ is the only hope of eternal life is just as true today as it was then.

Tax Refund Possible On Gas For Boaters

Motorboat owners who use a lot of gasoline may be missing out on a six-cent a gallon Maryland state tax refund.

Deep Creek Lake, a center of most area power boating, is the place used by most persons in this section.

Every gallon of gasoline purchased from service stations includes a six-cent tax supporting the Maryland highway program. Since boats don't run on highways, the owners are eligible for a refund on every gallon they purchased.

Last year the state returned 27,000 to boat owners. The federal government also pays a refund for gas not used on the roads, one cent out of the three collected.

In order to get a refund from the state the owner must write to the Gasoline Tax division of the State of Maryland, box 1751, Annapolis, and ask for form GT 100.

To supports claims there must be original invoices as no carbon copies or printed statements will be accepted.

If the owner has a credit card he should send in the original monthly billing. In order to get a refund the form must be filled in for the preceding six months. For the federal refund the owner must write the District Director of Internal Revenue, Custom's House, Baltimore, and reguest Internal Revenue Service form 843.

FARMING FOR BETTER LIVING BOOSTER—Another set of boosters of the eleven-year-old Farming for Better Living program in the county are Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Glotfelty, of near Bittinger. They operate two farms of 79 and 130 acres. Mr. and Mrs. Glotfelty have reared three sons, Donald, a veterinarian in the armed forces; Hamill, presently at home; and Kenneth, in the military service. Mr. Glotfelty, member of the Maryland House of Delegates, has been active in the Turkey Growers association. He is raising beef calves from his herd of forty-four Angus cows and two purebred Angus bulls. In former years he has been a large turkey grower and contractor, but is out of the business this year. Mrs. Glotfelty is vice president of the United Lutheran Church Women of the West Virginia Synod and as such was sent as a voting delegate to the International Lutheran convention in Toronto, Canada, to be held next week. She is president of the Republican Women's clubs in the county and is active in P.-T. A. and other groups.

Scientific Books To Be Made Available To Southern Pupils

Southern High school's application for participation in the Traveling High School Science Library program has been accepted by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, W. Kenneth Johns, principal announced this week.

Two hundred outstanding, evaluated, up-to-date "best seller" type books in science and mathematics will be circulated through the local high school's library from Washington, D. C. All branches of science will be covered and the reading level will range from books the brilliant junior high student will find interesting to some that will give the outstanding high school senior a taste of advanced work. The collection lists far more than $1,000.

The idea for this experimental program, aimed at interesting more students in scientific and technical careers, originated with the National Science Foundation, an agency of the Federal Government established in 1950 "to promote the progress of science . . . " The AAAS was requested to administer the program.

The AAAS accepted the NSF grant, and in 1955 selected and administered the first library of 150 books which circulated to 66 schools. From this beginning the program has expanded until during 1958 to '59 the library will go to about 1,400 schools in every State in the Union and other countries.

The 200 books are circulated 50 at a time to four high schools in geographical proximity, the cases rotating every two months. In this way new titles with a fresh appeal to the eye and mind appear periodically.

"It is hoped that as many students as possible will take interest in this fine collection," Mr. Johns said. "Parents of students who are scientifically inclined, should promote these books to their children."

To: Bobby's Church School Teacher
From: Bobby's Parents

"You're O.K."

That's the highest praise in our Bobby's vocabulary!

You must be as busy as we are . . . keeping house, raising a family, meeting all the challenges of parenthood.

Yet you volunteered to teach a dozen boisterous boys the great truths of Christianity.

You sacrifice hours every week . . . in preparation, in prayer, in patience.

But, because you are part of the Church—the one institution which lives to serve God and man—we have taken you for granted.

We'll be at worship next Sunday. Bobby wants us there. And seeing what the Church means to him, we want the same spiritual foundation for our own lives.

Thank you! We marvel at all you have done for Bobby without our help and example. How much more we will accomplish together . . . Bobby's parents, Bobby's teacher, and OUR God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Final Verdict

Lesson for September 28, 1958

ONE THING the Bible teaches quite plainly: God is the final court of appeal, his is the final verdict. This is true in two ways. First, only God's judgment is final, because all other judgments are partial, they are based on a comparatively ignorant point of view. We never see the inside of people, or not very clearly at best. We cannot even examine our own minds and hearts with any accuracy. We are ignorant, moreover, of many of the circumstances surrounding or leading up to the acts of other people. Only God knows man inside and out, only God knows the "intents of the heart", only God knows all the circumstances leading up to men's decisions.

Dr. Foreman

In another sense God's verdict is final, because it will be the last one. After all a man's friends and enemies have had their say, after history has enshrined him, blasted him or forgotten him, God will have the last word. Not man's opinion of himself, not other men's opinion of him, is finally decisive. Every man's destiny depends, in the long run, on what God thinks of him.

Justice comes first

The great prophets, and our Lord who was "more than a prophet," bring this home to everybody with a working conscience. Amos had his vision of God testing the walls men have built, with his own plumb line, ready to tear down every wall not meeting the test. Isaiah tells his church-going city that God has no use for any religious thing they do, because they have been content with injustice. The first thing to do is to "seek justice." Micah pronounces the doom of God on those who make themselves rich by making others poor. Jesus in his great prevision of the Last Judgment, divides men right and left on the basis of how they have treated their fellow-men, especially their fellow-men in distress. And then there is the Sermon on the Mount. People argue over this and try to by-pass it, in many ways. They debate over whether it is a practical ideal or not. The fact is, Jesus presents it as God's way of life for man. The Golden Rule, for example, Jesus' principle of justice in one short sentence (Matt. 7:12), is not just a nice idea if you can do it: it is a rock in life's foundation. Build on my sayings, Jesus says, in effect, and your house will stand the storm. Pay no attention, or memorize them if you like—just listen and don't do, and the great storms will bring your house of life to cureless ruin.

Justice is not optional

Every one agrees that it takes all kinds of Christians to make the Kingdom of God. A Christian can serve God and men in various ways. It is by no means necessary for all Christians to be ministers, or to enter politics, or to be professional men. A good Christian dish-washer—if that is the most he can do with the mind he has—is just as faithful a Christian as a good Christian governor of a state.

But there is one thing that is not optional, not an extra that a Christian can take on as a hobby if he likes, but an absolute essential: justice. We have seen in these past weeks that the Bible idea of justice is not confined to the courtroom (though it is there, of course). Treating people as you would wish to be treated, seeking the good of others as if it were your own: this is justice, in the home and everywhere. This is the ABC of living as a Christian.

Justice Comes Last

So it should not be surprising, thouh Jesus hinted more than once that a good many people will be surprised—it should not be surprising that at the last, when God sums up the case and his his final verdict, he will judge (I Peter 1: 17) "each one impartially according to his deeds." And since it is very hard to perform any act whatever without affecting other people, this means that after all other judgments are in, God's last judgment of each of us will be based on that question: How did you treat people?

Children's Bible Story

BY S. A. KAPLAN
Assisted by Mrs. Kaplan

FROM SLAVE TO PRIME MINISTER

(This story is based on Genesis 40 and 41)

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS! Did you ever wake up in the morning and wish that someone could tell you the meaning of the dream you had? That is exactly how the chief butler and the chief baker of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, felt, whom he had thrown into the same prison where Joseph was in charge.

One morning Joseph noticed how sad they looked and he in a very kindly manner asked them: "Wherefore look ye so sadly today? And they said unto him, We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter of it." Joseph replied: "Do not interpretations belong to God? Tell me them, I pray you." Then they told Joseph their dream and he explained to them the meaning: The chief butler was to get back his position in the king's palace in three days, while the chief baker was to be put to death in three days. You can just imagine how happy and grateful the chief butler must have been to hear the good news! In return, Joseph begged the butler to speak to Pharaoh in his behalf to bring him (Joseph) out of prison, for said he, "I have done nothing that they should put me into the dungeon."

However, when the butler's dream was fulfilled, and he was again restored to the king's palace, he thought no more of Joseph nor of his request. But the Lord did not forget Joseph, for we read that God gave Pharaoh two dreams which greatly troubled him, and when he "Called for all the magicians of Egypt and all the wise men thereof..there was none that could interpret them unto Pharaoh." Then it was that the butler remembered Joseph, and he told the king how Joseph had correctly interpreted the two dreams in prison.

We next see Joseph before the king, and as he listened to Pharaoh, God revealed to him the meaning of the dreams. Seven years of plenty were to be followed by seven years of terrible famine. Joseph also gave Pharaoh a detailed, practical plan how to prepare for that great famine. Then said Pharaoh, unto Joseph: "Forasmuch as God hath shewed thee all this, there is none so discreet and wise as thou art. Thou shalt be over my house... See, I have set thee over all the land of Egypt."

Just think, boys and girls, what great things resulted from that one kind, sympathetic act of Joseph toward those two prisoners! It got him out of prison; it brought about his appointment by the king to the second highest office in Egypt; it saved the lives of thousands of people during the seven year famine; it later brought about Joseph's reunion with his family; it changed the history of the Jewish nation; and last but not least it should teach all of us the very important lesson—never to overlook an opportunity to perform little acts of kindness toward those less fortunate than we.

Governor Proclaims Land Week Oct. 5-11

Governor Theodore McKeldin declared the week of October 5 to 11 as Maryland Land Week.

In proclaiming Land Week the Governor stated that "since the dawn of civilization, man has loved and respected his land. Now, as in the intervening years, the roots of our growing strength are deep in the good earth."

All of our citizens—rural and urban—depend on the soil for our food and for the fibres we put to a thousand uses. The soil helps determine our type of water supply and even possesses an influence on the weather and climate.

"Damage or destroying a healthy balanced soil and nature starts a whole chain of disastrous consequences. We must be wise in the use of this greatest resource and those related to it," he continued.

Maryland is proud of its fertile land and the accomplishment of such agencies as those in the Soil Conservation Districts. In order to continue our progress, we must halt the destruction of land, which still goes on as a result of abuse, misuse, erosion and lack of proper drainage, he said.

The governor urged all citizens to take an interest and to participate in the activities in observance of Land Week.

Following the signing of the proclamation, it was presented by the governor to Dr. T. B. Symons, chairman of the Maryland Land Week Committee. Dr. Symons was formerly acting president and director of Agricultural Extension Service at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Symons thanked the governor on behalf of the committee and the people of the state for "this important contribution to the preservation of our natural resources."

Present for the proclamation signing ceremony were several members of the Maryland Land Week Committee including Fred Bull, secretary of the Committee and University of Maryland extension conservationist; Mrs. John Young, Westminster, president of the Associated Women of the Maryland Farm Bureau; Mrs. Robert S. Fletcher, Magnolia, vice-president, Maryland State Council of Homemakers; Randall Spoerlein, New Windsor, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau; Ray Armstrong, Lothian, Maryland association of Soil Conservation Districts.

President Spoerlein expressed the hope that the Maryland Farm Bureau organization will cooperate 100 percent with the Soil Conservation supervisor in achieving the aims of a successful Land Week observance.

Armstrong stated the Soil Conservation District Supervisors are charged with the responsibility of arousing the people of their districts to the importance of Maryland Land Week, especially the conservation of our water and soil resources.

Speaking for the Associated Women of the Maryland Farm Bureau, Mrs. Young said that the county presidents of that organization will be urged to celebrate Land Week on a county level. This will be done through various activities including window displays and flower displays all with a conservation emphasis.

County Homemaker's Councils will be asked to celebrate Land Week by encouraging women and children to take part in the week's activities, Mrs. Fletcher said.

THE COUNTRY-PULPIT

WEEKLY SERMON by Pastor P. F. Nieuwkoop

HELLO THERE!

Good morning Friend! I'm happy to meet you through this Column in your local paper. We plan to see you every week and give you a thought from the Bible to carry with you. Now, though I'm young in years, I'm still an "Old Fashioned Country Preacher". The kind that believes that the Bible is a supernatural Book, the work of God and not of men. I believe the Bible holds the key to a happy life down here, and it holds the key to the life beyond the grave. The chief message of the Bible concerns God's only Begotten Son, Jesus Christ, who came into this world 1900 years ago. It tells us about His substitutional death upon Calvary's cross and His resurrection from the grave to the amazement of the world. My only purpose in writing this column is to introduce you to Jesus Christ if you do not know Him, and if you do, that you might come to love Him better. Faith in Christ has brought joy, peace and satisfaction into many lives and what He has done for others — He will do for you! The secret of a Happy life is to know Jesus Christ personally. I'll be on hand to see you next week.

The program will consist of one and one half hours of sacred music and the public is invited to attend."

50 - Year Potomac River Plan Offered by Engineers

A plan calling for the construction of a reservoir on the North Branch of the Potomac River, a second one on the Stony River and a second one on the Savage River was offered last Friday by D. V. C. Birrell, assistant chief of the Engineering Division for Civil Works of the U. S. Army Engineers.

Birrell presented the program to meet the area's needs for the next 50 years, at a meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin at Blackwater Falls, W. Va.

Cost of the Stony River and North Branch dams is estimated at 60 million dollars. It would be shared about equally by federal and local interests.

The speaker said studies by the Washington District (Army Engineers) have indicated that the level of economic activity in the area, until recently, has been below that of the nation as a whole; that completion of Savage River Dam significantly revised the industrial activity of the region demonstrating the importance of an adequate water supply as a major factor in economic growth.

Depends On Water

He asserted that expansion commensurate with the national economy will depend in a large measure upon further development of water resources.

It was stated if flood hazards are removed "favorable possibilities exist for the location of additional industries" along the river.

Bayard, Blaine, Piedmont and Keyser, all in West Virginia; Kitzmiller and Westernport in Maryland, were communities mentioned as needing protection against floods.

The plan being considered by the engineers "combines the elements of flood control and increased industrial and domestic water supply with attendant benefits to pollution abatement recreation and the generation of supplemental water power," the speaker said. "These and other widespread benefits would have their effect as far downstream as Washington."

Protection Proposed

Continuing, Birrell said "Local flood protection projects at Bayard, Kitzmiller and Keyser are proceeding in design, requiring no special authorization by Congress, with construction contingent on a satisfactory technical solution, on the ability of affected localties to meet the modest proportion of non-federal costs and the availability of federal funds.

"In other areas local protection works were found to be impractical or uneconomical at this time, but these areas would benefit by flood regulation by reservoirs."

Touching on the economic possibilities of the section the Army spokesman said; "it is apparent that economy in the utilization of water will be a strict future requirement. This is not a note of pessimism but a practical consideration."

He suggested that "with proper treatment of wastes and spacing of users" and "natural recovery from previous use" greater goals could be attained.

Proposed Three Dams

To meet the area needs for the next 50 years reservoirs were proposed as follows:

1. A dam on the Potomac 2.4 miles above the junction of the Savage River.

2. A dam on Stony River .4 mile below the present crossing of U. S. Route 50 near Mt. Storm.

3. A dam on Savage River 3.5 miles above the present Savage River Dam.

Birrell said other sites were found to be more costly than those selected or are involved with physical complications. The selected sites, he stated, would develop 50 per cent of the drainage basin capacity.

The North Branch dam would be a concrete gravity structure with earth abutments with a maximum height of 283 feet. It would cover an area of 1,030 acres and the normal storage capacity would be 95,000 acre-feet. During a flood period the pool would rise and the surface area would be 1,300 acres and the maximum storage would become 137,500 acre-feet. The spillway would have mechanically-operated gates.

Aid Low Flow

The reservoir would be for low flow augmentation and for flood control.

"Operating along with existing Savage River and Stony River reservoirs, a minmum flow of 305 cubic feet per second would be maintained at Luke and when operating together with the new Stony River reservoir, the regulated flow would be 350 c. f. s. The present regulated flow at Luke is 93 c. f. s.," he stated.

"When operating in conjunction with the existing Savage River reservoir, the North Branch Reservoir could, by, itself, take over almost complete regulation of flow during the recreation season from June to September, allowing for the existing Savage River Reservoir to remain at nearly constant pool level for enhancement of it recreation features," he continued.

Track Relocation

"The construction of the North Branch Reservoir would require relocation of eight miles of the Western Maryland Railway starting at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad overpass near Beryl, W. Va., to a point north of Abernathy Run. The relocated line would be 5.57 miles long and include an 8,000-foot tunnel, 12,500 feet of level grade and 8,800 feet of grade."

The engineer explained the proposed Stony River Dam would be a rolled earth-fill type with a maximum height of 157 feet. The area would cover 610 acres and the normal storage would be 27,500 acre-feet The maximum capacity would be 43,500 acre-feet.

He said this reservoir would be operated for low flow augmentation, flood control and supplemental hydroelectric power. Fishing and other types of recreation would be possible. From May through August the drawdown would be limited to two feet per month with a five-foot drawdown in September.

Third Highest in East

"The hydroelectric power features include intake control works at the reservoir, an eight-foot diameter concrete lined tunnel 33,700 feet long to a point on the North Branch about 6,000 feet downstream from Lostland Run where a powerhouse would be located containing a turbine and generator of 27,000 KW capacity," the speaker explained.

"If constructed," Birrell said, "this would be the third highest operating head plant east of the Mississippi River. The average annual production would be 50 million Kilowatt hours.

"U. S. Route 50 would be relocated to cross Stony River over the new dam. The old route would be maintained for access to the lake for recreational purposes. It has been estimated this proposed reservoir could expect about 225,000 visitor-days annually."

Turning to a proposed second Savage River Dam, the speaker said it would be an earth-fill type, 173 feet high. The normal pool would cover 330 acres and the normal storage capacity would be 20,000 acre-feet. During flood periods the maximum storage would be 26,250 acre-feet.

This reservoir, said Birrell, would be operated "for water supply only." He added: "Due to the excellent water quality, this supply should be reserved for domestic purposes."

Create Industrial Land

Touching on the flood and industrial aspects, Birrell stated: "The control of flood on the North Branch would, in addition to prevention of flood damages in the urban areas from Luke to below Cumberland, effectively remove from flood hazards 1,600 acres of land otherwise potentially ideally suitable for industrial development.

"In addition 1,405 acres would be made suitable with only minor improvements by land fill or levees. Another 1,500 acres are presently above flood levels and the assurance of a dependable water supply would make these areas attractive for similar development."

The speaker suggested that early construction would save money and added:

"It has therefore been tentatively proposed that the immediate project development consist of simultaneous construction of both Stony River and the North Branch projects. Savage River project would be deferred for future domestic water supply requirements as the develop."

Touches On Cost

For the flood protection projects at Bayard and Kitzmiller, he said local interests must provide land, easements, rights-of-way, protect the federal government against damages, and maintain the project after its construction.

He said the legal requirements concerning the reservoirs are very complex but that in general costs would be divided in proportion to the benefit received.

In conclusion the speaker said: "The project appears to be well justified economically and the costs would be distributed approximately equally between the federal government and the local interests.

"For present purposes, it has been considered that a rising scale of annual payments, starting on project completion, of approximately $700,000 the first year with uniformly increasing amounts reaching approximately $1,800,000 in the 50th year could satisfy local obligations."

says Harry E. Hall, Driver, Harry T. Campbell Sons' Corp., Towson

"It was a fortunate thing for me that our company, the Harry T. Campbell Sons' Corp., decided to provide its employees with a Blue Cross program. My wife and I have been subscribers for a long time, but until recently, when she was hospitalized, I guess we never really appreciated Blue Cross. Believe me, I just can't say enough for Blue Cross now! Without it, that hospital bill would have been a real setback to us. And what's more, I didn't have to get involved in filing claims; Blue Cross handled the whole thing direct with the Hospital."

THE REPUBLICAN

Keeping the Vigil . . . . .

Our American form of republic was devised to provide an ingenious system of "checks and balances" in government. The object, of course, was to make sure that too great a concentration of power would not be captured by the legislative bodies, the judiciary, or the executive with its broad police powers.

The system has worked well. But it would not have been successful without the "checks and balances" supplied by a force apart from government—the free and independent newspapers of America.

Because of our alert, free and enterprising press, our courts, Congress, legislatures and executive bodies are exposed to public view, like goldfish in a glass bowl. The price of freedom is eternal vigilance. America's newspapers keep that vigil, twenty-four hours of every day.

So that we do not forget the role of a free press in preserving freedom, National Newspaper Week is being observed October 1 to 8.

Need Used Clothing For Overseas Relief

One of the concerns discussed at the Executive meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service held in the Methodist church in Oakland Monday evening was that of the need for used clothing to be sent to the many countries now desperately in need.

Primarily needed are blankets, men's clothing, women's suits, coats, etc., and articles for infants and children. These items are to be gathered at a general meeting of WSCS on October 15, for the United Clothing Appeal.

Civil Trial Set For This Morning

Only one trial was scheduled for this week in the Garrett County Circuit court and it was a civil case, involving a suit over an automobile accident in March.

Harry Paugh is suing William Upperman for $1,000. The papers filed in the case state that Mr. Paugh was traveling north on a state route about two miles north of Deer Park. A dump coal truck was parked on the highway and standing between the truck and the truck of Samuel Bowman which was headed in the opposite direction, was Mr. Upperman. Mr. Paugh collided with the rear of the Upperman truck.

Mr. Paugh suffered no injuries in the wreck but damaged his automobile. The defendant claims through his attorney W. Dwight Stover, that he did not commit the wrong alleged. S. R. Pagenhardt is attorney for the plaintiff.

The case is set for trial today. Two other civil cases set for trial this week were settled out of court.

Man Is Given Year

In the criminal proceedings during the past week Willard Gibson, of Crellin, junk dealer, who had been convicted of receiving stolen goods by a jury was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction. Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley also ordered Gibson to make restitution in the amount of $250 to the Garrett Coal company.

In other court action Mrs. Mary Ellen Bray was placed on parole for two years and ordered to make restitution after entering a plea of guilty to a charge of forgery. She was tried on just one of several charges against her.

In a case tried before Judge Fraley last week Harold L. Mason, of Lonaconing, was found not guilty o na paternity charge. Mason had petitioned for a blood test in September, 1957.

James Sharpless, who pleaded guilty to carnal knowledge and assault, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction but the sentence was suspended and the traverser placed under the supervision of the probation department and ordered to abide by the regulations set up.

A charge of assault and disorderly conduct against Robert Kemp was ordered dismissed.

Several cases still remain on the criminal docket. One concerns the trial of W. Ewald Ruehl, former Cumberland resident who is charged with receiving stolen goods. The charge against Mr. Ruehl stems from the safecracking burglary at the home of Lee A. Green, LaVale in October of 1949 when $17,500 in cash was stolen.

Another hearing may be a retrial of the Proctor-Kildow Post, American Legion, on a charge of keeping liquor for the purpose of sale. This case was tried in March but resulted in a hung jury.

A morals charge faces Erwin Hammond, one of the residents at a county forestry camp. Other cases on the docket include Frederick Hoffman Snyder, charged with larceny; Louis Waingold, an appeal case on a motor vehicle speeding violation; and Arthur Lowry, on two appeals from the magistrate for driving under the influence of liquor.

County Now Has Three Air Strips

The county is now boasting of three air strips, two of them completed. The Bowman air strip at McHenry has been in operation for a number of years.

The others are located near the Fingerboard road, about two miles from Oakland, and in the Turkey Head area of Deep Creek Lake, on the Deer Park inlet.

The one west of Oakland is operated by Ward Hinebaugh, and is mostly for his own use. The other strip was constructed by Harry Deal and Paul Davis, summer residents of Deep Creek Lake, both of whom have summer homes in the Turkey Head area.

Mr. Deal, in The Republican office this week, said his strip was 2,500 feet long and 150 feet wide, is well sodded and covers approximately nine acres. It was built at a cost of $1,000. The land used for the strip was leased from Clyde Wilt and Thomas Lohr, plus some of Mr. Deal's own land.

Mr. Deal said planes already were landing there and that it was sufficiently large to accommodate most small craft such as summer residents of the lake area would use. Mr. Deal said he was advocating several of these strips around the lake.

Hunters are required to report any wild turkeys killed within twenty-four hours. The limit is one per season.

Harmon also announced that persons wanting to contact the Game and Inland Fish commission in the future should direct letters to the State office building in Annapolis. New offices will be on the first floor of the building. Maryland Self Survey Commission Report Discussed at P.-T.A.

Willard L. Hawkins, County Superintendent of Schools, was the guest speaker at the Grantsville PTA Monday evening, and used the time alloted for his part in the program to discuss the report to the Maryland Self Survey Commission by Dr. Freeman Butts of Columbia University. Dr. Butts was elected to head the Commission appointed by Gov. McKeldin to appraise the Maryland State Educational Program. The study was completed in June and recently released as public information.

Dr. Butts' report was made on the basis of visits to a number of schools and counties, a study of the state and county curricula, a study of state and county test results, a study of the follow-up information concerning Maryland high school graduates, a study of success and failure in college, a study of the extra-curricular program and other information pertinent to an evaluation of the quality of schools in Maryland.

The final report appeared most favorable to the program of education throughout the state, Mr. Hawkins said. Hawkins declared that Dr. Butts did not say that everything was perfect in the Maryland schools. He stated that the range in quality of the schools ran from the best in the nation to some that were poor. But as a whole the report placed the schools of Maryland in a very favorable light. Quoting from the report, "Fortunately, I believe, the practice in Maryland high schools has had college preparation more fully in view than some of the official statements would indicate. This gap between 'philosophy' and practice is again the cause of some misunder-

Tidelands Oil Issue Gets Airing At G. O. P. Dinner

Some 225 Attend Republican Rally Saturday Evening After Caravan

The tidelands oil issue between Maryland's two nominees for United States Senate swelled to new proportions during the week with Republican Senator J. Glenn Beall hitting back at his opponent, Mayor D'Alesandro, of Baltimore, in a talk at the Republican dinner Saturday night at Southern High school.

The dinner climaxed a day of caravaning in Garrett county by the state and national Republican candidates as well as the county Republican candidates. Some two hundred and twenty-five persons attended the turkey dinner served by the Southern High school cafeteria staff.

D'Alesandro has spent much of his campaign criticizing Beall for voting in favor of the legislation in Congress. Beall accused him of "a flagrant and wiliful falsification of his position on the issue."

Sentor Beall had a copy of a letter from Mayor D'Alesandro in which he not only showed that he was in agreement with Beall on this matter but even urged him to do everything in his power to support it in the Congress.

The tidelands legislation confirmed the rights of states to oil deposits under their offshore lands. Beall said he would leave it to the voters to judge who was right, who was honest and who was sincere in the case.

D'Alesandro later admitted the accusation but added that at the time he had no knowledge of the "widespread abuses to which this legislation would lead."

Representatives DeWitt S. Hyde, candidate for re-election, said the people of the sixth district of Maryland had a clear-cut choice in the 1958 election. He declared "I believe there are certain abiding truths expressed in our constitution which we must preserve to enjoy freedom. Among these is that freedom requires a division of power and that the centralizing, unifying force of the national state is an enemy of freedom." He said his opponent scoffs at this and expressed belief in unlimited and increased use of the power and force of the Federal Government to solve political and social problems.

General James Devereux, Republican candidate for governor, spoke briefly and reminded the people of the urgent need of getting the people who were registered to get to the polls and vote. He cited the fact that 700,000 people who were registered in Maryland had failed to vote at the last election.

He declared that the independent voter would be the one who would break up the attempt of having machine politics run the government of Maryland. He indicated that both his opponent and Senator Beall's opponent were of the machine politician variety.

Devereux also declared that a program to attract industry and business to Maryland would be one of his first aims if he were elected governor of Maryland.

Robert A. Wallace, Republican candidate for attorney general and John A. Derr, Republican candidate for comptroller, also spoke briefly. County Republican candidates were introduced. Mrs. W. W. Grant, of the Republican Women's club, gave the opening remarks and introduced Lewis R. Jones who presided. The dinner was arranged by the Republican State Cenetral Committee. Special tribute was paid to A. D. Naylor, who was in attendance at the dinner, who had celebrated his 97th birthday anniversary that day.

Throughout the day candidates had toured the county, starting at Grantsville at 9:30 and stopping briefly at Jennings, Bittinger, McHenry, Accident, Friendsville, Deer Park, Kitzmiller, Bloomington, Mt. Lake Park, Crellin, and Oakland. The twenty-six members of the caravan had lunch at the Friendsville school cafeteria.

The tour climaxed a three-day jaunt for the candidates who had caravaned in Washington and Allegany counties on Thursday and Friday.

Southern Downed By Beall High 28-0

Gene Zumpano, right halfback for Beall High school of Frostburg, scored three touchdowns to spark Beall's Mountaineers to a 28 to 0 triumph over Southern High school last Friday night at Frostburg.

The victory was the first for Beall while the loss was the fourth in a row for the Southern eleven.

Beall broke the scoring ice in the opening period on a 35-yard run. Early in the second period Zumpano sprinted 62 yards to the six and on the handoff dived over for the score on the next play. Later in the same period the Mountaineers took over on their own 27 and drove 73 yards for the touchdown. With Zumpano and Dick Plummer making the most of the gains Beall marched from its 26 for the final score.

standing among critics of the high school program. Courses for college bound youth have not been proliferated unnecessarily. The college preparatory curriculum has not been crowded with 'useless' subjects. Vocational courses have not crowded out academic courses for college bound youth. The high school curriculum is not a hodgepodge of family living, cosmetology, driver education, and life adjustment courses. In fact, Maryland has gone further than many other states in requiring a large proportion of general education courses for high school graduation for all students." Dr. Butts also discovered that 35.5 percent of all Maryland high school pupils were enrolled in the academic course last year, which represents a marked increase in the number of pupils taking the academic programs. These facts Dr. Butts stated in his report, "should still the clamor that Maryland high school students do not have the opportunity to prepare for college."

Dr. Butts also stated that in these days it may very well be that we need not only a longer school year but also a longer school day. The requirements for learning are so urgent these days, said Dr. Butts, that we might well move to a 6½ or 7 hour day and possibly even to Saturdays.

October 10 Is Final Date to Apply for 1959 Soil Bank

The Soil-Bank Conservation Reserve Program, for contracts to begin in 1959, is now underway, according to Curtis Savage, Chairman of County ASC Committee. October 10 has been established as the final date on which persons interested in this program may apply.

According to Mr. Savage the Conservation Reserve Program has been changed. It now offers higher land rental rates than ever before. For 1959 rental rates will be established on an individual farm basis. They will be based upon productivity and land value, disregarding physical improvements and location. In previous years the rental rate for all farms in this county was established at $10.00 per acre per year. Under the new program $13.50 per acre has been established as the rate for average farms. Above average farms will receive higher rates and below average farms will receive lower rates. Payment rates will run as high as $20.00 per acre for the best farms.

Special provisions have been included this year to encourage farmers to enter all of the eligible land on the farm. One of these provides that a farmer who enters all of his eligible land may receive the "full rate" established for the farm for all of it. If all eligible land is entered for 5 or more years 10 percent is added to the full rate established.

In general, all land that was tilled or in regular crop rotation in 1958 and land from which a crop of tame hay was harvested in 1957 or 1958 is eligible to be placed in the Conservation Reserve. Permanent pasture land is not eligible.

Land may be entered for from 3 to 10 years. The land cannot be grazed, nor can a crop of any kind be harvested from it for the duration. A good cover must be maintained on the land and the spread of noxious weeds must be controlled.

Farmers who are interested in entering land in this program should contact the County ASC Office in Oakland not later than October 10.

Education Board To Attend State Meet

Members of the Garrett County School Board, accompanied by Willard L. Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools, are attending a two day meeting at the Lord Baltimore hotel today and Friday. The meeting is one of all school board members and superintendents throughout the state as well as members of the State Board of Education and of the State Department of Education.

Highlighting the program will be addresses by Dr. Paul Mort, of Columbia University, Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, State Superintendent of Schools, and Dr. Freeman Butts, who headed the Maryland Self-Survey Commission appointed by Governor McKeldin to appraise the Maryland educational program.

Dr. Mort will discuss the need for better school financing and propose some ways to bring this about. Dr. Pullen will discuss the duties and responsibilities of county school board members, and Dr. Butts will discuss the findings of his survey as disclosed in a recent release of his survey report. Other portions of the program will be given over to workshop periods and panel discussions.

Dr. Ernest E. Wooden, President of the Baltimore County Board of Education, and president of the state organization, will preside over the meeting.

FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

Deep Creek Park Opening Is Set For Next Summer

Deep Creek Lake Park will be open for camping and picnickers by June 1 of next year if current work goes on without any hitches, it was announced by William H. Johnson, district forester.

Considerable progress has been made on projects this past year and the State Department of Public Improvements has received bids on another phase that is necessary for the large recreation area.

This is for a 20,000 gallon underground concrete reservoir. It will supply water for both the camping and picnicking section.

Johnson said this spring an ample supply of water was struck by the well driller at the eastern end of the park property. A well was dug last year but the driller ran into rock strata.

The district forester said water would be pumped to the reservoir located on higher elevation than the camping or picnic areas, and the supply would be by gravity flow.

Nearing completion is a wash house in the camping area which contains facilities for bathing, toilet and laundry.

The water lines have been installed in the two main sections of the park located on the eastern side of the lake, directly across from the Glendale bridge and Cabin Lodge lookout.

Also under construction is the road leading from the county road into the two main parking sections. The State Department of Forests and Parks received only $10,000 this year for work in the park. This is being allocated to the entrance road.

Under contract is another entrance road into the camping area. This also calls for loops which will be used for parking. Completed is a bathhouse for swimmers and large toilet building for the picnic section.

Talk On Ceramics Features Civic Club Luncheon Tuesday

Thirty-four members of the Oakland Civic club learned how Ceramics as a hobby could be a most interesting occupation as Mrs. Ernest A. Lindsay, chairman of the art group of the Women's Civic club of Maryland discussed this subject at the local club's luncheon meeting Tuesday afternoon at the William-James hotel.

Not only would such a hobby be creative and help to lessen tensions, but may prove a livelihood or business, members were told. Mrs. Lindsay had with her some artistic pieces of ceramics for a display which she used to illustrate her talk in explaining the various methods used.

Mrs. G. Bates Chaires, fine arts chairman, first district, Cumberland, was unable to attend because of a serious illness.

Suggests Checking Homes For Fire Hazards

Oakland firemen, realizing that Fire Prevention Week would be observed next week, October 5 to 11, made recommendations today on what people could do to reduce fire hazards in their homes.

Fire Chief Harold Schell termed fire prevention the responsibility of each family. He said it was especially important to check homes for fire hazards at this time of the year. Records show that fire losses increase an average of more than 40 percent in the September to December period.

Last year fires were responsible for 5,500 deaths. During the last ten years residential fires have increased 70 percent.

Mr. Schell suggested a family search for home fire hazards beginning in the basement and continuing room by room and closet by closet right up into the attic.

The American Way

Making Our Children Little Socialists

By JOHN T. FLYNN

(EDITOR'S NOTE: John T. Flynn is a noted author, lecturer and radio commentator.)

Have you a little socialist in your home? That sounds like a silly question, but it's one that many parents are asking themselves today. They are answering it, too, and to their horror, the answer is often in the affimative. The first sputnik of a year ago supposedly awakened us to our educational system's deficiencies. But it needed no sputniks to reveal to many troubled parents that something cockeyed has been going on in our schools for a long time.

For instance, a country-wide survey made among 5,000 high-school students showed that 60 percent believe the profit motive can be killed off without hurting the American system. Another survey asked the kids: "Who contributes most toward improved living standards—business, government, or union leaders?" Government and union leaders got first and second place. Business ran a poor third.

In other words, great numbers of high-school students, in many places a majority—emerge from our public high schools with a philosophy of life bearing a closer resemblance to European socialism—or even Russian communism—than to traditional American thinking.

With the schools open again, it's a good time to ask how these kids get this way. Of course, many influences are brought to bear on them during their school years. But one of the most important—perhaps the most important—are the textbooks from which they are taught the subjects of history, social science, government and economics.

Let's get one thing straight right away. These books do not teach communism—they do not even teach socialism—or at least they don't call it socialism. This is why it's been so difficult for the average parent to trace down what's been done—and is being done—to his youngsters. The technique used in these books is to slyly and slickly instill in the student a dislike, even disrespect for American history, traditions and way of doing business. This may be done deliberately in many cases; unconsciously in others, by authors who are themselves products of the same kind of teaching. But the net result is to instill in the student a tolerance, even a love for having his life managed by some big, fatherly government. They teach him that businessmen are mean, rapacious, grasping, greedy, while politicians and labor leaders are kindly, humane, always thinking about the rights of the downtrodden and the poor.

There's space to give only a few examples, but I assure you they are not exceptions. On the contrary, they barely indicate the kind of "information" your children are getting from a majority—a great majority—of the textbooks used in our public schools today.

Here's one widely used in high schools, which blames business management for labor violence in strikes. Now, mind you, this book doesn't tell the student that there are times when management is to blame and other times when labor leaders are to blame for violence in strikes. According to this text, management is always to blame.

It is no surprise, therefore, to find that this book also expounds the wonders of government ownership and management of electric power—with not a word about the money the government loses when it runs power plants, money it must collect from all taxpayers. Then, to be sure the lesson is pounded home, this book sends the student for additional recommended reading to a whole brace of communist and procommunist authors. Even on a subject like the tariff this book gives the student a completely one-sided picture, illustrated with cartoons, which leaves him with one notion that all tariffs are wicked.

Here's another high-school textbook which plugs for socialized medicine. It does not call it that, of course, but it tells the student how people in other countries get "free" medical service from the government. It omits completely the story of the ever-rising costs to the taxpayers in those countries, and the abuses and poor quality of the service. In its effort to get over this pet plank in the modern socialist's platform—socialized medicine—this textbook even commits a gross inaccuracy. It says that public opinion polls seems to indicate that the American people want, impliedly, the government to run their medical services. At the time this book was written, there had been no general poll taken on this subject. But the student is left with the idea that everybody is for socialized medicine.

These are only a few examples, which could be multiplied endlessly. But these textbooks are one of the chief reasons why we are having such a difficult time getting our badly battered constitutional, free-enterprise republic back into its American pattern—several generations of young Americans have been spoonfed on this left-wing claptrap and no longer have any idea what the American Republic means.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Maryland sits at the "wheel" of the first mailster, the contract for the manufacture of which Senator Byrd was instrumental in getting for Maryland. Contract for the manufacture of 3400 Post Office mailsters, to cost about $3,000,000.00, was divided between a Western firm and an Eastern firm to save on transportation costs. Senator Beall got the Eastern business for a Maryland firm, the Eshelman Motors Corporation, which subcontracted with Charles D. Briddell, Inc., of Crisfield, Maryland. The manufacturers invited Senator Beall to attend the "unveiling" of the new car at Crisfield this week. Officials of the Post Office Department were on hand to give their stamp of approval to the model and the small Maryland-made car now goes into full production. The new mailsters will make their first appearance on the streets in December, according to Senator Beall.

National Newspaper Week Is October 1-8

The week of October 1 through 8 is National Newspaper Week. This is the one time during the year when the more than 10,000 weekly and daily newspapers of the nation join hands, as a group, and make a concerted effort to promote a better understanding of newspapers and the vital role they play in preserving the great American way of life, which we cherish.

Newspaper Week was instituted nationally in 1940, and is sponsored annually by Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., a nationwide organization of state, regional, and national press association managers.

"Your Newspaper—Guards Your Freedoms!" is the theme for this year's 19th annual National Newspaper Week observance.

Newspaper Week is one of the more significant of the many special weeks observed in this country. It is one which seemingly at first glance is important to only one kind of business, but actually it is of major importance to EVERY citizen.

Newspapers will call attention to themselves in many ways during this week to better familiarize their readers with their operation, their function, their purpose, their problems, and their accomplishments. But, Newspaper Week is not observed by the nation's press necessarily as an occasion for indulgence in self-praise, however.

Its primary purpose, of great significance to the public, reflected in the 1958 theme, "Your Newspaper-Guards Your Freedoms!"

Thus, to keep National Newspaper Week in proper perspective, the newspapers of the nation in addition to telling their own story to their millions of readers, will take this opportunity to remind every American how important and wonderful it is to live in a land with a FREE press. . .that freedom thrives only in an informed nation. . .that a Free press is its voice!

"Your Newspaper—Guards Your Freedoms!" is not just a high sounding slogan, either—it is an alert, and a challenge to each newspaper reader, and each editor—as citizens—to continue to wage a relentless battle, cooperatively, against ALL enemies, foreign and domestic, to keep America's press FREE!

A Pattern In Metal

By W. W. PRICE And WILLIAM ERNEST SHIRER

Front of Shop, 1930

The Shirer Tin shop is the oldest continuous business in Oakland, and possibly in Garrett County, Maryland, having been established by Peter Shirer in 1866. The sons of Peter, Gustavus A. and Silas E. Shirer, learned the tinsmith trade from an able tinner brought to Oakland from Piedmont. His name was Roberts. The shop, known as Shirer Brothers, was managed by the sons for their father and all of the work was done by hand and by hand-powered machines. Hand work is still an important part of the business of this firm.

Four generations of Shirers have maintained the business, located within sight of the Little Youghiogheny river on Oak Street. A handwritten deed made in the year 1871 specifies the present shop site as on Lot Number 10. The legal document was made and recorded in Allegheny County, which at that date included the present Garrett. At the corner of First and Water streets, in which block the Tin Shop stands, is an original cornerstone marking Lot Number 1 of what was known then as the McCarty Addition of Oakland, this stone is to the rear of the place of business.

The brothers, Gus and Silas ran the business together for nearly half a century. In 1914, Uncle Gus, as everyone knew him, retired. At that time, Wm. Ernest became the owner and he and his father, Silas E., continued the tin shop business. Mr. Silas E. Shirer remained active until his retirement in 1932. Another generation came into the tinsmithing firm in 1940 when Scott W. Shirer, son of Wm. Ernest, became a firm partner and with his father their estabishment was known as W. E. Shirer & Son.

The present exterior of the Tin Shop was constructed around 1930. Before that time it was more simple in design. The interior of the shop has been enlarged over the years. Progress in the services of the business required enlargement, modernization and addition of more machines used in performing varied types of work.

One could say that tin created the tinsmith. This silvery-white metal has unusual qualities to serve mankind. The metal is very ductile —capable of being drawn out into wire or forms lengthwise without breaking . . .and it is also malleable at the boiling point of water . . .212 degrees. The metal will combine with many other metals to make them workable and to increase their durability. Tin, it was found, could be applied as a thin coating over sheets of iron and increase the usefulness of such iron. This process, tin-plating, was first learned in Bohemia about 1650. Then, for two centuries of time, no other and better process was developed. In 1865, an Englishman, Morehead, discovered a method of tinplating that yielded larger sheets of metal and did it much faster.

One year after Morehead had extended tinplating, Peter Shirer established his tin business in Oakland. Going over these angles of the business, Wm. Ernest Shirer remarked that such research had taken tinsmithing "clear behind the backdoor." He is, and his ancestors along with his son, an example of the practical man. These men combine their headwork with their handiwork and this is the secret of their importance to the community in which they have long been hard at work to make life better.

The Shirer artisans bought and worked with "Welsh tinplate." This trade term came from that tinplate made in Wales and England. The metals came from mines in that part of the world. The ancient people of Phoenicia obtained tin there from before the time of Christ. They carried the ore in their primitive sailing ships across the sea to the Phoenician city-kingdom on the east shore of the Mediterranean Sea. These tinsmiths of another time so long ago, fashioned practical and decorative objects from their tin-alloyed metals. An archeologist, excavating today, in some ruin or two-thousand-year old tomb in the Middle East, may well turn up some example of that ancient tinsmith's craft.

We however, do not need to remain lost in some ancient tomb looking for tin. We have only to walk up the street to the Presbyterian church in Oakland to see the first significant use of tin on its roof. As it was, doubtless, Welsh tinplate put on in 1880 to keep a tight roof over the church and has served for nearly eighty years. The Shirer Brothers did not put the tin roof on the church. That job was done by mechanics working for the B & O railroad company. They also put a tin roof on the Oakland Hotel which the railroad company built for summer visitors just across the river from the present railroad station.

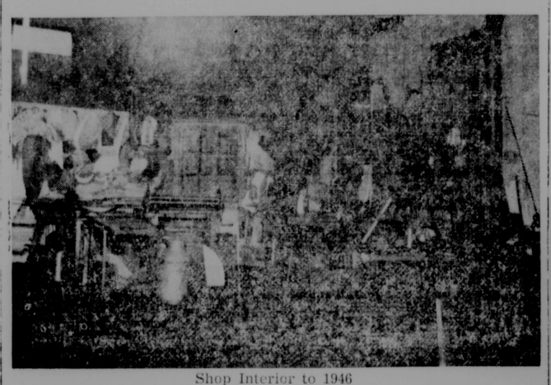
History reflects a people's life and this particular bit properly starts with Peter Shirer. Grandfather Shirer was a versatile man. Before the Civil War he was engaged in business at Grantsville and freighting his wagons over the old National Road—present U. S. 40. We regret that we cannot extend the story of Peter Shirer, but in his business at Grantsville this merchant pioneer has left us his old ledger. . . .possessed by his grandson. . . .and it gives a glimpse of what business was like then. In hauling by horse, a trace was a most important item for it was that part of the harness fastened to the collar and running back to the singletree to haul the wagon. If a trace broke, it could be replaced for 75 cents and it was real leather. One time Peter Shirer needed to hire a horse for seven days to get out lumber. This cost $1.75, and later someone wanted some planks. They bought 178 lineal feet of plank for a cent per foot. . .$1.78. Now, in those days, as at present, some people wanted whiskey. A gallon cost 56½ cents. And, as now, some charged their liquor and the seller entered in his ledger a balance on a whiskey account for 4 cents. After all. . . .if they had to have it, they could be expected to pay the last cent for it, which was right and good business. There are numerous items in this old ledger that reveal what it was like then to earn a dollar the hard way and what that dollar would buy.

Perhaps about the time of the coming of the railroad over Backbone Mountain, Peter Shirer found his hauling business growing less, so he like thousands of others, went to have a look at our West. He got as far as Missouri, and maybe, growing tired of so much flat land, came back to his mountain homeland. He settled at the crossroads south of Oakland, intersection of present U. S. 50 and U. S. 219, and lived in the "red house". It was a frame house sided with plank painted red. Today, the spot is known far and wide as Redhouse, Maryland. Mr. Shirer kept a "drover's pasture" at Redhouse. This was a pasturefield fenced to hold livestock, which at that time was moved in large herds on foot over the Northwestern Turnpike . . . U. S. 50. In the early 1860's, this family came to Oakland. Peter Shirer saw the need for tinsmithing and proceeded to establish such a business in 1866. Many of the tools and the hand-powered machines are still in the Tin Shop, with which Peter set up shop and had his sons taught to handle the work. One of these machines was the roller; designed with three rolls something on the style of a wringer on a washing machine and turned by a crank. A sheet of tinplate turned by hand through this device came out of it curved. The tinsmith picked up these curved sheets and slammed them on his mandrel. There he joined the edges and riveted the metal into a joint of pipe. When a bar of ordinary tin is bent it issues a cracking sound. This is called "tin cry" and results from the friction of the tin crystals; entirely in keeping with the work for tinsmithing is a noisy business that testifies to everyone around that something is going on!

Mr. Shirer tells us that an expert tinner could turn out around four hundred joints of pipe each day. And to do this, a man can't stand around with his hands in his pockets!

The Tin Shop held tools of the trade. There were raising hammers with rounded heads used to fashion bowls and domes for utensils. There were crimpers and shears along with hammers designed for different kinds of jobs. They were good tools, for they still serve in the Shirer shop after all these years of use.

The shop made buckets, stewpans, coffee boilers, wash boilers, kettles, cups, candle holders, and would tackle anything anybody wanted made from their versatile metal. You may ask. . . "What is a coffee boiler?" Well, in those days people took their coffee straight. They dumped in the grounds, fired up the stove under the sturdy tin pot, threw in the eggshells and after tossing in a horseshoe, drank the coffee if the horseshoe floated. Ah, you're exaggerating! Maybe a little bit, but a man had to "bend his back" in the tinsmith's trade and he wanted a drink to take the kinks out of his spine when his day's work was done. And don't forget that the Shirer tinsmiths could make and did make hundreds of bait buckets for the fisherman who came here from the cities to loaf around. Loaf around! Well, we're looking at this thing from a tinner's angle. When a man had to get out and scratch for a dollar or maybe a dollar-and-a-half for ten or twelve hours, he had little time for "goin' fishin". And that is the way the men of the Shirer Tin Shop worked. There were tin roofs to be put on when the weather was fit, and the first tin roof job they did was on the Harvey Criss house in Mountain Lake Park in 1882. Putting on tin roofing was a craft in itself. Never a nailhead showed when the job was done. And humping to it throughout the open season, the Tin Shop would sometimes install a thousand squares per year. Every seam was fashioned and crimped and sealed against weather and wind without the use of solder.



Shop Interior to 1946

About solder in this trade; we find that the first means of heating the irons was by charcoal. The irons were put into a heavy shoe, or cylinder, and heated by the clean charcoal fire. Later, gasoline was developed and used as a heating fuel for the soldering irons. Finally, natural gas came to Oakland and was used for this purpose in the shop. Along with natural gas, time brought the electric welder for rapid spot-welding of metals. However, electricity in the beginning, was available only from darkness until midnight from a small powerhouse located back of the railroad station. Since a busy tinner was usually up by daylight and worked until dark, he did not concern himself about electricity. He just went to bed to rest his back to be ready for the next dawn!

Uncle Gus Shirer was well known for his versatility. He would study a sketch of something somebody wanted him to make. . . .likely a foolish what-not piece. . . .and the next thing the eager dreamer knew, Uncle Gus laid his idea on the bench done in metal. The Tin Shop holds many patterns of many things. Pattern-making was a phase of the work that really took know-how. We have here the idea used by dressmakers adapted to metal. Once you had the pattern, duplicating the article became much quicker and easier.

The Tin Shop moved with the times. Some of them were bad times and the rest good times . . .with always another job to be done. One of the bad times came in 1909. That year the stable burned behind the shop and took the Shirer horses up in its flames. Also valuable wagons and equipment. But, by hiring haulers and other transportation, the firm carried on. Then, in 1912, W. Ernest bought a Ford! It was perhaps the first converted hot-rod this area had ever seen. The firm put a bed on the back of the roadster and went about its business. The young fry always hanging around this place-of-business where something was always going on, would watch their chance and whenever the Ford was cranked, backfired and missed, they'd yell: "Get a horse!"

This coming of the converted roadster widened the scope of the Tin Shop business. And it has continued until today modern trucks reach out with materials and workmen into surrounding states to finish contracts for plumbing, heating, roofing, many kinds of jobs, for the busy firm.

Speaking of a business involved in history and human contacts, we learn that among the visitors at the Shirer Tin Shop, there came in one day a man who said: "I've been wanting for a long time to see this place and meet the people who run it."

W. Ernest said that was interesting and asked why the visitor was so intrigued.

"I was looking at maps in an archive division of a place in London, England, one day," said the caller, "And saw in the lid of the tin map case a label that said it was Made in Shirer Tin Shop, Oakland, Md. USA."

This is unique, if we think about it a moment; the metal for that tin tube, holding a map, in the city of London, likely came from ore mined in England. The tinplate was then shipped half-way across the world to our town. One of the Shirer artisans took the metal and fashioned it into a strong, weathertight, mapcase. Then, back the tin tube went across the sea to be found by that man in England, right where the metal likely originated. There is something else significant . . . . the mapcase represented quality workmanship.

This business which is part of our local history, was started and grew and lived through integrity, good work, pride in craftsmanship, and honesty put into every product and the services that went with such a product. A fair price for value received went inseparably with such product and service. These qualities are built into this historical workshop from the ground up, and those who have some problem involving sheet metal, or other allied work, have learned to look for its solution through the Tin Shop. This is entirely logical, for here men have been figuring out things in a practical, everyday sense for nearly a hundred years. When something needs making or fixing, there is a great deal of know-how available and in reserve to make it or fix it for the betterment of people's lives.

We would not infringe here into the philosopher's field, but it must be said that a strong link joins the significance of this tinsmithing shop to the future of America. Men have known there, and still feel, the dignity and satisfaction of working with their hands to create something. You may rightfully ask: "Is that the whole significance?"

Not quite all, for you will remember that the Roman Caesars came into England and with sword and bloody hands sought to crush the Britons. Those Britons were working at getting out tin ore along with other things. The Caesars conquered the land. . . or so they thought. . . . then went back to Rome to waste the sweat of the common Briton in pageant and pomp. The sturdy miners watched them go and stayed as independent as a hog on ice.

Centuries passed and this British tin . . "Welsh tinplate" finally . . . began to enter the New World. Before the discovery of chinaware, or at least its general use here, this tin played a most important part in the economy of Colonial America. It was called pewterware. Ever hear of a "pewter dollar"?

Not considered worth much. . .a pewter dollar. Then, how about our Twentieth Century dollar? Our dollar. . . . .now worth about half its face value because the other half is eaten up by waste, inflation, taxation. What has all this to do with the Shirer Tin Shop. . . .or any other old business, you demand, and we would point out this pattern in metal for your thoughtful consideration:

The pioneers in the Tin Shop used to buy and use good copper metal as a matter of course. This good copper contained traces and sometimes more than traces of precious metals. . gold, for instance. Then what happened?

Americans wanting to slick up everything, blow their horns about elite purity and the "purest of the pure," handed out with satin gloves on a silk pillow. . . .began to refine the life out of the copper. Robbed of its precious alloys, the good copper gradually lost its life and its strength. It began to weaken and give and turned green far too soon. It failed in its purpose to provide the better life for mankind. . and is still failing symbolically and often literally.

Okay, you tell us . . . .what's the point now? The Briton survived the Roman tyrant, maintained his independence through the dignity of labor, sent his metals to America and helped to create the world we know. Americans have maintained the dignity of working with our hands and believed in an independent life. We will not keep that heritage if we continue to waste it . . .trying to make false metal to do the work of true.

Works For D. I. H. A. For Past Ten Years

Daniel W. Klotz, supervisor of the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative, Inc., began his duties in Garrett county in May, 1948. "Danny," as he would like to be known, was reared on a 180-acre farm in Accident. Along with helping with the farming he raised chickens and operated his own huckster route.

Danny attended Grantsville High school, taking the vocational agriculture course and was graduated in 1940. He won several F. F. A. awards.

In 1947 he married the former Hazel Jane Broadwater and they moved to Grantsville where he was employed in the Pea Cannery. Then the opportunity to join the Maryland Artificial Breeding cooperative came when the company wanted to hire a technician to serve the county area. Danny applied for the job and took his training at the University of Maryland after which he was put to work as a technician. He has been employed for more than ten years and has serviced 16,868 cows during that time.

Danny is shown in the above photograph in conference with Alva Yoder at his dairy farm located out of Grantsville. Yoder has a herd of approximately 14 cows. He has been breeding artificially since July 2, 1951, and declares he is well satisfied with the results he has received. In the past year he had 85 percent conception rate in his herd.

The Klotzes have two children, Charles and Pam, ages 9 and 6, both attending Grantsville school.

Danny is a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran church at Bittinger. He is active in the Casselman Valley Sportsman's association, having served as president. He is now chairman of the standing committee. He also is a member of the Rural Development committee, a director of the Garrett county fair, a member of the Rifle club, Elk Club and a member of the Grantsville Volunteer Fire department. He enjoys boating and fishing in the summer and hunting and fishing in the winter.

Heavy Frost Covers Entire County Area

After due warning on Monday morning when frost dotted the area, a killing freeze descended upon the entire county this morning, sending the thermometer down to 24 degrees.

Even flowers that were well covered did not escape entirely the effects of the clear and cold snap. Thermometers went even lower in some spots, but the official reading at the Weber greenhouse, south of town, was 24.

Some vegetation had been killed on Monday morning. Frost had settled on the ground early but a heavy fog in some areas brought relief. Garden crops were killed in the Grantsville and Accident communities but Oakland was well protected by the covering of fog. There was nothing to stop the frost this morning however and the entire county was well covered.

There was over an inch of rainfall last Saturday, and there was some additional rain on Tuesday.

Robert Glotfelty Is F F B L Booster

Refinishing the floors and redecorating the interior of their modern farm home has been one of the enjoyable projects of the Robert Glotfelty family, Bittinger area residents, during the past year. They formerly lived in with Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Glotfelty, Robert's father, and operated the farm together. The father and mother recently moved into their new home which they built nearby. This improvement will be entered as a part of this year's Farming For Better Living project report in which the family is enrolled.

The Glotfelty family operates a 165 acre dairy and poultry farm. Turkeys have been a main enterprise on the farm, but Glotfelty is working toward keeping laying hens. A milking herd of 30 dairy cows, mostly Holstein, has been producing record amounts of milk. Robert has his cows on test in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and is continually culling out his low producers. He now has ten bred heifers to freshen into the herd, and he is raising 23 young heifers for future replacement. These calves have come from breeding through the Artificial Breeders Cooperative, and they have promise of being higher producers than their mothers.

Better quality hay, mostly alfalfa, is made on this farm through the use of a modern hay curing fan. A seven and one-half horsepower motor and a forty-two inch fan were installed in the hay storage barn a few years ago. The fan and motor are moved from bay to bay in the barn as each one is filled and cured.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glotfelty, Accident, and their children, Rodney Bruce, age 6 and Joan, 4, Farming For Better Living family, examine their dairy cow records in their D. H. I. A. record book. Poor producing cows are found from a study of these records and are sold from the herd. The Glotfeltys recently refinished the floors and redecorated the interior of their modern and attractive farm home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wheels in Motion

When the gears of a machine mesh together in motion, things begin to happen. Wheels turn, and power is transmitted to every part of the mechanism.

Prayer is something like that. Individual prayer is a vital and sacred thing. Each of us has moments when we—and we alone—must turn to God.

And collective prayer—mass prayer—can be a tremendous force for good too. It is as if thousands of "spiritual gears" suddenly were meshed together into a unit directed by a single purpose.

On Worldwide Communion Sunday, remember the power of collective prayer. Join with your neighbors throughout the globe by attending church and praying both for peace and for each other.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Bible Material: Luke 1:1-4; 3:1-14; Acts 1:1-5.
Devotional Reading: Galatians 4:4-7.

Gospel Preface

Lesson for October 5, 1958

THE FIRST three books of the New Testament were not the first to be written. Earlier than these gospels are the letters of Paul. If it had been left to him, there would have been no gospels, for he seems to have taken very little interest in the personal career of Jesus of Nazareth. But there must have been many early Christians who kept asking: Did Jesus do anything in this world but die? If he was a teacher what did he have to say? Where did he live, and how? Who were his friends and his enemies? What did he do or say that made some people hate him enough to kill him? What did he do or say that made other men believe he was the Son of God?

Dr. Foreman

The first three gospels were all written to answer such questions. It is these gospels that will be the source-material for the lessons used by the eighty-plus denominations using the "international" lessons. They will be studying the One in whom we all are one.

The World

The spotlight of interest in the gospels is, of course, Jesus himself. The gospel writers do not include long chapters on historical background, as we might wish they did; for the first readers knew the background very well, they were a part of it. Luke, however, piles a lot of proper names into his third chapter, as if it were anchoring the gospel story in the general story of history, the story of mankind. The gospels are about a real person who lived in a real world. You could have followed him around with a movie camera. The time of Christ was not the "once upon a time" of fairy tales. He was a contemporary of certain Roman and Greek officials very well known, when Luke was writing, otherwise there would have been no sense in mentioning them. Those names, if we take the trouble to study them, set before us in one sentence the Roman empire, a great power system, its far-flung provinces controlled by career men in the pay of Rome, imposing peace on the world, holding even the priesthood of a little obscure people like the Jews as part of their great political system.

The Hope

In his empire, and so to speak underneath it, subjects but not citizens, lived the Jews. Most of them then, as now, lived outside of Palestine. But all Jews to some extent, and the Jews of Palestine intensely, looked forward to a New Age, a time when God would "redeem his people" as they put it; that is, when God would not only "restore the kingdom" to Israel but would make Jerusalem the center and capital of the whole world, in an age where all the best dreams and hopes of the prophets for an age of righteousness and justice and peace would come true.

Center of this hope was the "Messiah" or "Christ" (two words meaning the same thing), who in some way—they were not clear just how—would start that New Age and be its emperor forever.

The Story

The gospels tell the story of the man whose neighbors called him Jesus, and whose most intimate friends, under strict secrecy, called him Messiah. The general public, the Jews at large kept dinging at him to say whether he was, or was not, the Messiah, but he kept public silence on that point almost to the end. You might say that the gospels are the story of the real Messiah came to the very people who were looking for him, but came in a way that shocked them into violent opposition and even hatred. All three "synoptic" gospels, Matthew, Mark and Luke, tell the story in much the same way; John has his own different way. Many characters come on and off the stage, and they are real enough; but the center, as was said, is always Jesus. In these stories he comes alive as a historical Person. Across the centuries the question comes to modern as to ancient man: Here is Jesus: are you for him or against him?

What Scientists Have Said

Regretably some teachers of science in our colleges and public schools have led their students to believe that scientists believe the Bible to be scientifically untrue. James Dwight Dana of Yale University, probably the most eminent geologist America has ever produced said to his graduating class, "Young men! As you go out into the world to face scientific problems, remember that I, an old man who has known science all his life long, say to you, that there is nothing truer in all the Universe than the scientific statements contained in the Word of God". Dr. Howard Kelly, authority on radium and herpetology, one of the founders of Hopkins University said, "A definite Christian faith is one really important thing in life. I mean this literally. It is vastly more important than any profession; than any scientific research; than all the other activities of a man's life". W. Bell Dawson, Gold Medalist in Geology and Natural Science at McGill University says, "From a life-long study of the Scriptures, I am convinced that every subject on which it touches is reliable and every word deserves consideration." Great men of science take their stand by the Bible. Remember that the next time you hear someone say the Bible is unscientific!

Children's BIBLE STORY

JOSEPH'S BROTHERS COME TO EGYPT

(This story is based on Genesis 41-43)

HELLO BOYS AND GIRLS!

Do you ever get discouraged and feel blue when everything seems to go wrong? Then remember that it is always darkest just before dawn, as today's story of Joseph and his brothers will prove.

We have already learned that Joseph was made "ruler over all the land of Eqypt," in order that he might prepare for the seven years of famine that were to follow the seven years of plenty as he had predicted. During these seven prosperous years, Joseph laid up immense supplies of food in giant storehouses in every city. When the seven years of famine began, and the Egyptians cried to Pharaoh for bread, his answer was: "Go unto Joseph...and Joseph opened all the storehouses, and sold unto the Egyptians...And all countries came into Egypt to Joseph for to buy corn."

As the famine extended to Canaan, who do you suppose came from there to buy bread? You guessed it: Joseph's brothers, ten of them, for the youngest, Benjamin, remained at home with his aged father, Jacob. As the ten brothers bowed before Joseph he immediately recognized them, but they did not recognize him. Joseph noticed that Benjamin was not with them, and he wondered why? Could it be that he also had met with foul play? He was determined to find out and also to learn whether his dear old father was still alive. Assuming a severe tone, he said sternly: "Ye are spies." They denied the charge and told him all about their family, and from their words Joseph learned that both Benjamin and his father were still alive.

Still Joseph pretended to doubt their word, and so he put them all in prison for three days. After releasing them from prison he told them that they must bring back Benjamin, and in the meantime, he would keep one of them in prison as a hostage. You can just imagine how they all felt when they heard this. "And they said one to another, we are verily guilty concerning our brother (Joseph)...therefore is this distress come upon us. And they knew not that Joseph understood them . . . And he turned himself aside and wept..and returned to them..and took from them Simeon, and bound him before their eyes."

With sad hearts the nine returned to Canaan and related to their father, Jacob, all that had taken place. At first Jacob refused to let Benjamin go, saying mournfully, "Joseph is not, and Simeon is not, and ye will take Benjamin away. All these things are against me." Compelled by hunger, Jacob finally consented to let Benjamin go with them.

Just think, boys and girls, at the very time when Jacob thought that "all these things" were against him, God was really working out everything in his favor. "These things" not only saved him and his family from starvation, but they were the means of re-uniting him with his dearly beloved son, Joseph, whom he never again expected to see in this world. So remember this story the next time you feel blue, and also the Bible promise that "All things work together for good to them that love God." Roman 8:28.

DON'T CHANGE TIRES ON THE ROAD

Changing tires on the roadside is always dangerous. This dangerous procedure can be eliminated by servicing tubeless tires with AIR GUARD, the "weightless" sealant.

MAKE YOUR TIRES PUNCTURE-SEALING

Add the safety of puncture-sealing to the tubeless tires now on your car. New puncture-sealant prevents sudden air loss even after puncturing object is ejected from the tread of your tire.

The most recent technological advance from United States Rubber's Research Laboratories is a "weightless sealant" called AIR GUARD. This sealant, when placed in tubeless tires, ends the danger of roadside tire changing due to tread punctures.

AIR GUARD makes any tubeless tire equal in mobile puncture safety to the highest priced puncture-sealing tires available today. All tubeless tires have puncture-sealing characteristics as long as the puncturing object remains in the tread.

Field tests proved, however, that tubeless tires serviced with AIR GUARD maintain safe, drivable air pressure for 48 hours after puncturing object has been thrown out.

At highway speeds, tires have a tendency to throw out the puncturing object, leaving a hole in the tread. Once the puncturing object is ejected, air loss is sudden and dangerous. With AIR GUARD in your tires you do not experience sudden air loss because AIR GUARD rushes in and plugs the hole left by the ejected puncturing object.

Safe, drivable air pressure is maintained for 48 hours. Thereafter, you simply bring air pressure back to normal. You can keep this up for hundreds of miles until permanent repair can be conveniently made.

All punctured tires eventually require permanent repairs, even the most expensive puncture-sealing types. AIR GUARD permits repairing in the regular manner; and, unlike other sealants, has no adverse effect upon the tire's performance. AIR GUARD does not affect the handling characteristics or riding qualities of your car . . . will never cause out-of-balance condition.

AIR GUARD is an exclusive product of U. S. Rubber Company. This puncture-sealing service is rendered in less than an hour for all five tires. Come in today and add the safety of AIR GUARD to the tubeless tires now on your car.

THE REPUBLICAN XX

Pratt Library

Mature Leadership....

Voters could not help but be impressed with the five Republican candidates who were in Garrett county two weeks ago for a caravan tour of the county and for the dinner meeting that followed.

All five candidates were speakers at the conclusion of the dinner and it was plainly evident that they would be a team hard to beat under any circumstances. Two of them, J. Glenn Beall and DeWitt S. Hyde, are presently in the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives, a part of an administration that rejected political expediency and concentrated on meeting a business recession with sensible, well planned actions which would not run up a fantastic increase in the national debt.

They were part of the group that held firm against politically inspired cries from Democrats for massive spending and simultaneous tax cuts. This demonstration of calm and accurate economic leadership by the administration, with the help of such representatives, exposed the shallow motives of those who were saying a few months ago that we were in a depression and that planned inflation was the only answer.

They withstood the Democrats in Congress who proposed an increase in federal spending. They opposed putting additional people on a Federal dole. They withstood an election-year tax cut which the Democrats recklessly pressed for.

They showed conclusively that they were the party of mature leadership which refused to panic in the face of the temporary economic dip.

Another candidate was also in that Congress, and presently is a candidate for governor—James Devereux. He and the other two candidates for state offices, Robert Wallace, for Attorney General, and John A. Derr, for Comptroller of the Currency, revealed that they were solidly entrenched in the program of private initiative. They are most deserving of the support of all voters at the general election in November.

Bloomington Road Opened Last Week

The State Roads Commission has opened a 2.65-mile section of the Bloomington road in this county, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer.

He said the improvement to Maryland route 135 was opened to traffic last Wednesday afternoon. Completed as a cost of $634,459.24 the project provides an improved highway from Bloomington to the top of the mountain near Swanton and eliminates a Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing at Bloomington.

Also scheduled for opening later this month will be the stretch of highway from Deer Park to Mt. Lake Park. Under construction at this time is the same route from Mt. Lake Park to Oakland and U. S. 219, from Oakland to Gortner. When the latter project is completed another grade crossing will be eliminated, the crossing at Weber's, south of town.

Another highway project is improvement of the short-cut to the top of the mountain from the Bloomington road which will connect with the Kitzmiller road and which also will eventually eliminate another grade crossing at Swanton. Grading on this section is expected to be completed this year.

Springs Telephone Company Purchased By 2 Other Groups

The Springs Mutual Telephone company, which has provided telephone service in the Springs-Grantsville area since 1897, has been purchased by two of the larger telephone companies.

At a special meeting of shareholders of the company held Monday, October 6, in the Springs Fellowship center, the membership voted to accept the proposals of General Telephone Company of Pennsylvania and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company of Maryland to purchase and rebuild the telephone system in the Springs-Grantsville area.

Early in 1957 the membership of the Springs Mutual elected Walter C. Otto, Aaron G. Miller and Homer M. Yoder as a committee to negotiate with adjoining telephone companies to replace the system which had been considered inadequate.

Officials of C. and P. and General estimate an expenditure of $300,000 in this area will be required to provide the modern facilities which are enjoyed by the surrounding communities.

Officers of the campany said that during recent years it had become increasingly difficult for the small company to keep pace with the larger companies in providing modern telephone service.

The present board of directors includes Daniel H. King, president; Cleman E. Folk, vice-president; Homer M. Yoder, secretary-treasurer. Merle R. Kolb and Edward J. Davis are being retained in the office until liquidation and distribution of the company assets has been completed.

Retired Miner Shoots Self In Mt. Lake Home

Robert Sharpless Uses German High Powered Army Rifle

Robert Allen Sharpless, 69-year-old retired coal miner who had resided in Mt. Lake Park for the past three years, was found dead on a bedroom floor of his home yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. He died as a result of a self-inflicted rifle wound in his left chest, according to authorities.

Dr. James Feaster, acting deputy medical examiner, ruled the death a suicide. State Police said the victim used an 8 mm. German army rifle in shooting himself.

Mr. Sharpless was found on the bedroom floor and the rifle was nearby. Doctor Feaster said the man had been downstairs watching a television program with his wife. He told her he was going upstairs to the bathroom and asked her to turn the television sound up so he could hear it when he left the room.

Shortly afterward the man shot himself. He and his wife were the only ones in the house at the time.

The rifle reportedly had been brought back to the States by a son who served in Europe during World War II.

Tfc. D. A. Tucker and Deputy Sheriff Bruce Close investigated.

A native of this county, the victim had lived in Mt. Lake Park for about three years and had come there from Kitzmiller.

A son of the late William and Jane Davis Sharpless, he was born November 30, 1888. He was a member of the United Mine Workers, local 8166, district 16.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Bessie Jane Stewart Sharpless; three sons, Wilburn Sharpless, Freedom, Pa.; George W. Sharpless, Pittsburgh; Russell Sharpless, Rochester, Pa.; two daughters, Mrs. Pearl Fike, Aliquippa, Pa.; Mrs. Esta Ferguson, Mt. Lake Park; three brothers, Herbert Sharpless, Kitzmiller; McKinley and Charles Sharpless, both Vindex; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Stark, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Alice Bell, Elk Garden; 21 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hire Handicapped Is Theme of Special Week October 6 - 12

The week of October 6 to 12 is being observed as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

Officials in the Employment service declare that everybody profits when employers hire the physically handicapped "because they can add to the efficiency of their work force, they can be restored to economic independence and they can help make the nation and state stronger."

The Oakland office of the Department of Employment Security placed nine handicapped workers in private employment in the past two months. Employers who hired these individuals have advised the office that these persons are most satisfactory and do the job required of them without griping or watching the clock.

Charles L. Briner, manager of the office said his workers continued to try to do everything possible to aid the handicapped in becoming self-sustaining citizens in the community.

County Youth Is 4-H Trip Winner

Garland E. Steyer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Steyer, of Mt. Lake Park, is one of four outstanding 4-H club members awarded an all-expense trip to the fourth annual 4-H Dairy conference in Chicago this week.

This all-expense paid trip to the dairy conference is designed to give recognition to older 4-H members for outstanding achievement in 4-H dairy animal projects and to offer them further educational information and inspiration in the dairy field.

Steyer, a senior at Southern High school, has been enrolled in the 4-H dairy project since 1951. He won the blue dairy award at the Maryland State Fair this year.

Since 1951 Steyer has had five cows and nine calves involved in his project. He said he had "made a financial profit and saved a good percentage of it by selling the milk from my cow, by sellling the calves, and by not keeping the cows that are not profitable." The showing of his dairy animals in 4-H dairy shows and the Garrett county fair have brought a number of blue ribbons to him.

Steyer has had full responsibility of the family herd for over a year. The project started when he received a calf from the Garrett County Dairy club which is sponsored by the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

He is a member of the Ryan's Glade 4-H club and has been a club member for eight years.

In addition to his project work Steyer has served as secretary, vice-president and is now president of his club as well as a member of the Garrett 4-H county council.

He is the third 4-H club member from the Ryan's Glade club to be selected for part participation in state activities in 1958. John Wildesen was in livestock judging at the State Fair and Hayes Dignan was in the Tractor Operators' contest.

At the dairy conference Steyer and the other three Maryland representatives, will meet national dairy leaders and gain information on dairy production, processing and marketing.

Qualifying for a bronze palm, a rank above Eagle Scout, was David Gonder. Eddie Franiz qualified for the rank of first class scout and three scouts qualified for the rank of Second class. They were Tom Miller, Dave Livingood and Jerry McClung.

YOU'RE ON HISTORIC GROUND—Such was the reminder given to the twenty-two persons who participated in the annual historical tour last Saturday. The picture was taken as the group stood on a portion of the historic Braddock road near the Pennsylvania line, just about 100 yards from the present U. S. Route 40. In the foreground, left to right are Felix G. Robinson, who gave brief commentaries on the history of the spots visited; Linda Teets, of Swanton; Mrs. W. W. Grant, president of the Garrett County Historical Society, and Carolyn O'Brien, also of Swanton. Miss Teets and Miss O'Brien, members of the Swanton Girl Scout Troop No. 11, were stuyding county history in order to make them eligible to make a scout trip to Colorado next summer. Several other Girl scouts also made the tour. When the picture was snapped Mr. Robinson was making a study of a bottled gentian which he had picked from the middle of the abandoned roadway. The historians visited the grave of General Schofield at Meadow Mountain, Little Meadows, Tomlinson's Inn, Casselman Hotel, Bear Camp, site of Simpkin's Tavern, the site of St. Mary's church, Blooming Rose, and the site of the Dr. James McHenry residence at McHenry. The group ate lunch at Bear Camp, after which they viewed the Braddock trail. A portion of the Braddock trail is now used for U. S. Route 40.—Photo by The Republican.

Sky Line to Alter, Hinebaugh Building to Lose Two Stories

Probably the greatest change of the sky-line of Oakland in twenty-five years will be accomplished in the near future when the two top floors of the Hinebaugh Restaurant building will be removed.

Actually there was only one floor, although there were two sets of windows, and the space was occupied by a former opera house which bathed in glory from 1894 to somewhere around 1910.

With a slanting floor and a balcony running around three sides of the room, this area was filled to overflowing on many occasions when home talent shows and travel vaudevilles were presented. There were four box seats for those who wanted to pay the higher prices of the day, two on a level with the stage, and two on a level with the balcony.

Most of the home talent plays of the era were produced by Miss Anna Manges, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Edmund Manges, of the Lutheran church. Mrs. Manges married Ed. Swartz a number of years ago and resides in York, Pa.

The vaudeville era for the Hinebaugh building declined with the advent of the moving picture theatre of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Nally, on Alder street, plus the fact that the opera house was also condemned as being unsafe for the large crowds that always gathered there.

The Hinebaugh building was constructed in 1894 by John Shartzer, contractor, an uncle of Earl "Turk" Shartzer, now one of the owners of Miller's Sanitary Market in Oakland. The theatre seats were removed from the building a number of years ago and later the theatre curtains disappeared. There has been nothing left but atmosphere for thirty or more years.

Adult Education Classes Planned At Southern High

Plans for Adult Education classes at Southern were outlined this week by Kenneth Johns, Principal.

"At the present time, three courses, in the commercial field and one shop course are being planned, provided there is sufficient demand for classes. Typing 1, typing II, and bookkeeping will be offered, provided a minimum number of ten can be present at each meeting of the class," Mr. Johns said.

An organizational meeting of all persons who would desire instruction in the commercial areas mentioned above is set for Tuesday, October 14, in room 107 at 7:30 P. M. Mr. Dean, commercial teacher at Southern will be in charge.

If, for any reason, a person cannot be present at this organizational meeting, he should call the school between 2:15 and 4:00 P. M. and ask for Mr. Dean.

A class in welding, taught by Mr. Richard Bishoff, will begin on November 3. The class will meet for ten three-hour sessions. A minimum number of ten persons must be present each evening.

Accident Victim Is Hospitalized

Lester W. Broadwater, 48, of route 1, Avilton, who was injured in a two-car collision late Monday night near Grantsville on U. S. route 40, was reported in "fair" condition at Miner's hospital in Frostburg.

Police said the man sustained a possible fractured neck. X-rays have been taken.

Mr. Broadwater was one of the two drivers involved in the accident which occurred about 11:30 p. m. Monday three miles east of Grantsville. Charles Ray Murray, 19, of Grantsville, driver of the other car, was uninjured, police said. The accident occurred when Mr. Murray was attempting to make a left turn into his driveway.

The car driven by Mr. Broadwater skidded into the other car. Tfc. Donald R. Wade investigated.

The project is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Maryland State Firemen's Association and is for the benefit of all the hospitalized volunteer firemen of Maryland.

784 Excursionists To Invade County For Autumn Glory

Some 784 excursionists are set to "invade" Oakland and Garrett county on Sunday, October 12, in the Autumn Glory tour scheduled for this year by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

The event is sponsored by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council and the Garrett County Turkey Growers, and the schedule will run similar to previous years.

The excursionists will arrive at the Oakland station about 12 o'clock noon where they will be met by the Southern High school band. They will then board some twenty school buses for a tour of Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake, a turkey farm and the Deep Creek State Park area.

One half of the buses will lead off for Swallow Falls while the other half will head for the Deep Creek Lake State Park area.

At the Falls there will be booths of the Turkey Growers and the Promotion Council and at the state park there will be a booth of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. Soft drinks, coffee, candy and other packaged food will be available.

Five turkeys are to be given away, two furnished by the Promotion Council, two by the Chamber of Commerce, and one by the Turkey Growers.

Usually the Governor has proclaimed the week as Autumn Glory time when the fall foliage is in its most beautiful stage.

Chamber of Commerce officials were notified that the railroad company stopped selling tickets Monday at 2 o'clock when the number 784 had been reached as this was the capacity for the train. In previous years two excursion trains had been used, but company officials said when this happened the excursionists had the tendency to by-pass the first one, causing loss in revenue, most of them waiting for the second and final week.

Tickets will be distributed on the train so that passengers will know which bus to board as soon as they get off the train.

The excursion is scheduled to return to Baltimore and Washington sometime after four o'clock.

Cub Scouts to Help In Clothing Drive

Friday night the Cub scouts of Oakland will be ringing doorbells to ask for used clothing to replenish the "Clothes Closet" which the Junior Woman's Civic club maintains to clothe underprivileged school children.

The Cubs are asking an Oakland resident who has old clothing to contribute to leave his porch light burning as they will make stops at these houses only. The boys will gather at the scout hall at 7 o'clock Friday night and begin their drive at 7:30.

Officials said the closet is practically empty at present. The women have advised that there is particular need of old shoes, overshoes, and undergarments, but that any clothing of any size would be appreciated.

Operation "Clothes Closet" has proved successful in the past year as a means of distributing clothing collected by the Cubs last October and donations made to the Junior Civic club since that time. Over fifty families have been aided this year with a total of over 200 children.

DON'T CHANGE TIRES ON THE ROAD

Changing tires on the roadside is always dangerous. This dangerous procedure can be eliminated by servicing tubeless tires with AIR GUARD, the "weightless" sealant.
MAKE YOUR TIRES PUNCTURE-SEALING
Add the safety of puncture-sealing to the tubeless tires now on your car. New puncture-sealant prevents sudden air loss even after puncturing object is ejected from the tread of your tire.
The most recent technological advance from United States Rubber's Research Laboratories is a "weightless sealant" called AIR GUARD. This sealant, when placed in tubeless tires, ends the danger of roadside tire changing due to tread punctures.
AIR GUARD makes any tubeless tire equal in mobile puncture safety to the highest priced puncture-sealing tires available today. All tubeless tires have puncture-sealing characteristics as long as the puncturing object remains in the tread.
Field tests proved, however, that tubeless tires serviced with AIR GUARD maintain safe, drivable air pressure for 48 hours after puncturing object has been thrown out.
At highway speeds, tires have a tendency to throw out the puncturing object, leaving a hole in the tread. Once the puncturing object is ejected, air loss is sudden and dangerous. With AIR GUARD in your tires you do not experience sudden air loss because AIR GUARD rushes in and plugs the hole left by the ejected puncturing object.
Safe, drivable air pressure is maintained for 48 hours. Thereafter, you simply bring air pressure back to normal. You can keep this up for hundreds of miles until permanent repair can be conveniently made.
All punctured tires eventually require permanent repairs, even the most expensive puncture-sealing types. High School Elevens To Stage Homecoming Tilt

Game Set For Saturday On Southern High Gridiron

Northern Huskies and the Southern Highlanders will meet on the gridiron Saturday at Oakland in the latter's homecoming celebration.

Several unusual events have been planned including a huge pep rally and parade.

A bonfire will start off the pep rally on the football field at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, October 10. The football team and Coach Richard Travis will be presented. The Southern High school band, under direction of Raymond Borrell will play and cheerleaders will be in action.

The Northern High student body also has scheduled a pep rally for Friday afternoon with the Senior band and cheerleaders leading the student body.

The parade is scheduled for Oakland on Saturday afternoon beginning at 12:30, starting in front of the annex. Clubs and organizations taking part will be Southern High's band, the Student Council, Future Teachers of America, Future Nurses association, Girls' Athletic association, the senior chorus, cheerleaders, the Highlander staff, Future Farmers of America and Science department plus the members of the football team. Members of the Acorn staff and monitors are busy making plans for the event.

Starting at the Annex the parade will proceed on Fifth to Oak, to Third, to Center, to Second. A pep rally and thuse will be held on Second street, after which the parade will continue to Third, Oak, Fifth and out to the football field.

The game will get under way at 1:30 o'clock. This will be the third meeting for the two teams with Southern trying for its first victory. Northern won in 1956 21 to 18, and again in 1957 33 to 0.

Southern started football in 1954 but Northern had no team that year. In 1955 Northern organized a team and played the junior varsity of Southern.

Neither team has had a successful season this year but whichever one wins on Saturday will consider it a successful season, regardless of the balance of the games. Northern has lost to Meyersdale and Masontown, while Southern has dropped contests to Petersburg, Moorefield, Romney School for the Deaf, St. Francis High of Morgantown, and Beall High of Frostburg.

A Homecoming dance has been scheduled in the Southern High school gymnasium from 8 to 11 on Saturday evening: It is open to the alumni and the general public. The music will be furnished by the Southern High dance band.

A football queen and her attendants will be named and the queen will be crowned. Queen candidates are Nancy White, Georgianna Glotfelty and Judy Green. Other entertainment will be guitar selections by Bob Oliverio, a dance, "Autumn Leaves," by Amanda Dixon. The latter will be held during intermission.

The price for the dance, sponsored by the Cheerleaders, G. A. A. and Varsity club, will be one dollar per couple and 75 cents for single admission.

Who in the world built this beauty... the only car with wide-track wheels?

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS—WIDE-TRACK WHEELS

Wheels moved out 5 inches for the widest, steadiest stance in America—better cooling for engine and brakes—lower center of gravity for better grip on the road, safer cornering, smoother ride, easier handling. You get the most beautiful roadability you've ever known—in America's Number (1) Road Car!

PONTIAC! America's Number (1) Road Car!

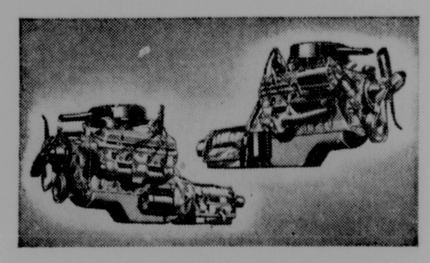
Those exclusive Wide-Track Wheels sparked a chain reaction of wonderful new ideas: You can see the trim, tailored new look . . . it's inches lower without sacrificing roominess or road clearance. The first time you drive it, you'll discover this beauty handles city corners and clings to country curves in a way the conventional narrow-gauge cars can't hope to imitate. And the ride . . . the miraculous freedom from sway, dive and bounce . . . this is an experience in buoyant travel that you won't believe—until you try it.

But there's still more to the new Pontiac to stamp it as the big change for '59:

Vista-lounge interiors with full 360-degree visibility . . . seats actually wider than a sofa . . . Air-Cooled True-Contour Brakes for smooth, effortless control, stop after stop after stop.

The industry's most advanced V-8, Pontiac's Tempest 420, gives you spectacular new responsiveness. And there's a new companion power plant, the Tempest 420E, that delivers phenomenal extra mileage—and does it on regular octane gas!

Come see why no other car can possibly be so new as the new Pontiac—three series: magnificent Bonneville, dramatic Star Chief and brilliant new Catalina.



2 Great New Engines

If you love action—you get the liveliest on wheels with the new Tempest 420 V-8, acclaimed by automotive experts as America's most advanced power plant.

If you want the accent on economy, choose Pontiac's new Tempest 420E. This new V-8 actually delivers better mileage than many smaller cars with so-called "economy engines" . . . and it uses regular octane fuel.

The twelfth grade Home Economics class is sponsoring this project under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Randol, teacher.

Clubs Meet

A small number of the clubs met Tuesday morning for the first meeting of the year. This meeting was held to form organizational plans for the year.

Those clubs which met were Junior and Senior Future Farmers of America, Future Nurses of America, Future Teachers of America, and Future Business Leaders of America.

Three School Days

Students of Southern will attend only three days of school this coming week. Thursday and Friday the teachers will be attending their annual teachers' convention in Baltimore.

Several members of the State Department of Education accompanied him. He is here upon the invitation of the superintendent.

These figures are the highest participation since Southern opened its doors.

T. V. Program

High school students interested in Advanced Physics have been informed of a special program to be presented over TV each morning at 6:30 a. m. Daylight Saving Time.

Since this program will be one hour earlier for students at Southern, it was felt that not many students would listen at this time.

However, once Standard Time is used nationwide, a number of students indicated that they might tune in on the program.

Reports

Reports concerning students doing unsatisfactory work were mailed to homes this week.

Cheering Section

Students are reminded to sign up for the special cheering section for the game with Northern, Saturday, October eleventh.

Plans are being made for a card section similar to those found at college games. The letter S in red and white and the letter N in blue and gold.

Council Replaces

for water and sewerage privileges for proposed residences near Southern High school. Before granting the request the council rescinded a resolution which was passed September 10, 1956, which had stopped all such extensions outside the corporate limits.

A letter from the Department of Health was read at the September meeting in which all construction work was ordered stopped on laying of water mains until formal approval was received from the State Department of Health. The decision was based on the contention that the Oakland sewer system was already overloaded and that the water supply was not overly adequate.

The new resolution puts back on the books almost exactly what was there in September of 1956.

It has been a case of "now you get it, now you don't" as far as property owners outside the corporate limits are concerned.

Another Resolution Accepted

Another resolution was accepted by the Council Monday evening. It agreed to accept an offer of the West Maryland Power company to release a mortage of that company, upon payment of two electric bonds and the furnishing of enough money to pay for a third bond plus interest which becomes due next year.

The mortgage was originally executed in September of 1922 when the West Maryland Power company took over the municipal electric works of the town, for $39,000, promising to pay $1,000 a year plus interest at 5 percent. The company owns bonds 39 and 40 but bond 38 is held by an individual in Washington who refuses to relinquish it until it becomes due.

The transaction is being made to clear the records of the Power company and is more or less a book transaction with the exception of $1,050 which the Power company agrees to pay to the Mayor and Town Council so that it may pay off bond No. 38 when it becomes due next year.

Hallowe'en Celebration

The council gave permission to the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club and the Mt. City Band to conduct a Hallowe'en parade on the streets on Friday, October 31.

Among other action the Council decided to introduce a three-lane traffic system on Third street between Banker's lane and the traffic light on the corner of Third and Green;

Decided to repair a portion of Dennett road through cooperation with the county;

Turned over to the Golf committee a request made by Ralph Pritts, representing the Oakland Golf club, to clear the underbrush from the area in rear of the club house and to erect picnic tables and several fireplaces for charcoal burning.

Receipts for the month amounted to $6,332.66 with $120.45 from water, $1,383.51 from taxes and $4,828.70 from miscellaneous items. Among the miscellaneous items was $952.74 from parking meters, $1,200 from the C. and A. Gas company for the gas franchise; and $1,957.88 from race tracks. Expenditures amounted to $13,794.46. Included in the expenditures was $1,222.49 for street labor, $2,095.09 for street supplies, $2,159.25 for final payment on road grader, $1,803.51 for water supplies, $1,350 for capital outlay in water department and $850 for the hospital special emergency fund.

Two permits were granted, one to James Riggleman to place a trailer on the Crosco property on Water street, and to Carlton Hinebaugh to add a porch to his present residence on Fourth street. Sunday movie tax amounted to $44.55.

Advanced Math Is Being Taught Group In Southern High

A selected group of students at Southern are receiving instruction in advanced mathematics, ordinarily not found in most high schools, W. Kenneth Johns, principal, announced today.

The course, which is in an experimental stage this year, is being taught by Albert Ringer, mathematics instructor.

The course includes an introduction to analytic geometry and calculus, both of which are ordinarily found in first year college courses. Specific topics to be covered in the course include conic sections, polar coordinates, parametric equations, integration, differentiation, second derivatives, maxima and minima to mention only a few. Most of the students enrolled in the course are from grades eleven and twelve. However, there are four tenth graders taking the course. Each student is also taking one other class in higher mathematics.

Mr. Johns pointed out that Mr. Ringer was well qualified to teach the course. Mr. Ringer holds his B. S. degree from Fairmont State College and his master's degree from West Virginia University. He also holds twenty-one additional hours beyond the master's degree.

In order to teach this course, Mr. Ringer gave up his regular planning period and teaches a full six periods. "His interest and enthusiasm for teaching and working with youth deserves commendation," Mr. Johns concluded.

Gets Her Turkey

Mrs. Robert Proudfoot apparently doesn't fool around when she goes hunting for turkeys. She was with her husband and three other men in the Herrington Manor section on Tuesday afternoon when she spied a bird in the area.

No such thing as a shotgun for her. She just used a .22 calibre rifle which her husband had purchased just a day or two previous to the hunt. The first shot dropped the gobbler but he continued to flop around. So she took aim again and pulled the trigger. The second shot entered the bird very close to where the first one had struck.

Hospital Executive To Be Next Speaker For Loar Auxiliary

Mrs. Earl L. Chambers, president of the Maryland Association of Hospital auxiliaries, will be the speaker at the next luncheon meeting of the Loar Auxiliary to the Garrett County Memorial hospital, scheduled for next Thursday, October 16.

Mrs. Chambers was graduated from Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in 1930 and did post graduate work at Johns Hopkins. She has served on the Civic league board, is volunteer service chairman for Maryland Association of Hospital Auxiliaries, and has written scripts for various benefit performances.

Mrs. Webb DeWitt, president of the auxiliary, will preside. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Scott W. Shirer, Mrs. Newton Coplin or Mrs. Willard Swartzentruber. Mrs. O. T. Graser and Mrs. Cecil Smith are making arrangements for the luncheon.

Study Being Made Of Veterans' Bonus

A special veterans commission established by the 1958 General Assembly of Maryland to study the veterans' bonus and other veterans legislation, is conducting public hearings in order that these questions may be fully aired.

A public hearing has been scheduled to be held at Cumberland on Wednesday, October 15. Candidates for governor and other state wide candidates as well as candidates for the state legislature are being asked to appear before the commission.

John A. Stubbs, Jr., commander of the Disabled American Veterans, has urged chapters throughout the state to have representatives at the meeting. He is also scheduled to be present at the V. F. W. club at Friendsville to conduct a meeting and talk to the veterans on 8 o'clock.

Mr. Stubbs is requesting the presence of all veterans of the county who are interested in a bonus.

Rectory Fire Endangers Former Oakland Resident

The Rev. John S. Martin, native of Oakland and former editor of the Baltimore Catholic Review, was one of four priests who escaped serious injury recently when a fire broke out in the rectory of St. Vincent's church in Baltimore.

Father Martin, who is pastor of St. Vincent's parish, said the only priest injured was the Rev. Clare J. O'Dwyer, an assistant who injured his left foot when he attempted to kick down a door of his room in an attempt to escape the fire.

Father Martin was aroused by the smell of smoke and was ready to call the fire department when he heard fire sirens approaching.

The blaze was confined to the study which destroyed everything but some books of Father Martin which were in an old and heavy bookcase.

More than 80 percent of the state's growth occurred in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince George's counties.

The total estimated population for Maryland is 2,976,800 with Baltimore having 984,000.

There was no change in the population of either Allegany or Garrett counties. Garrett county was listed at 19,000 while Allegany county had 82,000.

Tax Increase For Employers Outlined

The Department of Employment Security offered an explanation this week concerning the tax rise that went into effect for employers July 1 as a result of substantial increases in unemployment in the last year or so.

The rise was in accordance with an "escalator" clause in the Maryland Unemployment Insurance law which provides that whenever the Unemployment Insurance fund is drawn upon heavily and fails to certain levels, tax rates are automatically increased.

The July 1 increase means that most employers will pay at a rate 0.3 percent (three tenths of one percent) of taxable payrolls higher than they have been paying.

The employer's tax rate is determined on the basis of his "benefit ratio," a device which has the effect of pegging his rate at higher levels if his workers or ex-workers have drawn heavily upon the fund or at lower levels if they have drawn benefits to a lesser extent.

The benefit ratio is obtained in the case of each employer by dividing the dollar amount of benefits paid his workers and ex-workers for the 36-consecutive month period ended March 31, 1957, by the total of his annual taxable payrolls (on which Unemployment Insurance contributions have been paid) for the three calendar years ended December 31, 1958.

The department also announced that the Maryland Unemployment Insurance taxes for the third calendar quarter are due October 31.

Junior Fire Marshal Program Is Started

National Fire Prevention Week, October 5 to 11 has marked the start of a year-long program of local Junior Fire Marshal activities in the county.

The Independent Insurance agents association of Garrett and Allegany counties is cooperating with the Allegany-Garrett County Firemen's association in the program. Already distributed this week are pamphlets to teachers of the third, fourth and fifth grades.

The program was said to be of particular significance this year because last year for the first time in the nation's history fire losses passed the one billion dollar mark. For the first six months of 1958 the property loss from fire was running six percent above that for the same period last year.

Special emphasis is to be given to a study of fire problems of other nations but the fundamentals of fire safety in the home will continue to be the basic part of the program.

The educational material will stress the fire dangers in homemade rockets. The campaign this week centers around a home inspection report which was distributed in the elementary schools of the county. To qualify as junior fire marshals pupils must complete a fire hazard check of their homes, fill in the home report, have it signed by a parent, and turn it in to their school teacher. Boys and girls who complete a certain number of questions in their home reports will receive official junior fire marshal signet rings. If they fill in completely they are entitled to helmets, and the school room receiving the most helmets is entitled to a banner for the school.

Where Do "MIRACLE DRUGS" Come From?

They don't come out of a magician's hat but they sometimes do come from strange places. An East Indian snake root called Rauwolfia was once used widely in India for everything from treating epilepsy to making sleeping potions. Modern chemists then discovered its true therapeutic effectiveness. Now called Reserpine, it is widely used in lowering high blood pressure. This kind of exhaustive research keeps your doctor and our pharmacy well prepared to help you maintain your good health. Each prescription is filled with professional precision at our pharmacy.

Southern Loses 6-0 To St. Francis High

Quarterback for St. Francis High school jumped on a fumble in the fourth quarter to set up the game's only touchdown at Morgantown last Friday night against Southern High school. The final score was 6 to 0. It was Southern's fifth loss of the season.

Through three quarters the two teams had battled to a deadlock with each eleven threatening in the first and third periods. With the final period just underway, Smith, St. Francis quarterback, fell on a loose ball on the Southern 20-yard line.

Three plays later halfback Ron DeCarlo carried into the end zone for the touchdown. The extra point try failed.

St. Francis threatened to score in the first quarter when smooth running and good blocking led the Trojans to the Southern 10-yard stripe. However the Morgantown eleven ran out of down and Southern took over. Southern drove to the St. Francis four-yard stripe in the third period but also lost steam and the Trojans took over on downs. Bob Friend, Bill White and Tom Colaw were outstanding for Southern High school.

In the first down department Southern came out on top with 13 to 11 for St. Francis. The Trojans were penalized 50 yards to 30 for the Oakland team and completed two of 9 passes for 20 yards while Southern completed one pass out of four attempts for 20 yards.

There were only two fumbles in the game, both by Southern. St. Francis recovered both. Colaw was Southern's best ground gainer with 70 yards.

Playing for Southern were Duling, White, Kelly, Stemple, Colaw, Friend, Young, Stuck, Colaw, Collins and Butler.

DISCUSS FARM PRACTICES—Barry Carr, Assistant Garrett County Agricultural Agent, discusses the latest farming practices with Mr. and Mrs. R. Dale Rush, Accident. Getting organized is a big job for the Rush family for they just moved to their farm during the year. They are enrolled in the Farming for Better Living program and are using the suggestions offered to get their dairy herd into production. A new milking parlor has been completed and a milk room is to be built next. The grain fields are planted in contour strips on this farm to control washing away the soil.

Northern Hi Drops Game to Masontown

Valley High of Masontown, W. Va., piled up a passing yardage of 190 yards and turned two aerials into touchdowns to trounce Northern High Huskies last Saturday by the score of 37 to 6.

Valley fullback Brosky put Valley in quick command when he returned the opening kickoff 91 yards for his first of two six-pointers. Brosky tacked on his other TC in the third period when he smashed over from five yards out.

Scoring laurels however went to left end McMillan who scored on 57 and 75-yard pass plays from his quarterback Richardson. McMillan registered his third score of the afternoon when he plucked a loose ball in the Northern backfield and raced 31 yards for the score.

Jim McKenzie, on a reverse around left end in the fourth period, accounted for the Huskies only marker. The play covered 12 yards.

Lining up for Northern were McGraw, Strauss, Gilpin, Yommer, Friend, Patton, McCurdy, Jenkins, Sisler, McKenzie and Umbel. Substitutes were Buckel, Glotfelty, Bartholomew, Baker, Durst, Hurzel, Spear and Stanton.

MARRIED

Platter-Camp—Miss Jean Camp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Camp, of Grantsville, and Robert Platter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Platter, of Fort Hill, Pa., were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, September 20, at 2 o'clock, in St. John's English Lutheran church at Cove. The Rev. William E. Carlson, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

White gladioli, pompons and carnations were used in decorating the church. Mrs. Mary Bach, organist, gave a half-hour recital of nuptial music and also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta with scalloped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her circle veil of French illusion fell from a lace cap trimmed with sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and satin streamers.

Miss Darlene Schlossnagle was maid of honor. She wore a powder blue ballerina length dress of brocaded taffeta with matching headpiece and carried a cascade of pink carnations.

Floyd Platter served his brother as best man. Ushers were Gary Hetrick, cousin of the bride; and Blaine Platter, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a medium blue lace dress with beige accessories. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with black accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Accident fire hall which was decorated with white bells, streamers and fall flowers. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom, centered the serving table. It was surrounded with greenery and flowers. Mrs. Orlando Hetrick poured and Mrs. Bruce Hetrick cut and served the wedding cake. Others assisting were Mrs. Robert Dietle, Mrs. Ervin Georg and Mrs. Rayriond Bowser, all aunts of the bride.

Following a wedding trip through the midwest Mr. and Mrs. Platter are making their home in Rochester, Pa., where Mr. Platter is employed.

To: Bobby's Church School Teacher
From: Bobby's Parents

"You're O.K."

That's the highest praise in our Bobby's vocabulary!

You must be as busy as we are . . . keeping house, raising a family, meeting all the challenges of parenthood.

Yet you volunteered to teach a dozen boisterous boys the great truths of Christianity.

You sacrifice hours every week . . . in preparation, in prayer, in patience.

But, because you are part of the Church—the one institution which lives to serve God and man—we have taken you for granted.

We'll be at worship next Sunday. Bobby wants us there. And seeing what the Church means to him, we want the same spiritual foundation for our own lives.

Thank you! We marvel at all you have done for Bobby without our help and example. How much more we will accomplish together . . . Bobby's parents, Bobby's teacher, and OUR God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The World's Hope

Lesson for October 12, 1958

IS THERE hope for the world? Is there hope for me? All human beings ask that question one way or another. For all citizens of this planet, with very few exceptions, can see that this world is not as it ought to be. The more unselfish, the more public-minded, the more sensitive to the needs of human beings a person is, the more deeply he will feel the woes of the world. All persons not smothered in the selfish enjoyment of their own private paradise (if they can afford one) will agree that this world sorely needs hope.

Dr. Foreman

Prisoners of Hope

But is there hope? Here opinions differ. Some of those who are most keenly certain that the world is in a bad way, are sadly convinced that it will not grow better—it can't. The ancient Greeks, and many other races besides, thought of history as going around in circles. The world would go downhill and up by turns, around and around the wheel of fate. No disaster, and no improvement, would ever be permanent.

But the Jews were a peculiar people. They were peculiar among other things for their hope. Alone among the ancient peoples of the world, the Hebrews thought of history not as a circle but as a straight line, an arrow with a point, aimed and going somewhere. If ancient men thought of a Golden Age, they placed it in the far past. The Jews dreamed of a Golden Age, too, but theirs was never in the past.

This hope, as centuries went on, became centered in one Deliverer to come. They called him by various names: Messiah, Son of David, God's Chosen One, the Rescuer or Savior. It is clear from the stories Luke tells that even very old people like Anna and Simeon lived in hope that they might see the coming of the New Age. Somehow when they saw the baby Jesus they felt sure that the great Hope was now becoming real, at last. Imprisoned in circumstances they might have been; but always as "prisoners of hope."

Hope Deferred

The sad thing was that the great majority of the Hebrew people, when the long-awaited Messiah really came, could not recognize him. Jesus the carpenter, Jesus the radical teacher, Jesus the friend of sinners, did not fit the patterns and the formulas by which they had described the Coming One. As they would have said, "He does not fulfill the Prophecies." Nevertheless, some did see that he fulfilled the deeper meaning of the ancient prophets' hopes. And so by degrees the number of believers in the Messiah (or Christ, which means just the same thing) grew and grew. Most of the Jewish people were left with a sense of hope deferred. And indeed many Christians were likewise disappointed. For it appears to have been the expectation of the early Christians that Christ's absence in heaven was only temporary, that is to say for a very short time, a few days, weeks, months, years perhaps. Every one hoped and most of them expected to live to see Jesus bursting through the blue sky, riding on a cloud, coming to be King of the World. But Jesus did not come that way. Even in our time some Christians expect to outlive the world's time.

Hope Abides

Nevertheless, and despite all the disappointments and misunderstandings, the hope lives on. Most Christians no longer expect to see Jesus coming on a space-ship. But all Christians do live by hope. That Christ will reign is a hope and a faith that will not down. That in the long run his cause will conquer, that "the kingdoms of this world shall become the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ," this the church believes. We have to be modest and humble, or we should be so, about the "how" of hope's fulfillment. For we remember how mistaken the Jews of Jesus' time were, in their interpretation of prophesy, and we know how many Christian interpretations have been smashed by history's matter-of-factness. But we shall not be dashed. We believe that God is not going to be defeated, we believe that against Christ and his church even the gates of hell shall not prevail.

Four Apprehended For Motor Law Violations

Four persons were apprehended during the past week for infractions of the motor vehicle laws, and were fined by Trial Magistrate Boyd Sanders, Sr.

Mabel Jane Paugh, Deer Park, displaying foreign registration, $10.

Charles Harold Burns, New York City, illegal passing, $5.

One case was brought before the magistrate by the Oakland Police. Albert Claud Dixon of Elk Garden was fined $10 on a charge of exceeding 35 miles per hour.

Two Are Sentenced

Two young men of Kempton were given sentences of two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males at a hearing before Magistrate Sanders on October 1, but the sentence was suspended upon condition that they remain of good behavior. The two were listed as Conrad Teets and Edward Dragovich. They pleaded guilty to charges of malicious destruction of property. The magistrate said that previous to the offense at Kempton they had been involved in some minor trouble at the playground at Thomas.

"Our Growing Edge"

MRS. MARTHA GLOTFELTY

His Wondrous Love Proclaim

Last week, over seventeen hundred women from all parts of the world came to Toronto, Canada in Convention, with the theme, "His Wondrous Love Proclaim." They were members of our United Lutheran Church Women, from many lands. They came to look back into the past, examine the present, and plan for the future and see how wondrous love to God's children everywhere.

In a world torn with racial prejudice, excessive nationalism, ignorance, poverty, threats of war and disorder, came a clear call for more zeal in our efforts, more devotion in our daily lives, more unity and understanding in our working together.

From the lips of native leaders, we heard words of thanks for the gifts we have made to them over the years. They told us of the schools our gifts have built, the hospitals and institutions of mercy, and the leaders we have helped to train. Because of this, they said vast changes have come to their lands. Old superstitions are being cast aside, new hope is coming to many of their people. Literacy movements, supported by our group have taught millions to read the printed word, have trained native pastors to lead their own people, and have brought forth leaders in the church, in government, in agriculture, in the arts and sciences.

No more thrilling story is being told than the one we heard unfolded of the missionary work going on in every part of the world. From Liberia, Malaya, India, Japan, East Germany, Canada and the United States, to name just a few there were reports of service, of unselfish love, of giving and sharing. They ranged from a home mission in New York City that is providing wholesome recreation for a poverty-stricken neighborhood, to women in India, teaching others to read and write, to the Sunday School by mail projects carried out in Canada for children of isolated families. These are just a few of the services our Thank Offerings are providing for our fellow man in many lands. Yet, we were warned the work is so great and our efforts in comparison are so small.

We were inspiried by these words of John Oxenham in

"The Sacrament of Love"

Love is the sacrament of sacraments;
For God is Love and Love is God;
Who loves knows Him, and in Him
all the heights
And depths of those high rapturous delights
Which for Love's soul are very soul of life,
And through the troubled ways—
through stress and strife,
Bear the soul upward to that final goal
Where life and love make one full-rounded whole.
Love tints the grayest life with rose;
Love kindles fires 'mid winter
snows.
Love draws the fallen from his sin;
Love helps the sinner grace to win.
Love lifts the fringes from the night;
Love gifts the eyes of Faith with sight.
Love to all loveliness is kin;
Love moulds all Life—without—within.
Love is the mightiest power on earth;
Love to Eternal Hope gives birth.
Love—the beginning and the end—
All life and death doth comprehend.
Love lived in death upon the tree;
Love lives again, for you and me.
Love through eternity endures,
For God is Love
And Love is God.
Thank God for Love—His first,
then yours!
